LAURA INGALLS

Noted Aviatrix Roars Away On Early Morning Flight For New Record

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—Laura Ingalls roared away from Union Air terminal early today in her black "mystery" plane in an attempt to shatter Amelia Earhart's transcontinental speed record.

Hoping to span the continent in 14 hours or less, the 120-pound aviatrix "gave the gun" to her new $40,000 low wing monoplane as it began its 2,447-mile non-stop dash to Floyd Bennett field at New York.

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—Laura Ingalls roared away from Union Air terminal early today in her black "mystery" plane in an attempt to shatter Amelia Earhart's transcontinental speed record.

Hoping to span the continent in 14 hours or less, the 120-pound aviatrix "gave the gun" to her new $40,000 low wing monoplane as it began its 2,447-mile non-stop dash to Floyd Bennett field at New York.

The time of her takeoff was 5:10 a.m., (8:10 E.S.T.).

She carried a thermos container of coffee, some buttermilk and sandwiches.

Her projected route was via Albuquerque, N.M., Kansas City, Cleveland and New York.

From here into the middlewest she had good weather conditions and beyond the skies were reported clearing.

Somewhat nervous and unusually taciturn, Miss Ingalls arrived at the field 45 minutes before her departure and looked carefully over the plane.

"I hope to make it in about 15 hours," she said.

The record she seeks to break, set by Miss Earhart in August, 1932, is 17 hours, 7 minutes, 30 seconds.

FRANCE LAYS ITS CHARGES IN LEAGUE ARMS

Calls Upon Body to Condemn Germany For its Rearmament

GENEVA, April 16.—Great Britain, France and Italy today united before the Council of the League of Nations in condemnation of Germany's unilateral repudiation of treaty obligations, and in seeking measures to prevent similar actions in the future.

GENEVA, April 16. — France rallied upon the League of Nations Council to condemn German re-armament, in a stern message today delivered by Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, who also acted as spokesman for British and Italy.

The foreign minister, amid a tense silence in the council, declared the reich had provoked "uneasiness in the world," and the German announcement of re-armament last month had destroyed the British and French hopes of "the solid organization of European security."

"The German initiative of March 16 must be condemned," declared the French foreign minister. "Measures must be foreseen to make the future operation of the covenant more effective within the organization of collective security. The council must take its responsibility."

Cote Plans Aid For Script Users

OTTAWA, April 16.—Hoping to remove the statutory obstacle standing in the way of use by provinces or municipalities of script money to deal with internal economic difficulties, G. G. Cote, (U.F.A., Macleod) today gave notice of a bill to strike out section 138 of the Act Respecting Banks and Banking.

Jockey Is Killed

CHELTENHAM, England, April 16.—Willie Speck one of England's foremost steeplechase jockeys, died here today as a result of injuries received in a fall in the Ledbury steeplechase last Wednesday.

BUDGET IS O.K.: U. S. IS LOSER

LONDON, April 16.—The government was charged by opposition leaders today with balancing its budget through failure to pay the United States war debt.

At the same time the comparatively modest concession accorded taxpayers was being widely interpreted as paving the way for further increases in British armaments.

Both pro-government and opposition quarters agreed Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was ultra-Conservative in estimating his revenue for the ensuing year because of the possibility the government may be looking for additional funds before the year is out to strengthen national defences.

Canada's Trade Balance Favorable

OTTAWA, April 16.—The Department of National Revenue today issued figures showing total Canadian exports for the 12 months ended March 31, of $630,474,604, and imports entered for consumption of $322,212,486, giving Canada a favorable trade balance for the period of $137,262,486.

Noted Inventor Dies

HOVE, Sussex, England, April 16. —Charles Frederick Cross, to whom women are partly indebted for artificial silk hosiery, died here today at the age of 75. Cross, with a fellow chemist, E. J. Bevan, invented the cellulose process for spinning artificial silk more than 40 years ago.

UNDERGROUND TOMB SEALS UNFORTUNATES

Eighty-three Men Who go Down in Early Shift Are Safe

STELLARTON, N.S., April 16.—A mysterious explosion in the Allan shaft, near here, where 88 miners were killed in 1918, today trapped seven men underground. D. H. McLean, resident superintendent of the Acadia Coal company, said the seven were working on the 1,500 foot southwest level, where the explosion occurred. He said it was possible their way to safety had been blocked. About 90 men in all went down into the pit this morning.

Cause of the explosion was a mystery. The nearest workers, 1,500 feet away from the spot where the seven were working, said they heard only a dull, muffled thud followed by a whistling blast of air that swept one man off his feet and buried him several yards.

ORIGIN IN SHOT

That it may have originated in a "shot" of explosive to loosen coal was one theory that was apparently strengthened by the presence of a shot-firer among the missing seven. Ross Fleming was the shot-firer.

WIDOW GIVEN KILLER HEARING

BOURNEMOUTH, England, April 16—Preliminary hearing of murder charges against Mrs. Alan Rattenbury, 31, and her 19-year-old chauffeur George Percy Sloner continued today with public interest in the seaside triangle drama greater than ever.

They are accused of the murder of the woman's 67-year-old husband, Francis Mawson Rattenbury, who spent many years on Canada's Pacific coast and designed the provincial parliament buildings at Victoria, as well as a number of leading Canadian hotels. Mrs. Rattenbury herself, as a child, lived in Kamloops, B.C., later moving to Victoria. The couple were married seven years ago.

Postal Officers Seize 12,000 Lottery Tickets

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., April 16 —Postal officials here on Monday disclosed that 12,000 Canadian lottery tickets mailed from this city to various parts of the United States had been seized. They believe the tickets were smuggled across the border here and mailed.

National Revenue Shows Falling Off

OTTAWA, April 16.—Department of National Revenue today issued figures showing customs and excise collections for last March of $17,519,040, a decrease of $460,962 compared with March, 1934, collections. For the 12 months ended March 31, collections were placed at $226,705,605, an increase of $25,431,451 compared with collections for the previous 12 months.

Bulletin Publisher Is Assaulted By Ex-U.F.A. Minister

Controversy Follows Lie Passed by O. L. McPherson at Morning Session— Declarations Support Publisher

Climaxing a stormy day in the legislature on Monday, a day in which the government relentlessly pressed toward final passage of its bills to restrict newspaper reporting of judicial proceedings in civil cases and to restrict newspaper privileges under the Libel and Slander Act, Charles E. Campbell, owner and publisher of The Edmonton Bulletin, was assaulted by O. L. McPherson, U. F. A. member of the legislature for Little Bow and former minister of public works and speaker of the legislature.

The assault occurred shortly after the legislature had adjourned for the dinner hour at 6 p.m.

STARTED IN MORNING

The incident had its beginning in the morning.

John M. Imrie, vice-president and managing director of the Edmonton Journal, at a committee meeting in the morning had made the statement that to the best of his information, first publication in the Edmonton newspapers of any mention of the McPherson divorce case, had been in the case of his own paper at the instance of Hon. J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney general, and in the case of the other paper, by Mr. McPherson himself.

This evidence, so far as his paper was concerned, was corroborated by Mr. Campbell.

CLAIMED WAS FALSE

Mr. McPherson, in committee, declared Mr. Campbell's statement to be absolutely false and Mr. Campbell later had similar declarations prepared by two members of the Bulletin staff to support his statement.

At the time of the assault, Mr. McPherson was in conversation with a member of the Bulletin staff in

H. H. STEVENS DEPARTS FOR LONE HOLIDAY

Now Believed Bennett Will Not be Party Leader in Future

OTTAWA, April 16.—Gone into retirement for ten days holiday, leaving m word behind as to where he intends to spend the time, Hon. H. H. Stevens is still the most-talked-of man around the federal capital and indications are that he is making considerable headway in the jockeying for the leadership of the Conservative party which is now under way.

In well informed circles it is believed that despite all reports to the contrary Mr. R. B. Bennett will not lead the party into another election, and the younger wing of the party is calling for the Vancouver member to take over the reins of leadership.

Against this younger element however is the solid weight of the Old Guard who are spreading rumors that the elevation of Hon. Mr. Stevens to the leadership at this time might deprive the party of considerable financial support, and as this side of the party subscribes to the belief that "elections are not won by prayers" their attitude is causing some concern among those who realize just what they mean.

As the situation is now clarifying itself the struggle will be between youth and age, with age having the weight of St. James street behind it, but there are many who still believe youth and stamina will overcome all obstacles and that Hon. Mr. Stevens will emerge the new leader when the time comes.

R.B. TO SAIL END OF WEEK

OTTAWA, April 16.—For the second time since his long confinement to a sick room Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was out Monday for a long motor drive.

It was stated at his office that the outing seemed to be hastening Mr. Bennett's recovery and that he would probably be strong enough to start his journey to England at the end of this week as planned.

Convicts Admit Maiming Selves Under Brutality

ANGLETON, Tex., April 16.—Convicts on crutches hobbled before legislative investigators Monday with gruesome stories of having maimed themselves to escape the alleged brutality of guards at the Retrieve State Prison Farm near here. Officials said one of the convicts questioned had injected kerosene into an injured leg to cause infection, and that others had cut themselves about the legs.

Price Knife Cuts Deep Into Liquor Costs Today

Today your liquor will cost you less. That's if you are a patron of the Alberta Government Liquor stores, for today the new price list following the cuts announced in the Federal budget speech in the duties on imported liquors and in the Excise Tax, come into effect throughout the province.

Connoisseurs of Scotch whisky get some of the breaks, the downward revision in that commodity running all the way from 50 cents to $1.50 a bottle, the biggest cut coming in the price of a 40 ounce Control Board Scotch from $3.90 to $4.00 a bottle.

Irish whiskey prices were also cut, the cuts ranging from 60 cents to $1.00 a bottle, its biggest cut being in Burke's Three Star from $3.90 to $2.90 a bottle.

Rye whisky was also reduced all the way from 90 cents to $1.00 a bottle, the big cut coming on B. C. Monogram from $3.75 to $2.75 a bottle.

GENEVA ARMS FOR ASSASSINS

GENEVA, April 16.—The League of Nations building at Geneva was virtually an armed fortress last night. Because of the reported arrest at Marseille of two alleged plotters against the lives of prominent statesmen here, police were almost as numerous as at Stresa.

The reported plot was said to have included the slaying of Premier Mussolini at Stresa and outrages upon men like foreign ministers Pierre Laval of France, Nicholas Titulescue of Rumania and Edouard Benes of Czechoslovakia. It was revealed last night by a reliable informant that an attempt was made on the life of Benes about two years ago in the League building, but the would-be assassin was arrested and the incident hushed up.

Using Plane Doc Outwings Coming Stork

RIMBEY, April 16. — There was a day when Mr. Stork had no difficulty in beating the family doctor to it, especially when "Doc" drove his one-horse shay. But the proverbial bird is out of luck when he comes into Rimbey, where the doctor charters a plane and outfies him.

Little Miss Betts, a baby daughter who was born on Monday, April 15, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Betts of the Springdale district, 20 miles northeast of Rimbey, has the distinction of being the first child of this part of the province to be attended by a flying doctor.

Roads in Springdale district are absolutely impassable for cars and difficult for horse travel, so, when Dr. J. N. C. Byers was called to the Betts home he chartered Melvin Sheppard's plane and, with Pilot Earl Platt at the "stick," took off.

Seek More Money

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Dust storms and the threat of another drought in the United States middle-west appeared today to be roiling up sentiment behind proposals that the irrigation, soil erosion and rural rehabilitation projects be given a larger slice of the $4,000,000,000 work-relief fund.

ROYAL COUPLE BACK AT HOME

LONDON, April 16.—Sunburned and happy, the Duke and Duchess of Kent landed at Croydon Aerodrome today after a flight from Paris completing their wedding trip abroad.

The royal couple entered the Duke's sport car and he, himself, drove it home.

"I am very glad to be home again," said the Duchess.

They will be "guests of honor" when the royal family gathers at Sandringham for the Easter holidays.

FIRST CARGOES GRAIN CLEARED

FORT WILLIAM, April 16 — Threading their way through a passage cut in the ice field, five vessels cleared from the harbor here today, loaded with grain and headed "down-lake" with the first cargoes of the 1935 season.

The vessels were the Stadacona, Donnacona, Granby, Winnipeg and Saskatoon, owned by the Canada Steamship Lines.

U.F.A. Majority Carries Measure in Spite of Strenuous Opposition During Hectic Sessions of Legislature

DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

St. Paul Member Tells House Only Dictators of Europe Would Dare Put These Acts Into Effect

BY sheer force of unreasoning party strength, giving a perfect example of obedience to the hand on the throttle, the U. F. A. government in one of its last legislative acts, steam-rollered through the Committee of the House on Monday night, its two bills designed to throttle the press of the province.

It looked as if the order had gone out not to admit the change of even a comma in the bills, though Attorney-General Lymburn at the close consented to a minor change on the suggestion of a Conservative member, in the clause to prohibit reports of proceedings before a judge in chambers.

Unreasonable Restriction Shown

This will prohibit under a $5,000 penalty the report in a newspaper even of an interim injunction obtained ex parte before a judge. It was pushed through despite the protests of Mr. L. A. Giroux that it will enable public service corporations to raid the cities after the Act had prohibited the press from informing the public of what was taking place.

The galleries were crowded at the night session, possibly due to the news that ex-Hon. O. L. McPherson had assaulted one of the press witnesses at the close of the afternoon session.

There was no recourse to fisticuffs at night.

Brute Strength Of Machine Develops

Instead the brute strength of the voting machine was employed to encompass the purpose aimed at by the government.

But there was no lack of thrills. No sooner had Attorney-General Lymburn finished his plea to pass the bill to restrict publication of reports of judicial proceedings on the ground of safeguarding morals and the purity of the home, than Liberal Leader W. R. Howson, K.C., rose to his feet, with a copy of the "United Farmer"—the government organ—in his hand.

Salacious Matter in U.F.A. Newspaper

At the morning session, Attorney-General Lymburn had read into the record a letter of Mr. Howson's sent to him by Mrs. Riley, a Calgary woman, in which he had written that he approved of the lady's efforts to curtail the printing of salacious matter, and thought attention ought also to be given to some of the immoral matters in the advertisements. The meaning of the reference was made clear when Mr. Howson rose.

Reading from the advertising columns of the government party organ a number of standing advertisements of a character refused by the daily press, owing to their being prohibited by the Criminal Code, Mr. Howson charged that the unfaith of the Attorney-General was made clear by the fact that for years he had allowed these criminal advertisements to appear in the columns of the "United Farmer" and enter the homes of thousands in the province, though as chief law officer of the crown he was under duty to enforce the Criminal Code against them.

The charge came with electrical effect in the House.

Farthing Denounces Legality Of Measure

Immediately after, Hugh Farthing, Conservative member for Calgary rose to his feet. After denouncing the bill as clearly unconstitutional and an invasion of public liberties he added: "This dissertation on the duty of a high-minded press from the opposite side of the House comes with bad grace from a party whose political organ publishes these criminal advertisements, which under section 207 of the Code, the Attorney-General is empowered to suppress and prosecute. I think the Attorney-General should adjourn further consideration of this bill until he has first prosecuted the press of his own party."

Sits Tight Under Hypocrisy Charges

The chief law officer of the Crown sat tight under the charge of dereliction of duty and hypocrisy.

All through the numerous divisions of the night, Mr. Farthing and his leader Mr. Duggan voted against the efforts to muzzle the press, while Mr. Payne, K.C., and Dr. Atkinson voted with the government.

Mr. Shields (U.F.A.) expressed regret that the organ of his party had been printing criminal advertisements and said that immediate steps will be taken to stop the continuance of this illegality.

Throughout the night Messrs. Howson, Giroux and Miskew fought the bills clause by clause, aided by Mr. Farthing, and supported by the Liberal members and several of the Conservatives.

Going Back to Medieval Eras

Mr. Giroux emphasized the great service of a free press in keeping the public apprised of actions in the courts where public liberties and interests are threatened. "We don't know what the corporations will be taking away if these bills go through. It is going back to the system of Russia and Germany," he said.

Mr. Miskew argued the certain unconstitutionality of the bills which make offences of liberties allowed by the federal Criminal Code. "It will cost the province thousands and thousands of dollars and in the end these bills will be declared ultra vires," he declared, and ridiculed an Act

OTTAWA PRODUCES RAIL CONSTRUCTION PLAN

$33,000,000 IS SUM INVOLVED IN TWO EDGED PROPOSAL

Guaranteed Loans of $15,000,000 to Two Systems For Purchase of New Rolling Stock.

OTTAWA, April 16—A double-barrel bill to promote employment of a building program and construction of railway rolling stock was introduced in the house of commons Monday by Hon. H. A. Stewart, minister of public works. It involves $33,000,000.

The government will guarantee a loan to the railways, $8,000,000 to the C. N. R. and $7,000,000 to the C. P. R., to purchase and repair obsolete, run-down locomotives and equipment, and pay the interest for two years.

The construction program will involve $18,000,000, including $1,000,000 to be added to the grade separation fund to be used to eliminate dangerous railway crossings.

NO CONCERTED ATTACK

The bill encountered no concerted opposition from the Liberals although some of them protested against the practice of inviting tenders from a selected list of contractors. They claimed, as a result of last year's building program, only Conservatives were asked to tender but this was denied by government spokesmen.

Minister of railways R. J. Manion told opposition members it would be impossible to spend all the railway money in the shops of the two systems. There were private firms throughout the country which deserved consideration but all the repairs would be made in the shops, adding to available work.

NOT COMPULSORY

If either of the railways did not desire to buy new rolling stock it need not accept the government's offer, Dr. Manion said. The railways were not being forced into fresh expenditures but it had been represented they needed locomotives and cars.

The Transcona shops near Winnipeg had capacity for 7,000 men, Dr. J. P. Howden (Lib. St. Boniface) said, but only 1,700 men were at work at short hours. There was no form of railway rolling stock that could not be built there, and he appealed to the government to see as much of the money as possible be spent in C.N.R. shops.

SUPPORTERS FAVORED

Hon. J. C. Elliott (Lib. West Middlesex) said he had information every contractor invited to tender on the large items of last year's bill was a "militant supporter" of the government.

Minister of public works H. A. Stewart claimed there was no loss to the treasury through last year's bill and every contract was let to a competent man. The only object in inviting public tenders was to secure competition. It was a mistake to believe friends of the government received all the contracts—he often had received complaints that Liberals had the preference.

Dr. Manion told Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Lib. Melville) the construction of cars and locomotives will go to private firms.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Total arrivals of wheat on the cnotinent and in the U. K. from overseas last week were 5,872,000 compared to ,464,000 a week ago and 8,712,000 this time last year. Europe has received 25,000,000 bushels of foreign wheat less than during the same eight and a half months last year. Stocks in the five principal ports on the continent are 2,500,000 less than a year ago and those in the ports of the U.K. are 2,800,000 less than last year.

Liverpool reported a slow demand for Canadian wheat, but a parcel of Rosa Fe 63½ lbs. May shipment sold at 24s 9d equal to 81 cents. A south Australian parcel afloat sold at 27s 6d. Liverpool erports a tightening of the c.i.f. offer prices of Barusso wheat in the Argentine. Shippers are not willing to accept less than 77¼ cents c.i.f. or 83½ cents duty paid.

This is the same price as South Australian wheat, which should divert some of the English demand to Australia from the Argentine. The preferential tariff in England on colonial grain is now being felt. With the small Argentine crop restricting offers prices have advanced and on top of this a 2s per quarter import duty will divert the demand to Australia, where offers are not abundant.

If France, Sweden and the Black Sea shipments continue to decrease it may happen that importers will be forced to pay the high price asked by Canada, but up to the present time there are very few signs of any buying for shipment from Montreal.

Broomhall places the new Argentine corn surplus at 391,000,000 as a conservative estimate. This would mean a crop of 446,000,000 over 11,000,000 tons, and a record.

Vancouver Floats New Bond Issue For Relief Works

VANCOUVER, April 16—The city council Monday approved orders to its budget committee to make preparations to float a $1,500,000 baby bond issue for construction of a city hall and other public works.

New Constitution For Canada Urged

OTTAWA, April 16.—Amendment to the British North America Act should take the form of an entirely new constitution for Canada, and it should be drafted by a constituent assembly representative of the whole people, Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, clerk of the House of Commons, today told the parliamentary committee studying the proposals to amend the B.N.A. Act here. The Imperial parliament should, after Canada's new constitution was written, be requested to repeal the Act.

INSULL MUST STAND TRIAL ONCE MORE

State Charges Criminal Transfer of Assets on Bankruptcy Eve

CHICAGO, April 16.—The United States government chose Monday to make one last effort to punish Samuel Insull and his colleagues for an alleged criminal transfer of the assets of Corporation Securities Company with foreknowledge of its collapse.

Acquitted of charges of embezzlement and larceny and a gigantic mail fraud conspiracy, Insull and eight others, including his son, Samuel, Jr., must face trial for the alleged removal of $2,558,120 from the company treasury before they will stand clear. Attorney-General Homer Cummings at Washington concurred in the recommendation of District Attorney Dwight H. Green that he proceed with trial.

The indictment alleges Insull and his co-directors of Corporation Securities Company declared $558,120 in dividends virtually on the eve of the filing of a bankruptcy petition against the company, and that more than $2,000,000 in cash and securities was removed from the treasury to be pledged as collateral for loans from Chicago and New York banks.

PRICE KNIFE CUTS LIQUOR PRICES TODAY

Kentucky was dropped 60 cents from $4.10 to $3.50 while Rum in some cases was slashed as much as $1.70 a bottle, Golden Grove Jamaica and H.B. Jamaica being reduced from $5.20 to $3.50 and from $6.10 to $4.40 respectively, the latter a 40-ounce bottle.

Gin cuts were all the way from 30 cents to $1.00 a bottle, Booth's High and Dry dropping from $3.00 to $2.00.

Australian and South African brandies are cut from 40 to 90 cents a bottle the prices for 26-ounce bottles now being $2.00. The imported brandies in bottles, such as Godet's, Hennessy's, Monnet's, and Greek Koniak are unchanged however.

In the Port wine list there is only one change downward of 10 cents a bottle, and there is no change in Madeira. Spanish wines, Australian wines, South African wines and Italian Chianti are also unchanged in price but in Rhine wines Still Hock is down from $2.15 to $2.00.

WINE PRICE UNCHANGED

There are no changes in the Sherry prices, and Bordeaux claret and white are also unchanged in price. In the Red Burgundies there is one slight change upward but white Burgundy is down 15 cents.

Sparkling Burgundy is also unchanged at $3.00, but Angostura Bitters is down 60 cents from $2.20 to $1.60.

The cocktail hour devotees also get a break, Canadian cocktails being down from $2.75 to $2.40, and imported cocktails down $1.00 a bottle from $3.90 to $2.90.

In the liqueurs there are few changes, but Kummel is down 80 cents from $4.30 to $3.50, and Green Chartreuse down $1.00 a litre from $7.25 to $6.25. Yellow Chartreuse is also reduced to the same extent, but some other liqueurs have gone up slightly.

VARIETY OF CUTS

Drambuie, the Scotch liqueur, is down $1.15, the new price being $4.85 from $6.00. Sloe gin is down $1.40 from $4.15, the new price being $2.75.

In the Champagnes only one reduction is made, Clicquot-Ponsardin being dropped from $4.25 to $4.00 a bottle.

Polish nationals do not get any reductions, the prices on Bojar, Koniak and Starniak remaining unchanged, but the Scandinavians fare a little better, Aalborg Taffel Akvavit being dropped from $4.10 to $4.00, and Loiten's Gemmel Aquavit from $4.35 to $4.00 for a three-quarter litre bottle.

Chinese and Japanese liquors are also unchanged and if you fancy No-Mi, Mui-Kui-Lui, Ng-Ka-Py or Kiku Masamune Sake, you will still pay from $1.00 to $1.90 a bottle for them.

The biggest reductions come in pure grain alcohol, approximately 65 over proof, which has been reduced from $19.00 a gallon to $12.00 a gallon, but there's a catch to it. Only holders of special permits such as hospitals, physicians, druggists, manufacturers etc., can get it.

BEER UNCHANGED

And for the beer, ale and stout drinkers there is nothing to cheer about in the new list, and the same goes for those who prefer native wines. The prices of all these liquid refreshments are unchanged.

Canada Building Permits Increase

OTTAWA, April 16—An increase of nearly $3,000,000 or 261.5 per cent. was shown in the value of building permits issued by 61 cities during March, which totalled $4,-009,675 against $1,109,065 in March, 1934, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. In comparison with the previous month an increase of $411,226 or 11.4 per cent. was shown.

Value of authorized building in March by western provinces, with last year's figures in brackets, follows: Manitoba, $1,522,550 ($30,096); Saskatchewan, $45,255 ($18,670); Alberta, $212,740 ($77,917); British Columbia, $215,687 ($178,000).

WIVES AT SCENE

Wives and relatives of the missing men gathered anxiously around the pit mouth as soon as word of the explosion spread through the town. This afternoon hundreds milled about the colliery yard.

What news trickled up carried little hope. Crews equipped with masks for work in gas and some "barefaced" miners had gone down, but they could find no trace of the buried men. They climbed over some of the fallen material in narrow spaces between the roof, but eventually struck an impassable heap.

STILL ENTOMBED

More than four hours after the blast they were still entombed 1,500 feet underground and rescue workers were trying vainly to fight their way through a barrier of fallen debris that clogged the passageway for an estimated 1,000 feet.

A mass of coal and stone blocked the way to safety for any possible survivors, though little hope was held that any still lived. Fearful fellow workers expressed belief all must have been buried alive when the explosion roared through the workings.

All others of the 196 men who entered the pit this morning were accounted for, according to superintendent D. H. McLean of the Acadia coal company and Dominic Nearing, sub-district board member for the United Mine workers. They were all on the surface except for rescue crews and about 15 officials who had stayed below to supervise the work of digging for the trapped colliers.

Dionne Watchdog Gets The Habit—Five Puppies!

TORONTO, April 16.—This quintuplets stuff is contagious.

A few weeks ago "Sax of Cairndania," a Great Dane, was sent north by a Toronto woman, Mrs. G. W. Hyslop, to be official dog guardian of the Dafoe hospital.

Over the week-end Sax became aunt to a litter of Great Dane quintuplets.

Max, her brother, and a champ, was papa to the quints. To show he is no slouch, he climaxed his feat of being father to quintuplets, by winning the Canadian championship for his class at Windsor Saturday night.

Funeral Held For Mrs. B. McKinney: Settled Here 1910

Funeral of Mrs. Bridget McKinney, aged 72 years, of 9617 107A avenue, who passed away in the city last Thursday, was held Monday from the family residence to the Sacred Heart Church. Interment was made in the family plot in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Born in Domana, County Down, Ireland, in 1863, Mrs. McKinney came to Connecticut and was married to Charles McKinney in 1884. The couple later established a home in Ottumwa, Iowa. In 1910 they came to Edmonton, where deceased resided until the time of her death. Her husband passed away five years ago, and she was also predeceased by three children who died in their infancy.

Mrs. McKinney leaves two daughters, Mrs. W. A. Bean, of Vancouver, and Mrs. H. N. Reisman, of Longview, Wash.; also two sons, John J. McKinney, of Ottumwa, Iowa, and Charles A. McKinney, residing at home.

Connelly and McKinley were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Newsprint paper export from Canada in January was considerably smaller than in December, the value being $6,403,000 compared with $8,550,000. It was slightly less than a year ago when it was $6,-416,000.

Marx Theories Mental Diet "U" Of Chicago

CHICAGO, April 16—Admittedly, Karl Marx is part of the mental diet offered optionally to University of Chicago students, but Prof. Jerome G. Kerwin, of the political science department, pointed out last night that "So are Walter Lippman, Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt."

And Dr. Kerwin added:

"I know of no place where Marxist political doctrines receive more severe treatment."

He is one of the directors of the Social Science course criticized by Charles R. Walgreen, drug store magnate, who last week withdrew his niece from the university, charging she was "exposed to insidious Communist influences."

Woman Keeper Of Lighthouse Passes Away

VICTORIA, April 16.—Mrs. Mary Ann Croft, 70, one of the most picturesque pioneers of the British Columbia coast and for 30 years keeper of the Discovery Island lighthouse in the Gulf of Georgia, is dead.

When her father, Richard Brinn, was appointed lighthouse keeper at Discovery Island in the '70's, Mary Ann went there to live and she took over from her father at the turn of the century. She maintained the light until her retirement in 1932.

Last October, Mrs. Croft was honored by the King with the Imperial Service medal for devotion to duty, the presentation being made at Government House here by Lieutenant-Governor J. W. Fordham-Johnson.

Oil-burning locomotives have been in operation since the early '90s.

BRITAIN NOW 80 P.C. OUT OF DEPRESSION

Low Taxes, Restored Pay Cuts, Balanced Budget, Is Situation

LONDON, April 16—Full restoration of the civil service wage cut imposed in the crisis of 1931, with income tax concessions in the lowest grade, were features of another balanced budget presented Monday to the House of Commons.

Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, after pointing to the substantial progress achieved in the past year, budgeted for a surplus again in the coming 12 months and mildly observed the results achieved in this country had no parallel abroad. "We have regained 80 per cent of our prosperity," he declared.

GREETED BY CHEERS

Spruce and smiling, the Chancellor rose from his seat beside the rather careworn-looking Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, just back from Stresa, to be greeted by general cheers which caused him to smile the more. It was his fourth budget.

GENERAL SATISFACTION

The house was crowded. There were no startling surprises, but general satisfaction was evident.

Canadian Policyholders or Their Beneficiaries have Received

$800,000,000 IN THE PAST FIVE YEARS

Through their Life Insurance Savings

MORE than $160,000,000 a year — that is the sum which Canadian policyholders or their beneficiaries have received on the average, during the past five years, from Life Insurance companies in Canada. In the next five years these policyholders will receive an even larger amount.

The large payments of Life Insurance benefits, made year by year, are the result of self-sacrifice on the part of 3,500,000 Canadians—thrifty citizens who have brought their savings together in Life Insurance funds, so that they and their families would have necessary financial security for the future.

Through the distribution of Life Insurance funds, the burdens of the widows and fatherless are eased — children are educated—independence is secured for old age—families are assisted in times of financial stress.

From the national standpoint, these citizens who have joined together to provide for their own financial future through Life Insurance, have performed a public duty. Their Life Insurance savings have lessened the number of people on public relief. And the investment of their savings in Life Insurance has provided working capital for Dominion and Provincial Governments, Canadian cities and municipalities, utilities and industries, farms and homes.

In the future as in the past, Life Insurance will continue to be the "Guardian of Canadian Homes".

PERLEY FILES SUPPLEMENTARY BUILDING BILL

CONSTRUCTION ACT CALLS TO SPEND EIGHTEEN MILLIONS

Will Guarantee $15,000,000 of Railway Securities to Speed Up Equipment Orders of Two Roads.

OTTAWA, April 15.—"Supplementary Public Works Construction Act" was introduced today in the House of Commons by Sir George Perley, acting prime minister. It would authorize new works and undertakings of slightly less than $18,000,000 and guarantee $15,000,000 of railway securities to speed up equipment orders.

The measure designed as a means to stimulate employment throughout the Dominion, was preceded by a resolution moved by the acting prime minister.

Works to be undertaken, in addition to those authorized by the Public Works Construction Act of 1934 to which today's bill is a supplementary measure, are as follows:

Railway grade crossings, $1,000,000.

Geological surveys and investigations, $1,600,000.

Montreal harbor improvement and deepening, $2,500,000.

Quebec harbor improvements and maintenance, $1,250,000.

WESTERN WORKS

Canal repairs and improvements, $750,000.

Western conservation works, $300,000.

Tunnel at western entrance to Toronto harbor, $1,000,000.

Buildings and improvements, department of agriculture, $500,000.

Harbors and rivers generally, $2,500,000.

Alterations, additions and improvements to public buildings, supplements where necessary specific amounts provided in the Public Works Construction Act of 1934, $4,000,000.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

Interior department public buildings, campsites, light and telephone systems, highways, bridges, streets, sidewalks, landing fields, air harbors, trails, water and sewer systems, recreational areas, wharves and river protection works, development of historic sites, purchase of building sites, and construction of the Golden-Revelstoke (Big Bend) section of the trans-Canada highway, $1,300,000.

Lac Seul protection works, $175,000.

Bridge at Cecpee, Saskatchewan, $225,000.

Pedestrian subway under Canadian National tracks at Inglis street, Halifax, $40,000.

The total $17,940,000.

Quota System Helps British Cotton Industry

MANCHESTER, April 16.—Great Britain's cotton goods industry, sorely pressed a year ago by Japanese competition, is beginning to feel the beneficial effects of the quota system clamped on her colonies last May, the Cotton Trade league reports.

The full benefit to Lancashire has not yet been felt, owing to the huge stocks of Japanese goods which had been accumulated, but the improvement has been reflected to some extent in the increased exports to British Malaya, Ceylon and the British West Indies.

Brazil Cotton Exports Heavy

SAO PAULO, Brazil, April 16.—The ministry of agriculture revealed last night that exports of cotton from Sao Paulo are expected to go over 1,000,000 kilos for the month of April, with 70 to 80 million kilos likely to be the export total for the ensuing four months.

A bee's average load of nectar weighs about half as much as the bee itself.

O! And Did Her Neighbors Say Plenty!

A startling eight indeed, to set a bold copper goggling and gasping as he peered cautiously over a Hollywood hedge! It all seemed so foolish to Edythe Marcelle as she looked down from her lead stool, but she agreed to soak up her sunshine back of a screen in the future, as this horrified neighbors could give their eyeglasses a much needed rest.

CIVIL DEFENCE MOVES AFOOT IN BRITAIN

LONDON, April 16.—Great Britain is quietly mobilizing her civilian forces for defence against gas and bombing attacks, it was disclosed Monday when Colonel E. M. Cowell, director of the British Red Cross in Surrey, appealed for 1,000 men and women for volunteer first aid nursing work at Croydon airport.

More than 500 have already been recruited and trained under auspices of the Red Cross, its officials said.

Ontario House Hurries Work

TORONTO, April 16. — Moving swiftly to achieve Easter prorogation, the Ontario legislature last night plodded through a score of bills, chief of which was Minister of Welfare David Croll's measure to merge four Essex border municipalities, Windsor, Walkerville, East Windsor and Sandwich, into a greater Windsor, effective July 1.

MAINTAINING RAILWAY COAL PRICE URGED

Legislature Endorses Resolution on Behalf of Miners' Wage

Maintenance by the Canadian National Railway of present fuel price levels was advocated in a resolution unanimously endorsed by the legislature on Monday. The motion was moved by Chris Pattinson, Labor, Edson, and seconded by George E. Cruickshank, Independent, Rocky Mountain.

In bringing his motion to the attention, Mr. Pattinson sought adjournment of regular business in order to treat an emergent matter.

On the house granting him permission to proceed with his matter, Mr. Pattinson declared that "a serious situation has arisen in the northern mining areas owing to the C. N. R. insisting upon a price reduction of 50 cents a ton on all coal supplied to them and any price reduction will seriously react upon the wages of the miners."

GET BARE LIVING

"Miners now are only getting a bare subsistence and any effort to reduce wages will in all probability result in industrial conflict."

Mr. Pattinson expressed the great appreciation of the house in permitting him to bring this matter up.

Mr. Cruickshank felt Mr. Pattinson's motion should have the unanimous endorsation of the house. He outlined the condition in the mining areas of the province.

LIBERAL SUPPORT

W. R. Howson, provincial Liberal leader, threw his weight behind the motion. "The C.N.R. is a nationally operated railroad," he said. "No move should come to reduce coal prices from a national enterprise employing workmen who are barely getting by on a bare subsistence. We know that many such employes are struggling to keep off relief. The first step in such an action as is contemplated would be to put them in a worse position than they are and this should not come from a nationally owned institution. If such a course were pursued by a nationally owned institution, we would think it was a bad time and it is much less desirable coming from a nationally owned organization. It sincerely hopes this resolution will receive unanimous endorsation."

Hon. George Hoadley, minister of trade and industry, outlined the many difficulties confronting the coal industry today. He declared the price as outlined, would not permit operators to pay wages. He stressed difficulties in distribution.

DELAY COMPLAINT

F. C. Moyer, K.C., Independent, Drumheller, said that the house could not now see the reason why he had urged the trade and industry department in past years and declared that it was inevitable that such things should come to pass as the price to be paid. He was not one to criticize for delay in getting action under the act. His main complaint was that there had been delay in setting up the department.

Strong protests were received from coal workers along the Edson Coal Branch regarding the proposed reduction in price.

D. Borcchio and M. P. Susnar, president and secretary, respectively, of the Cadomin local union; D. Donvith, and E. Cowling, secretary of the Luscar local union, and Thomas Foley and G. S. Barnes, secretary of the Mountain Park local union, sent strong representations to Mr. Howson, pointing out the seriousness of the situation and asking that everything possible be done to get satisfactory action.

Start Separate Grading Plan On August First

OTTAWA, April 16.—Agreement was reached Monday between Hon. R. B. Hanson, minister of trade and commerce, and a delegation from Winnipeg Grain Exchange regarding details necessary to bring in separate grading for Garnet wheat on August 1. The Winnipeg delegation included John I. McFarland, head of the Pools' Central selling agency.

Under existing regulations Garnet wheat cannot be graded as number one northern, but Garnet is permitted in number two and lower grades. As there is no separate grading for Garnet, a large proportion of the crop went into number two grade.

EFFECTIVE AUGUST 1

After August 1 the law providing for separate grading of Garnet comes into effect. Under it there will be Garnet number one and Garnet number two. Garnet will still be allowed in number three Northern.

As far as the carry-over is concerned the only grade affected will be number two Northern. After August 1 number two Northern will drop to number three if it contained Garnet.

PROTECTION ASKED

The elevator firms have asked the government for protection against losses in such circumstances.

Whether there will be any appreciable losses depends on how much number two containing Garnet of the old crop is left in Canada on August 1. It was decided not to announce for the present the details decided upon to bring about the change.

Nebraska Escapes Damage By Dust

OMAHA, Neb., April 16.—The World-Herald Monday said experts of the State Extension Service at Lincoln and of the United States Department of Agriculture, surveying the effect of the dust winds of last year and early this spring, report they find virtually no permanent damage to Nebraska lands.

Even Carnival Queen Not Without Host Of Humble Supplicants

The royal wealth of a queen must ever suffer drains from the needy to whose childlike minds it appears a counting house of limitless means. Even a carnival queen, whose wealth is almost always more in her charm and beauty than in pecuniary means, is not without her host of humble supplicants.

Muriel Tunstead, 12768 122 street, who this winter was crowned queen of the Calder community carnival, was today the recipient of a pitiful plea from a habitant woman in old Quebec.

Written in imperfect and misspelled French, the letter told of hunger and hardship and asked Miss Muriel, as crowned queen, to give assistance to her family.

The Bulletin's office linguists were none too strong on their French at best and, with the added obstacles of incorrect spelling and faulty grammar, they were hard put to give a translation to the letter. Translated with some freedom, it appears below:

Mademoiselle

Permit me to write a little word to you. Even though I do not know you, you will see that I have great need. I am very poor and a big family of eight children and nearly nothing to eat. My husband he is sick in bed so that he cannot work. I say to you that he is in misery. Then I ask you for the love of the good God, and I know as you are queen, if you will you can help me a great deal, also my little children. If you please, answer me yes or no for the one who is in great need.

Dame Arthur Carrier.

B.C. RETURNS CAMP STRIKE MEN HERE

Freight Riders Sentenced Ordered Returned to Alberta

NELSON, B. C., April 16.—Eighteen relief strikers who had previously pleaded not guilty to a charge of obtaining a ride on a freight train in contravention of the Railway Act, asked for hearing in court Monday and pleaded guilty. Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel sentenced them to 10 days in jail, dating from the time of their arrest, April 9. When released they will be given transportation back to Alberta, from whence they came.

Eighteen other men pleaded guilty at the time of their arrest and were sentenced to the day they had already spent in jail.

Twenty-eight men still face trial.

The men were arrested when they boarded a freight train about 25 miles from here against police orders. They are among those who joined the strike recently called in department of national defence camps in British Columbia.

INCREASE IN CITY RELIEF BEING SOUGHT

Support of the Trades and Labor Council for increased relief allowances and backing in case a strike is called, was sought at a regular meeting of the trades body Monday by a delegation from the Unemployed Married Men's Association.

J. A. McPherson, president of U.M.M.A., headed the delegation and a delegate from the Central Unemployed council was also heard. It was decided after representations were heard to send a letter to the city council setting forth the need for increased relief allowances.

One delegate was extremely bitter over the failure of Labor city councils of former years to remove the relief administrator.

Sidney Parsons, acting as chairman in the absence of President Carl Berg, stated it was impossible for the workless to feed and clothe their families properly on the present relief allowances.

A spirited debate ensued over an invitation from the League Against War and Fascism, to have the labor council link with that body. It was decided to refer the invitation to the executive before final action is taken.

The Trades Council will not endorse the action of the present mayor to institute a drive to collect arrears in taxes, a letter from the city seeking assistance in such a drive being filed without definite action.

Seeding Late In Red Deer Area

RED DEER, April 16.—Seeding in the Red Deer district will be from three weeks to a month later than in 1934, according to the present outlook. Last year one farmer of the district recalls that on April 9 he seeded some land to oats for pasture and put in his wheat a few days later. The blizzard of Friday night and Saturday set back operations here for a time but the moisture will be welcome and will put the seed bed in good condition. The long winter has been hard on farmers with little feed and spring will be generally welcomed.

Advise On Aviation

LONDON April 16.—Captain Ivor McClure, founder and head of the Automobile Association Aviation Section, has been appointed operational advisor to the director-general of civil aviation.

TIMBER WOLF SEEN

BUSBY, April 16.—A timber wolf was reported seen near Busby last week. It is believed that deep snow drove it close to the settlement as food was scarce in the bush. Farmers are busy cleaning grain and hauling their new seed grain.

Seven hundred eighty-nine inches of snow fell in the winter of 1916-1917 on Mount Rainier, Wash.

Civil Service Data Supplied

OTTAWA, April 16.—Last year there were 22,000 applications for positions in the civil service; according to the report of the civil service commission tabled in the Commons Monday. A total of 12,400 were examined.

Of the appointments made 42 were permanent and 2,353 temporary. Forty males, of whom 23 were ex-service men, were placed in permanent position, while of the 1,979 given temporary employment, 609 were veterans, the report says.

PROFITEERING IN FOOD IS CAMP PROTEST

B.C. Royal Commission Hears Plaints of Relief Strikers

VANCOUVER, April 16.—Complaints of discrimination by camp foremen and alleged profiteering by food contractors were heard Monday by the Royal Commission investigating conditions in British Columbia relief camps. The commission resumed hearings here after spending ten days visiting camps in the Fraser valley and Fraser canyon districts.

In addition, witnesses aired a number of private grievances.

Monday's evidence came from some of the 1,400 strikers who walked out of camps throughout the province last week in protest against alleged unfair conditions.

DRUNKEN FOREMEN

A half dozen men charged the foreman of one camp with excessive intoxication and said he had threatened to discharge men because they refused to lend him money with which to buy liquor.

Witnesses from other camps said wine and "home brew" was produced near the camps with the knowledge, and, in one case, the co-operation, of the camp foreman.

STALE OLD MEAT

A man who said he had cooked at one of the camp group headquarters, said contractors were supplied beef of an age far past the specified limit. He said the eggs were far from fresh.

Another witness, a storeman, declared supplies were often unfit for use but had to be used because of the difficulty in getting authority to send them back to the contractor.

Campaign Who's-Who

Thumbnail Sketches of Candidates in the Provincial General Elections.

By T. B. WINDROSS.

Advocating a "social reform that will guarantee work for the young folk in future," William Aden Day, of Macleod, will carry the banner of Liberalism in the next provincial election. He is a candidate of wide experience of long public service.

Mr. Day was born in Ontario, at Daywood near Owen Sound, on May 17, 1881, and is now 53 years old, a man at the zenith of his powers and ability to serve the people. He was educated in the public schools of his native town and graduated from the Owen Sound Collegiate Institute. He later came to western Canada and took the course for teachers at the Regina Normal School, receiving his first class professional teacher's certificate there. He spent six years teaching school.

WM. A. DAY.
Liberal Candidate, Macleod

He came to the west as a young man in 1902 and his long residence on the prairies has made him a real westerner in sentiment, interests and outlook.

Mr. Day's public services include membership on the Macleod school board for several years and the work of an alderman on the town council of Macleod for a dozen years; from 1906 to 1918 he was secretary treasurer of the rural municipality there. He was chairman of the school board for some time also.

Mr. Day carries on the business of farming and stockraising, and he also conducts a grocery business in Macleod. He has lived in the constituency that he will contest for 31 years and is highly respected there. Farming is one of his hobbies, he says, but he is also deeply interested in the advocacy of universal pensions for older people so as to insure work for the younger generation.

He is a Protestant in religion, but has always been ready to lend his aid to any good cause and to take part in any Christian undertaking no matter by what church it was sponsored.

BLOWOUT QUEEN TACK-SPREADER HALED TO COURT

NEW YORK, April 16.—Mrs. Sylvia Ullrich, 45, was brought into court Monday to answer to the charge she is the person who has been strewing tacks on St. Nicholas avenue for the last year and a half, causing an epidemic of blowouts. She was released under $500 bail for further hearing.

Dechene Declares Government Stifles Idea of Liberty

Act Proposed On Election Eve Looks Suspicious

Which Is Worse: Do These Things Or Publish Them?

—Hugh Farthing

Citizens' Rights Restricted Says Howson Of Act

which will make it necessary for every newsdealer to employ a reader and a legal adviser before he can safely offer newspapers and magazines for sale.

Invasion of Press and Public Rights

Mr. Farthing opposed not only the principles of the bills, which he declared to be an invasion of public and press rights, but protested the vindictive penalties of $1,000 and $5,000 and the injustice of sending cases of this magnitude to be dealt with by J.P.'s who know little or no law. It ended with Mr. Lymburn agreeing to give the trial of newspaper prosecutions to police magistrates.

Mr. Howson made a final appeal after all other efforts had been voted down. He said:

"You have got your bills through the Committee as you want them. You have this terrible club over the heads of the newspapers. If any of them do need to be threatened, you have the means of threat. A threat will be as good as a law. I am asking that instead of making these bills law on receiving the assent of the lieut-governor, that they be deferred as law until given proclamation, and not made law until it becomes necessary—if it does become necessary."

The U.F.A. members, like a machine voted down the request.

Will Not Affect Outside Newspapers

Mr. J. M. Dechene, Liberal, made one sage comment after the two bills were through. He rose and said: "By what it has done this night, this House has gone back twenty-five years. It has lined itself up with the press policies of Stalin, Mussolini and Hitler.

It was admitted by Attorney-General Lymburn during the debate that the bills will only affect the newspapers of Alberta and cannot affect the publication of Alberta court actions and other prohibited matters of public interest in newspapers printed outside the province and mailed into Alberta. These need only meet the requirements of the Criminal Code, and the Libel and Slander Act of their province.

Hon. J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney general bore the major share of the burden in the battle to put the legislation through.

Hon. Perren Baker, minister of education; Hon. Irene Parlby, minister without portfolio; Gordon Forster, U.F.A., Hand Hills; W. H. Shield, U.F.A., Macleod and Donald Cameron, U.F.A., Innisfail, rendered some assistance.

All the opposition gunning had only one result. The attorney general withdrew one section of the Judicial Proceedings bill, giving a trial judge the right, in effect to censor publication of any material on actions taking place before him, prior to its publication.

Otherwise the bills went through practically as they were brought down. One clause has been stood over by the attorney general with the possibility of extending its provisions to include restriction of publication of news regarding criminal cases along the lines of restrictions on civil cases.

The battle opened when the house met for the afternoon session and the attorney general proceeded to pilot the bills through the house in committee.

The proceedings follow:

Mr. Lymburn: (Referring to Bill 82, Judicial proceedings). "Sections one and two are to be struck out." Agreed.

"Regarding number three, the courts have had power for a long time to do this. That is, they could say certain proceedings or certain information should not be published and if they said so, it was an offense to publish it. That was common law."

THINGS RADICALLY WRONG

Mr. Dechene: "I do not know if I am in order, but I wish to register again most emphatically the inadvisability of going ahead with a bill of this kind at this stage of the game. Saturday afternoon going down the streets of Edmonton carrying banners were a group of men, all dissatisfied. I do not know if they are all suffering or not, but there is a feeling in this country that things are radically wrong. There were lots of witnesses speaking to this bill who stated that the temper of the people was not very good. The province of Alberta, which I have known as an old timer, was looked to by its people and governments in the past as one place where liberty and freedom did appeal.

ON EVE OF ELECTION

"On the eve of an election when it might be taken and understood by a lot of people that passing of bills of this kind was an attempt to put a stop to full and complete information to people of this country. It is one of the greatest mistakes we could make. Before proceeding with any section I am doing my duty as a citizen of this province and a member of this house in opposing the bill. I am suggesting without hesitation that the government withdraw it as they are making a great mistake at this stage of the game.

"In times of stress and difficulty the last thing to do is leave an impression that we are taking anything away from the people or hiding anything.

CURTAILING FREEDOM

"At the second reading of the bill I said I am satisfied, for one, that the press of this country has been splendid, is made up, written and managed by men with as great regard as any man here for the best interests of this province. Do not let us create the impression that we are afraid of something or that we want to curtail the full freedom of expression in this country."

Mr. Baker: "Will the honorable gentleman explain which clauses of this bill restricts the freedom of expression?"

Mr. Dechene: "I am referring to the whole idea of the two bills."

Mr. Lymburn: "You must refer to the bill before the house and any particular clause which does what you say. You are not referring to this bill at all."

Mr. Duggan: "Can not the whole principle of any bill be discussed in committee?"

Mr. Dechene: "I said when I started, Mr. Speaker, that I was leaving it to you that I was not discussing any clause of the bill but discussing the whole bill."

Mr. Baker: "The honorable gentleman has referred to the repression of free expression of information and I am asking what clause does that. No one here wants to do that."

CLAUSE DOES RESTRICT

Mr. Howson: "In answer I say that clause three to which we are directing our attention at present, does restrict in a very material way the rights of the citizens of the province of Alberta. It refers particularly to cases of judicial separation, nullity of marriage and restitution of conjugal rights. The government of Alberta has an officer called the King's Proctor. The object of having that ofifcer is to see that the rights of the parties are properly protected.

"This King's Proctor does intervene in a great many cases, in fact every case of the nature specified in this particular section comes before the King's Proctor and he is expected to review evidence and decide that in the interests of the people of Alberta he should intervene and he does intervene.

PAPERS WOULD BE TIED

"Only last week I read in the paper of a case of this kind. A decision was given by the King's Proctor that was new in Alberta. The things he said were new and never before had the courts in this province openly heard the statement made by that King's Proctor and published in the newspapers. If this section were passed as written, no paper in the province could make anything of the things the King's Proctor had to say.

"Last week Mr. Justice Ives made the statement that the information that the King's Proctor had given to practicing lawyers of the province and published and the information given to the courts would not be believed by him at least. For 25 years he has been sitting as a judge in courts of Alberta and only a few days ago he said he did not believe the law was as the King's Proctor had said. After careful consideration and looking up all authorities, he decided that was not the law and that was published.

MATTER OF EDUCATION

"I submit to the honorable minister of education it is a matter of education not only to practicing lawyers but to every individual in Alberta and that it should be known to everyone, whether litigants or not. It is a pure matter of education when statements of the law are made and these things should be allowed to be published. That section does bar the press of the province of Alberta, daily press or periodicals from publishing even these law reports.

"I stand to be corrected by the lawyers of this assembly that even if it be law reports they have no rights to publish these things that the King's Proctor who is an official of the government said in open court, under the section as drafted. Surely the minister of education who has been directing his attention to the education of the people of Alberta for the last 14 years will not be one to say the newspapers can not give educational matters rising out of the very things specifically mentioned in this section.

"If passed without amendment, I am sure the attorney-general will agree no newspaper or periodical in the province of Alberta could use law reports themselves, although given on the dicta of the King's Proctor, working in his very own office. Surely, in answer to the minister of education this section does restrict the rights of the people of Alberta to information to which they are entitled.

"Perhaps I did not go into it in detail when referring to the King's Proctor who the week before last, or two weeks ago, said this, which was a most extreme thing of the kind to practicing lawyers—that the plaintiff in a divorce action should be asked about his or her personal conduct in matters of adultery when plaintiff was pursuing his or her own action. It was a matter to come before the presiding judge and he must take cognizance of that when deciding if that plaintiff, male or female, should receive a decree nisi. I never heard of that being an English law before and so far as most practicing lawyers are concerned, I have found in conversation with them, that they do not agree.

COULD NOT BE USED

"It was accepted by the court for the time being as being true and it appeared in the papers. It would never have appeared in the papers under this section as drafted. Then the judge a few days later in looking into the authorities had himself said that this proposition had been put up to him and that he did agree, but now he had changed his mind and he was informing the newspapers that they would be permitted to publish that he was of the opinion that his opinion of the week before was wrong. Surely the minister of education is not going to be one to stand in the way of having matters like that published in the newspapers and under the present section they can not be published."

Mr. Lymburn: "Was that not a submission on a point of law?"

Mr. Howson: "Mr. Chairman, it was not a submission on a point of law. Mr. Abe Miller a practicing lawyer in Edmonton was conducting an undefended divorce action and before starting the case Mr. Justice Ives stated that he had heard the King's Proctor's statement a few days before. He stated, 'I want to make this clear that if any lawyer in my presence asked the plaintiff whether or not he or she had committed adultery in these proceedings I will not allow them to be answered whether the opposing lawyer objects or not.' The matter did not arise in that particular case and was not a point of law in connection with that case.

FREEDOM OF PRESS

"But, we are, under this section saying, 'you can not publish these things.' Surely the honorable member from St. Paul was right when he stated he was taking his stand in connection with the whole act. There are things for which the people of British countries and under jurisprudence of British countries have fought for in many generations and succeeded in establishing freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

"As section three is drafted if the King's Proctor who is the guardian of rights of the people in actions of this kind does intervene, not one single word could be mentioned that he did. It can not be stated that the King's Proctor ever appeared and names of lawyers can not be published. I care not a whit and I believe no other lawyers care a whit if the honorable member for Edmonton or from Drumheller appeared for one or another party, but at the same time it is a matter of some concern to the public of this province. In particular cases there is information comes up from time to time even in these actions which should be specifically mentioned and people who desire to know who the lawyer was in order to communicate with him should be able to do so and the lawyer often may receive information of importance.

IN DYING HOURS

"That information cannot be given in newspapers to enable the individual in Alberta to communicate with such lawyers. I stress this because this legislation being brought down in the dying hours of this session effects a certain class of people and the rights of people in no small degree.

"No one in this legislature will stand up and say that the press in the province of Alberta has at any time been unfair to the people of Alberta, yet we as representatives of those people would say indirectly what we dare not say directly. We are saying indirectly the press in Alberta must be throttled; the press must be curtailed in its rights; the press is not to be allowed to carry on business as it has been carrying on business. What wrong has the press done to the people of the province that we should now after these years produce an act in an effort to meet the situation? Yet, now we are saying, 'Press, you are not to be allowed any more to carry on your business as you have in the past.'

WHAT IT MEANS

"What have they done to deserve that? I submit with all seriousness that every single member who supports it in committee, section by section, or in third reading is saying silently, if not openly, we are not satisfied with the way you have been carrying on your business.

"The honorable member for St. Paul suggests that matters of this kind where they effect not only those carrying on business but all people in the province in its results should not be hastily put through. I suggest in all seriousness that now that we have entered upon the bill in the interests of the people as a whole that we leave out entirely the interests of the press. We would be well advised if this bill were not reported. If it lies in my power, and if I am correct, I am going to move now that this bill be not reported."

ATTORNEY GENERAL DISAGREES

Mr. Lymburn: " I think the legal minds in the house will agree with me that whether or not the plaintiff might be asked a question that would involve his own guilt the question of whether or not such questions can be asked is a question of law and that being so, it is one of the specific exceptions made in this section where we say, 'any matter or detail the publication of which is prohibited by this Act save and except the following—which includes, submissions on any point of law arising in the course of the proceedings and the decision of the court thereon.' There is no doubt about that point.

"To say this is something unheard of and contrary to all British jurisprudence is just nonsense because in 1926 the British house passed an act which put restrictions on the publication of certain matters including 'any judicial proceedings with indecent matter, or indecent medical, surgical or theological details which would injure public morals.' This is not included in our act because it is dealt with in the criminal code.

ENGLISH ACT DIFFERENT

"No judicial proceedings for divorce, nullity of marriage, judicial separation or for restitution of conjugal rights may be used, but an exception is made of names, addresses and occupations of the parties and witnesses."

Mr. Farthing: "Isn't the first part of the act different?"

Mr. Lymburn: "Yes, added to the English act are these words 'or which relates to any marriage or any order, judgment or decree in respect of any marriage' ".

Mr. Farthing: "What is the idea of that?"

Mr. Lymburn: "Because it would be a mistake to publish the kind of details that are usually involved in these cases. It is objectionable to publish these details or subsequent action for setting aside of marriage. Any point of law that rises then is clearly excepted by paragraph "C" of the act."

SAFEGUARD REMOVED

Mr. Farthing: "It seems to me that so far as the original divorce act is concerned, you are right, but in the subsequent act you have removed one of the best safeguards against fraud and collusion that you had in the act during these years. It is highly desirable in the interests of the public welfare that the administration of justice and respect for the courts be upheld and when fraud and collusion are invited then it is desirable that the protection from the publicity should end.

"It seems to me it is most important if you are going to safeguard the courts from abuse and things are so bad that the King's Proctor must step in, then any restrictions on publicity should be ended. I think it is because of that reason more than any other that the English act left out the reference to subsequent proceedings because when the King's Proctor steps in things are pretty bad.

RIGHTS OF PUBLIC

Mr. Giroux: "I submit that sections 3, 4, 7 and 8 are an infringement on the rights of the public and the freedom of the press."

Chairman: "You must stick to clause 3, with no submission on clause 4."

Mr. Giroux: "I understood that when the second reading is made that we can discuss the principles of a bill at the same time. It is very hard to start an argument on one point and not go on to another. Section three says at the end, 'no matter or detail the publication of which is prohibited by this act.

"Clause B says newspapers may publish a concise statement of the charges, defences and counter-charges in support of which evidence has been given. Who will be the judge as to what a concise statement is? You might say that a statement is not concise and another individual will say it is. The only safeguard you have is publishing of a whole document as recited word for word.

"The concise statement is just a start for anyone who wants to attack the newspapers for personal reasons. Then in section 4 you go on to say that no person can print proceedings of civil actions as contained in statements of claim.

WHAT IS "CONCISE" STATEMENT?

"Now here is the situation you have in this case, Mr. Chairman. A ratepayer in this city starts action against the gas company on grounds that it has no rights to franchise or any other reason. Under this section the public and ratepayers of the city can not find out the statements made. They will have to go to the court house and pay some money to get a copy of the statement of claim. And then when the company files a defense ,the newspapers can not publish these defences except in a concise statement. And again, what is that concise statement?

"A vital question affecting the ratepayers of the city and the general public and the press can not hear of it. The people of the city would be in the dark as to the facts of the case.

"In section seven the proprietor of the newspaper is made guilty for publication of such material in contravention of the act. Everyone knows that in the case of small country papers, the proprietor is printer and everything else in the business. All these people are liable to prosecution and a big fine if through some error or slip something like that is printed.

AFFECTS DISTRIBUTORS

"Section eight affecting distributors. We had evidence this morning that the American and English papers are distributed from different points in this province and under section eight they are liable under the act. What is the situation? We heard the attorney general read some correspondence and resolutions all of which were directed at immoral and salacious publications and everyone knows that these publications do not originate in Canada.

"Everyone knows that such immoral and salacious news and pictures are absolutely controlled by Ottawa. There are two boards of censorship to look after that. A department of customs also looks after it and also the post office. Then we have our criminal code which has greater power and more scope than what the attorney general has just mentioned in the English act. The English act of 1926 does not go as far as our own criminal code. You will find out that certain sections have more scope and more power to deal with salacious and immoral news than even the English act of 1926.

ALREADY COVERED

"We have the machinery, federal and provincial, to meet any situation which would arise and which, according to the attorney general it is intended to cover by this bill.

"All provinces have libel and slander acts and the criminal code deals with the question of immoral and salacious news and I am satisfied that the resolutions read this morning as submitted by a lady who does not represent one-third of the women of this province, need not be the only reason for this bill.

"Can the attorney general justify these bills through some particular situation which has arisen at the present time? I do not think so? We have been spending money and sending representatives to the committee on uniformity and here we pass bills supposed to be uniform across Canada with other provinces.

IMPORTANT MATTERS HUSHED

"Section four interferes with the right of the public to know facts and it is taken away by this section. You can not publish anything that takes place in chambers and most important matters are threshed out in chambers, including summary applications and even civil cases. Every day there are applications made on matters affecting the public utilities of this province.

"The big corporations are tickled to death with this bill because they will be protected from publicity on their cases. There will be nothing from the town council, the city council and it will be the poor public who will not be able to get information. I think this bill will absolutely protect the big corporation and municipality which wants to put something over on a franchise or anything else having to do with public utilities.

PUBLIC ENTITLED TO KNOW

"Surely the public is entitled to know through its press what is going on and what the many applications are about. I would like the attorney general to justify it on grounds of divorce actions when the public is entitled to be protected from star chamber methods and secrecy in modern times. The 1926 act in England marked the beginning of blackmail and it had more to do with it than anything else.

"I am told in advice from a reliable source that people were found to be banding together to blackmail people and start divorce proceedings and that was why the act was made. Our bill goes much further than that.

"Maybe the attorney-general justifies this bill because an election is coming up and the press should be told what to say and what not to say in political matters, particularly where certain things are said."

Mr. Lymburn: "Is that why you are fighting it so hard?"

Mr. Giroux: "Unless based on the fredom of this country what would you put it on."

Mr. Lymburn: "In the interests of public morals."

Mr. Giroux: "You have had 15 years to do it but you have not discovered it until now."

JUST BEFORE ELECTION

Mr. Lymburn: "Have you read the Western Catholic?"

Mr. Giroux: "Yes, and it is all wrong. Why did you not start many years ago to bring in this bill? Why, when the legislature is in its dying days and an election to take place as soon as possible should it be brought up? Last year you withdrew the bills. A most important point was brought up by Mr. Farthing where the public is protected regarding collusion and fraud.

"How is the King's Proctor to be able to find out the facts unless by fair and complete publication of what transpires in the courts. Surely, the attorney-general will admit if there is need of uniformity in this country it is on a bill on the public rights and freedom of the press and freedom of the individual. Surely that should be one of the primary things the public gets.

"The Ohtario act does not go so far but only gives actual damages. Here is where the question of blackmail starts. Under this bill some one could blackmail another and if successful be entitled to general damages. That is unfair.

CAN BE ATTACKED

"The publisher is liable himself along with the editor and the printer. I am satisfied that the constitutionality of this bill can be successfully attacked because if one reads the criminal code, it will be found that the code deals with what this bill is supposed to cover.

"In undefended divorces, not only criminal or semi-criminal cases, you will take away from the public its rights to know what takes place in courts and chambers. Those big corporations will conduct their cases with assurance that nothing will be made public. The only chance the public has is through the press in order to stop injustices and manoeuvreing of big corporations. I am surprised that the attorney-general has kept section four in.

Mr. Lymburn: I have not kept section four in. It was before the house and it was considered line by line and if they do not want it, it is up to them. The government will be guided by the group judgment and sense of the house.

Mr. Giroux "I understand you would take section two out and then this other. But if that is not the case, all right."

SECTION THREE VITAL

Mr. Moyer: I wish to voice my sentiments regarding the bill and they are all centered around Section three. In spite of the fact that reporters and editors are numerous in the gallery, I refuse to get hysterical about the rights of the press and the public. I am very much interested in this bill and agree that so far as possible without conflicting with the criminal code restrictions on publication of news we do not want our children to see in our homes is desirable.

"I may say over a long period in Canadian history the newspapers have been very decent about this matter. However, things have come into the newspapers that we would be ashamed to have children see.

"I want so far as is humanly possible to have that stopped. We have listened to a lot of prattle about the right of the public and the influences upon them. I contend that Section three does not go far enough. It deals with divorce, marriage and so on, but does not cover all classes of cases in which just such material can be found. Every bit of that material should be covered no matter what action or court it comes from.

FAIR JURY TRIAL.

"The next thing not covered by this act is that in criminal action we should have a fair jury trial. It is the practice of the courts not to lock up the juries except in murder cases or something akin to them. Uusually the juries can go around the streets during cases that may last for weeks and read newspaper comments on evidence from day to day. If a single individual approached a juryman and offered a suggestion that the defendant was guilty or innocent the court would immediately discharge the jury and order a new trial yet the same thing is done by our newspapers and nothing is done about it.

"We must either abolish jury trial or see that so long as they are not locked up that nothing in the shape of comment is published in newspapers. It affects only civil rights or a man's bankbook, but when the man's liberty and life are at stake we do nothing about it. These things should be covered and it should go further. The bill offers some of these safeguards and I support it."

WOMEN'S SENSITIVENESS

Mrs. Parlby: "I wish to commend the member who has just spoken and I am glad that one man has the courage and strength to get up and make such a statement. It is exactly what I would have liked to say myself. We have listened to much mock heroics and rights of the public and press. One of the first rights is that our homes should be protected from certain things we recently have had in our newspapers. I read in the newspapers just received by me yesterday that some sneering remarks were made about women's sensitiveness.

"Not only women are sensitive. Every decent man I know who has spoken to me for months past has held exactly the same opinion as these women's organization and many other organizations in the province hold the same opinion. The member for Grouard says one woman whose name was mentioned does not represent very many women in Alberta. She heads one of the first organizations to press for this legislation and pass resolutions which since have been introduced by other women's organizations in Canada.

"They tried to get it passed last year and the bill was withdrawn. This is not a new idea, it has been discussed publicly in many of these organiation meetings and I again want to thank the member from Drumheller for the statement he has made.

NOT FAR ENOUGH

Mr. Cameron: "I also compliment the member for Drumheller and I take my stand emphatically. In my opinion the people of the province have a right to inspect the newspapers. And when the newspapers start substituting filth for news and spreading it all over the front pages it is high time this legislature took a hand in the matter and took steps to see it does not repeat itself. I agree with the member from Drumheller that this bill does not go far enough. If I had my own way the publisher of such stuff would get a term in Fort Saskatchewan to think better of his actions.

"I am satistied that the recently published stuff did more harm to morals of young people than anything else in the history of the province. I am sure the people of this province are behind any government that will take steps to prevent anything like that happening in the future."

PRINCIPLES AT STAKE

Mr. Ross: "I do not suppose any man in this house here has any interest in seeing salacious details published in the newspapers.

"There are publications known as tabloids that make a particular appeal for that type of thing. There are in Canada today one or two publications of that kind. Anything that may be done by the legislature to prevent material of that type going into the hands of people I will support. There are very important principles at stake in Clause three.

"If it were possible to prevent publication of indecent details that only could be of interest to the reader from morbid curiosity no one would oppose it. However, there are times and circumstances that make it absolutely necessary for the people of this province to have information regarding certain things. In all seriousness, I think this legislature can not prevent the publication of details of concerning matters of vital importance to the people of the province.

HOW IT WORKS

"One only has to read during the past days to realize to what extremes a man will go to get exact news. It was in Anthony Adverse, I think, that I read of an act prohibiting newspapers publishing matters before courts. They were published in holes in the wall and issued in pamphlet form. In order to get around distributing regulations, blind men sold them. Many of the newsboys at that time were blind.

"If people want information they think is vitally necessary they will get it and nothing we can do will stop them. They will get it by subterfuge or by some other method. I am the father of four boys and am anxious to see that they get nothing from the newspapers that will do them harm. When certain cases crop up. I am quite willing to see them published if demonstrated in the public interest. I regret that this debate has gone to the point where personalities are introduced but I say in all seriousness that the people of the province were entitled to get the facts of the cases of last summer.

STAR CHAMBER METHODS

"If that were not done, partial reports of evidence would be published and were published and did not reveal what actually took place. It would have continued into a controversy that would have lasted for years.

"I heard it expressed by Mr. Justice McGillivray that in every important trial that takes place the judge is on trial equally with the defender. The star chamber method was started by Charles the First and if it is necessary that facts should not be given to people, I maintain that to stop one evil we should not make things many times worse.

Mr. Payne: "I think it is the utmost folly for us in the house to put on a sanctimonious air about our children and the children in this province and at the same time put up with the amount of salacious matter we have had in the last few months in this province. I have the greatest respect for newspaper men, but find that their eagerness cannot be contained and any other paper can allow them to be driven into feeding the public this salacious news.

IN ACCORD WITH ACT

"This opposition causes them to give to consumers things they know should not be published to the benefit of the people of the province to say nothing of the children. I cannot see that the libel section will gain much even though the publisher is the one who is liable. He might be in Europe when his paper is being published and yet the people would get all the salacious and libelous matter without being able to stop it.

"We have been very good to the press with respect ot slander when they can run big headlines and with a small column in the background somewhere apologise for this long after the damage has been done. I am in accord with the act so far as it goes. It has been good enough for Great Britain and in this province it is found necessay to publish almost the same act.

WORKS A DETRIMENT

"I will say one word further. So far as criminal trials are concerned and publication of matters pertaining to criminal trials, I do not think any man charged with crime should have any of the evidence published until he is entirely tried. We find too frequently the press of this country publishing what comes out at preliminary trials where there is not evidence to rebut because you are not able to do so, and statements which they receive from police and from other people are published. Much of this is newspaper comment to the detriment of the man charged. I want to see the youth of this country protected and I think this will be one means. I am going to support it."

Mr. Ross: "Regarding the statement of an apology put on the back pages of the paper where it will not be observed. My understanding is that it is required that the apology be given equal prominence."

Mr. Payne: "Well, you have seen two columns containing libelous matter and then only a little slip for the apology. The act probably says equal prominence, but not equal space."

FOR GOOD OF PEOPLE

Mr. Montgomery: "We must decide whether publication of such material is in the public interest or not. You find that we hear clergymen read from the Holy Bible details that are just about the same as heard now. Why were they put there? For the good of the people and in the cause of righteousness and in the public interest. We come down to our newspapers and we ask ourselves are they in the public interests? I strenuously protest against the principles of the bill.

"It is a direct slam against the people who are running our daily and weekly newspapers in Alberta. We attempt to dictate to them what they shall and shall not publish. Why should we pass judgment on the management of the papers in Alberta? They can decide that.

MORE HARM THAN GOOD

"I feel more harm than good will result from passing of the bill. We should not start to dictate as to what newspapers will publish. Feeling as I do, I am going to move that Section three be struck out of the bill."

Mr. Bowlen: "This bill coming in as it does in the dying days of the session is the wrong time for such a bill. Since it was taken up last January by the attorney-general why was the bill held up all these months until we were almost finished. That is something I can not understand. It should have been brought in early for more mature judgment. It looks to me as though certain of the bills are brought in at the later part of the session when we are besieged with them and when members were tired.

"I was born here and lived here many years and I always try to uphold the dignity as well as anyone and I never had any difficulty with the newspapers. We have had to fight for the liberties we enjoy today. The attorney-general says that in the British Isles they have a similar bill. That bill is for the British Isles and this is for Alberta. If it was for the dominion of Canada there would be some reason for it, but I can not see it for the province. It is a funny thing that all these things seem to start in Alberta.

WELFARE OF PEOPLE.

"Now the attorney-general seems to be very much concerned with the welfare and morals of the people of this province. Are they any more holy than other people. For 25 years we have got along with the present act. We have had nothing happen in this province any more than anywhere else. One of the most respected citizens of this province gave evidence this morning and when men like that speak in this chamber we ought to give him a lot of consideration.

"What about the dozens of papers brought in from Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario. We have no control over them but muzzle the newspapers of this province and ship others in. More than 950 are shipped in from different publishers we were told this morning. So far as I know there is no control here over that matter and we are just putting the burden on the newspapers of this province. As they always have, the papers here will stand up with any others in Canada or in the world. The fines that they would be subjected to would put many of them out of business altogether.

SHOULD RECONSIDER.

"I think we should not bring in this bill at the present time and the attorney-general would be well advised to reconsider. Nothing happened last year and it was left over for another year and should have been brought in early and not before the next election. Regarding reading for our children, I have had papers in this house for many years and have found nothing salacious in them. Mr. Chairman, I am opposing not only Section three, but the whole bill, in fact both bills, 82 and 83, this is neither the time nor the place to bring them in.

"Mention was made of a woman in Calgary whom I respect highly but if this is the only reason for giving consideration to this bill it must bring great regrets."

Mr. Hindsley: "I am one who voted against reporting the bill. So far as any indecent particulars being printed, I am not agreeing that they should not be eliminated, but there are things in this bill dealing with only specific things, such as nullity of marriage.

SHOULD GIVE IN FULL

"There are cases where the details should be given in full. For instance, a young lad at a dance in Calgary asked a girl to marry him that night, they went to a village and were married and then went directly to their own homes. The marriage was never consummated.

"There has been placed on the father of that boy a great deal of expense in getting the marriage annulled. To my mind it is most desirable that a case of that kind be given in detail in the papers so that other young people would know the trouble caused to their parents. That would not be possible under this bill. I also voted against the bill on Section 4 which I think goes altogether too far.

"If the amendment was just to eliminate from the papers any undesirable things I am for it, but I think there are other things to be considered."

SESSION STILL ALIVE

Mr. Baker: "We have heard a great deal about the dying hours of this session. This session is alive with full power to deal with any matter that should be dealt with. It is alive until prorogation. I have been very much surprised at this type of line taken by various gentlemen who want to curtail the publication of salacious matter and will have nothing to do with this bill. How are you going to curtail papers if you do nothing?

"The member for Calgary had been here 25 years and never seen things in the papers that should not be there and wanted to now why this action on the eve of an election. There are others in this province and outside the province who have seen things that they do not think should be published. One paper in this province refused last summer to publish a great deal of what the other papers published.

"Are the papers worse or better than elsewhere? I do not see papers from other provinces very much but here is a clipping of what was in the Canadian Printer and Publisher on criticism of two editorials in Ontario papers. When the public reads evidence of a trial as facts there is nothing to say that it really is facts. If anything is to be published the public is entitled to facts but many should not be published.

"One of the dailies in an editorial in an Ontario paper stated they should have seen the Alberta papers to see how it was treated there and that said if it was true it is a disgrace to the newspaper profession.' Another editor wrote he was impressed by the almost unanimous decision of the press to tone down of headlines.

"To my mind there is a very good reason for this legislation. The honorable member has read the papers for 20 years and I have openly heard that in the last few months there has been a decided lowering in the tone of some papers in this province. I have regretted it. We appreciate the value of a newspaper but there has been a tendency to publish sensational stuff and salacious material which is not in the public interest and which they have not a right to know. We need not make a fetish of freedom of the press. We are not talking about restricting free speech. We are talking about the wholesale publication of matter that does not do anyone any good to know.

SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE

"Something should be done about it. There are dozens of people who believe that. If some details of the bill should be altered let us point out them, but how can members say they want to do something to check publication of salacious and obnoxious material in this province and then give the bill a hoist and do nothing about it. It seems to me they are leaving themselves straddling the fence.

Mr. Farthing: "I think it might be admitted for purposes of debate that those of us who are not supporting all angles of this bill are not altogether devoid of decency. We were told that all sentiment outside this house were in favor of this bill. I am free to confess that there is a good deal in relationship between the press and public and parliamentary bodies which would be improved by our adopting this bill.

"There are unfair headlines but I do not think the papers understand the great importance of the headlines because they think people are engaged in reading the article. I approached after and before an election members of the cabinet would meet with newspaper representatives and arbitrarily correct these things.

"They have good reason in Alberta and injustices have been done to public men just immediately before an election. Many have published salacious and indecent news and I am in hearty accord with that, but why not say so in the bill. We have the constitutional power to pass this so let us do so, but I read this Section 3 and nothing about salacious matter in it from beginning to end.

OTHER CASES ALSO

"This should not be confined to divorce actions. They are not the only matters before courts by any manner of means in which salaciousness might be found. I object to all the unctuousness from the other side of the house. Start a new bill and past act governing sales of news and I will be with you 100 per cent. Why does this section be confined to certain actions and to nothing else? You are leaving the field wide open for all kinds of indecency other than these. I am not so sure you do not leave it wide open here for publication of a good deal of salacious matter.

"You go so far here as to say you cannot publish the report of the court of appeal and important cases in this manner. If you wish to publish the argument of counsel you must carefully sift points of law from the argument with regard to fact. We are told to follow the example of Great Britain and then have some of the most important words added.

WHY ARE THEY ADDED?

"We have not been given the reason as to why they have been added. I am not going to question the reason. There are a great many skeptical people in this province who will question it and I am going to say that the person is to have an unhappy time in trying to find the motives of the house in passing and I resent it.

"We have been told a great deal about protecting our children from salacious material. I think it can be taken for granted that every single member of this house agrees as to the great importance of seeing that our children have every help and assistance in growing up clean and healthy in mind, soul and body. From my memory of a year ago I remember being forbidden on many occasions from reading many things in the newspapers. I respect all the censors and I think the children if correctly brought up will play the game in this.

"But in this way you are going to keep out a great many things of importance in this community all over the world. You are going too far. When I was a child, I spoke as a child etc.' We are told that everything that comes from trials is not facts. There are no restrictions put on political speeches and evidence is at least given under oath. I wonder how many of us would like to be sued on some things we have said. I think that we are going this far and we should be careful.

WHICH IS WORSE?

"Two other considerations are the danger in secrecy. I do not believe in this proverb, where there is smoke there is fire.

"I do say this, what is worse? The bad conditions of public morals in general or the happenings in lives of a particular number of people and reports of them?

"Is it worse to do these things or to publish it? I think we should direct our attention to the great danger in secrecy. Any practising attorney knows how often he is asked to keep it out of the papers if possible. Fear of publicity is a great deterrent for wrong doing. There is great danger in too quch restriction.

"I have read certain articles in that paper which seems to be just as close to the said as any articles could be and I am informed that the paper publishes only such advertisements not published in any other paper in this province. I think then the whole bill should be re-drafted and more restricting publication of salacious material but it is traveling up the wrong line altogether as now drafted. It does not purport in its terms and in its language to do anything of the sort. For that reason I think the motion to strike out this is in order. I am in support of the motion.

Mr. Falconer: "If the chief purpose aimed at was to eliminate publication of salacious details I would be heartily in accord with the bills. I think what has been in the minds of many speakers this afternoon has been the daily press of the province. I happen to live in a community where we have not the facilities of daily press and is represented by a weekly publication.

FIGHTS FOR WEEKLIES

"I have been waiting to say something on their behalf. These weeklies, unlike the dailies, are unable to get all the news of the world. The dailies can afford to pay for the facilities in order to secure news but the weeklies depend very largely on details picked up from time to time from items published in the dailies. You can understand the fears and the hazards that this magazine which the weekly newspapers operate.

"If my interpretation of the bill is correct under Section 3 even if a reprinted articles from a daily are published by the weekly the publisher is equally liable. I think this should be given every consideration in the preparation of the bill as I remarked if it is the purpose to eliminate publication of these salacious news I am heartily in agreement. But I do feel that the country weeklies are placed under a very great handicap.

"To those familiar with small country weeklies you will agree that their life is not a bed of roses at best. We are going a long way toward curtailment of these papers by passing an act as at present. I am not sure if it would be entirely covered by elimination of Section 3, but it seems to me that this section will make the country newspaper publisher liable if he inadvertently copied any news items from dailies and subsequently found them to be of a libelous nature. For that reason I am prepared to support the motion that it be struck out."

WOULD BE WELL ADVISED

Mr. Howson: "It seems that in order to answer what the member for Calgary, Mr. Farthing, and other various other members have said, that the attorney-general would be well advised to take these suggestions into consideration and draft a bill that everyone could agree to. I am not taking any back seat from anyone in this house as to whether or not I believe in publication of salacious matter. The attorney-general has received a letter from a women's organization and a reply of ten months. That original letter was read this morning. So far as I am concerned, every other honorable member of the house would agree, publication of salacious matter is unwanted and it has been suggested that there are certain advertisements that should be eliminated.

DISGRACEFUL ADVERTISING

"I happen to have in my desk a magazine that is very largely read throughout Alberta, probably 40,000 and in this magazine there are advertisements that are a disgrace for any person to read them. I am referring now to the United Farmer. And there are not just a few of them, there are several, one after another.

"It is the most disgraceful advertising I have seen in any newspaper or magazine in Alberta. If any one wants a copy of that paper with those advertisements running from year to year I have a few copies here. It is a farm paper, dated November 22, 1934, and I find five consecutive advertisements each one worse than this province. There is a great deal said about them. I can find no effort at this session or in any other paper in Alberta and if any one knows of such a paper I would like to see it. If it is a reflection of the public morals that we want, these must be remedied. It was a 17-year old boy that directed my attention to these particular advertisements.

The house resumed at this stage and it was immediately following the adjournment that the publisher of The Bulletin and the former minister of public works met in the corridor where the assault on the former occurred.

In the evening session the debate continued with W. R. Howson, Lib-Lab leader, on the floor.

Mr. Howson: "I was suggesting to the attorney general that it might be wise to give this bill more consideration. If the honourable member for Drumheller is right this bill does not go far enough—then when the bill is being drafted it should go farther. The hon. member for Calgary, Mr. Farthing, I think spoke to the point. There is no one in the legislature who does not try to remove or prevent any salacious matters being published. I am certain that the newspapers have no paper shall circulate salacious matters. I am certain that the newspapers would have no objection to that. I said before that so far as I am concerned there is no member who desires that salacious matters should be printed.

SALACIOUS ADVERTISING

I have here copies of the U.F.A. paper running through 1934 and 1935. The advertisements that appear in the U.F.A. paper are illegal. The attorney general knows this. Why has not the attorney general prosecuted this paper? Is it because it is the organization of the government? I notice that F. is the managing director of that paper. Surely this cannot be the reason. Surely attention has been directed to the filthy advertisements that appear in the U.F.A. paper. If we are determined to stop the printing of salacious matters in daily or weekly papers then stop this kind of advertising that appears in this paper. I notice some members say, "Hear, hear." These honorable members must know that these advertisements appear in this magazine which they receive for the past two years or more. Does the attorney general not know?

Attorney General: I do, and you never told him.

Mr. Howson: Is the attorney general's only explanation that in now backing his own party he was waiting for someone on this side of the house to tell him? It is not new to some members of the province, and the attorney general cannot shield himself behind this statement that he was not aware of the publication of the house ever told him. I doubt if the attorney general would go so far as to say it was not known to the organization which he belongs. The people in the province of Alberta who know that those advertisements were discussed in meetings and approved and inserted after the approval was given.

Mr. Shields: What do these advertisements mean?

Mr. Howson: I will read them: "Sanitary rubber goods, best money can buy; 20 for $1. Sales Co., 408 McLean Block, Calgary."

(Also read other similar advertisements).

Mr. Howson: I am asking the question when the Criminal Code of Canada declares those advertisements that have been read, why has the attorney general not prosecuted that magazine? If the attorney general is not prosecuted salacious news they could be prosecuted, why then has the attorney general not prosecuted this paper?

Mr. Howson: I am suggesting to the government after having heard from the newspapers their views, having heard from a large number of members that it would be wise that this bill be reconsidered and I suggest that the committee rise and report progress.

CRIMINAL CODE COVERS

Mr. Farthing: Regarding the Honorable, the Atty. General's reply to my suggestion, I do not think that the proposal he made would be any more constitutional; in the act of court. The representation made by Bruce Smith this morning establishedclearly that the criminal code covered this field. It was a well known principle of court law that we cannot do indirectly what we could do directly. This bill only seeks to do with court which concerns itself with what newspapers report of proceedings in court. We have a reference made to a section of an English bill. The English Newspaper Act, Section 3 of this bill and would not apply to an Alberta case which is now pending before the Privy Council and also in respect to other points involved, before our own supreme court.

I must confess after hearing the very righteous statements on the press which we heard this afternoon, I think that it would be well to adjourn the whole consideration of this matter to next session. Section 297, expressly forbids advertisements of this kind and I think we would be well to postpone further consideration of these new bills until such time as the Attorney General sees fit to enforce the law.

Mr. Giroux: Following the statement made by the honorable member for Calgary, Mr. Farthing, Section 4 deals only with civil matters.

Chairman: All remarks made re Section 3 are in order now and not 4.

Mr. Giroux: Referring to Section 3—if the members will read Section 10 of the Libel and Slander Act, it is this or if you do your head will be taken off. Surely there can be no harm in publishing records. I move to strike this out.

LAWYERS GUILTY

Mr. Howson: Under that section we will not be able to discuss the stenographers, because the stenographer is not one taking part in the proceedings, any lawyer who dictates a statement of claim or other pleadings to a stenographer will be guilty under this Act. Furthermore, a lawyer in Calgary who writes to a lawyer in Edmonton will not be one who is connected with the proceedings, but he writes to one in Edmonton for legal advice he too will be guilty.

Attorney General: In accordance with the English sections no such happenings have taken place.

Mr. Giroux: With the type of administration we have it is liable to happen here.

Mr. Farthing: Penalties under Section 6 are very high. A person is apt to have to pay $1,000 and a corporation $5,000.

Attorney General: He can be fined $1 and a corporation can be fined $1.

Mr. Howson: Surely it is giving too much power to a Justice of the Peace to say that any one or person is guilty of imprisonment under these sections. There are highly technical points that may arise out of Sections 3 or 4.

Mr. Bowlen: We must not forget the penalties a Judge can give. We should men who have news-stands know what is in the press on their stalls? That is unfair.

Attorney General: Something should be done to protect them.

UNFAIR TO OWN PEOPLE

Mr. Farthing: "If you want to keep out certain publications from eastern Canada there is no objection to that. The suggested amendment of the attorney-general makes it more unfair to our own people. If such an amendment should arise that a trial attracts public interest some newspaper outside the province may send a reporter to court and write what they like and find a large sale for same. I hope it is not the intention of this Act to give outside newspapers greater advantage in that respect. The climate should stand over for further consideration, and if the attorney-general is willing to withdraw I am prepared to bring in a new clause meeting the objection which I have heard. We have a lawyer advise him whether the matter is alright. There is dominion legislation in force that deals with this section; then our section would be ultra vires.

Attorney-general: "I suggest no prosecution should be brought without the consent of the attorney-general."

Giroux: "If sent by mail?"

Attorney-General: "You could not hold them."

NEWSPAPERS OPPOSED

Mr. Montgomery: "When this Bill was given second reading by the attorney-general he informed us that newspapers were taken into consideration and he agreed to the principle of this Bill. We find now from the evidence given before the committee that the opposite that is not the case. Section 9 is an important clause in this Bill and I move that it be struck out."

This motion, as were all the others preceding it, was voted down by the Government members and the House went on to consider the second bill, an act to amend the Libel and Slander Act.

IN DEFENCE AGAIN

Again the defence of the liberty of the press was pushed forward. Section 7 of this Act reads as follows:

"No action for libel contained in a newspaper shall be brought unless plaintiff has, within six weeks after the publication thereof has come to his notice or knowledge, given to the defendant notice in writing, specifying the statement complained of, and has in like manner given the same manner as a statement of claim or by delivering the notice to a grown person at the place of business of the defendant."

TAKES AWAY RIGHTS

Mr. Giroux: "My understanding of Section 7 is that we in the Bill it takes away the right and renders the newspaper liable to general damages. The fact that the effect of this Section is concerned does not give right to general damages but only to actual damages. Section 9 in the Bill also enlarges and it takes away practically the right of the newspaper to have a chance to prevent, although he may not have had the intent to libel, from being fined the Plaintiff actual damages. I think Sections 8, 9 and 10 of the Bill are a direct attack to our Bill and Section 8 and 10 very much enlarge."

WHAT IS REASON

Mr. Howson: "I am not going to repeat what I said this afternoon but would like to point out that we have a Libel and Slander Act, Section 101 of the Revised Statutes of 1922. The whole Act was passed 22 years ago. The Bill we have today as it was 13 years ago. The law in 1913 as it affected individuals is the law of today. And there are no attempts being made to change that law by the government. What has happened in the province of Alberta that requires any change in the laws of Libel and Slander insofar as it affects this particular class? There must be some reason. The Attorney-General should show what has happened in the province of Alberta in regard to the Press that puts them in a different class to all of us as individuals.

"If the newspapers in the province of Alberta have changed in the last year or two and differed to what they were in 1932 or 1931 there may be some reason for it but what is good for the individual in the matter of law seems to be good for newspapers. If it is not necessary to protect individuals then it does not seem to me there is justification for singling out newspapers and making them the only class that are to be more heavily penalized or more greatly protected.

AT LAST MOMENT

"So far as I am concerned I have never heard a complaint from anyone that he or she had suffered at the hands of the newspaper that would warrant this change. Why are we asked now at the last moment of the session to bring in a bill that more heavily burdens one particular class of community when we are not affected by it. It seems before we go any further we should have this explained and ask the Attorney-General to give it.

Mr. Lymburn: No reply.

Mr. Howson: "In view of the fact that the Attorney General does not see fit to answer that question I move the bill be not reported.

Mr. Lymburn: The change relates itself to taking away certain amount of privilege a newspaper has.

Mr. Giroux: The Libel and Slander Act of the different Provinces are practically the same as our Libel and Slander Act.

Mr. Lymburn: "Exactly the same as Ontario Act with the exception of one word.

Champions Weeklies

HUGH MONTGOMERY

Mr. Giroux: Is special damages what we term "general" damages?

Mr. Lymburn: The term "Special" damages is used in a different sense—it means "actual" damages.

PARTICULARLY OBJECTIONABLE

Mr. Farthing: "We should be discussing these matters as they are very important. It seems to me that this Section 2 of that Section 3 was particularly objectionable for some reason or another, which has not been explained and discussed. The Government seems to have a marked prejudice to everything that takes place in Chambers or before a Judge, no adequate reason for that sudden dislike of reporting proceedings in Chambers being given. Proceedings in Chambers are very dry as a rule. They deal with matters of procedure, but at the same time are very important, and a great deal of the Judge's work is done in Chambers. In Alberta everything can be heard in Chambers except trials or actions. In some Provinces they have a Judge who sits in Court who hears a great many applications, but here they are heard in Chambers. Sometimes some of the most important originating Notices of Motions, etc. —references

ON DANGEROUS GROUND

"I think we are treading on dangerous ground in placing the seal of secrecy upon proceedings of Chambers before a Judge and we have no explanation of such a change and I am strongly opposed to the Section.

Col. Jamieson: During the last few years we have greatly increased the number of things which may be disposed of in Chambers. Disputes as to ownership of articles seized, matters heard on originating notices of motion; right to get possession of land. Many things regardless of title. The Judge does not sit in open Court in Chambers but he has the right to announce he is sitting in Court, but that is not done.

Mr. Lymburn: The Government moves the adoption of the amendment.

Section 4.

BRINGING DOWN CLUB

Mr. Howson: Now that the Government has gone over the heads of the newspapers of this country and the object of the Act is to more fully establish the liberty of the newspapers and in view of the statements we heard this morning and those connected with publication, of various newspapers in the Province, now that the Government has in its hands the opportunity of bringing down the bills on it newspapers it appears that this Act should be brought up by proclamation only. Everything that can be achieved by the Act can be achieved by threat, and in view of the fact that our law has been at quite up to date, why not bring down this Section 2 of that Section 3 was particularly objectionable for some reason or another, which has not been explained and discussed. The Government seems to have a marked prejudice to everything that takes place in Chambers or before a Judge, no adequate reason for that sudden dislike of reporting proceedings in Chambers being given. the corridor, at the top of the main stairway of the legislative building.

Mr. Campbell approached and after addressing Mr. McPherson, the two exchanged some heated words. Mr. Campbell was addressing Mr. McPherson suddenly struck him, high up on one side of the face. Mr. Campbell reeled and fell forward toward a railing striking his head against a corner of a pillar. He fell, blow having temporarily affected his sight.

Chester A. Fleming, U.F.A., Camrose, and Gordon Forster, U.F.A., Hand Hills, were among those who hurried to Mr. Campbell's assistance.

ASKED TO RETRACT

The assault followed after Mr. Campbell had asked the former minister if he was satisfied with the publication of the report in the press or would he like to make a statement in the house that his recollection of the publication of the first news of the divorce action was erroneous. Mr. Campbell said it was apparent from the been shown the declarations by a U.F.A. member who had been required to sign the oath that the statement was shown them. They were made by John Oliver, parliamentary reporter for The Bulletin and W. R. Graves, managing editor, and read as follows:

"Canada, Province of Alberta. To Wit:

"I, John Oliver, of the City of Edmonton, in the Province of Alberta, do solemnly declare, that

"1. That I am employed by The Edmonton Bulletin as Parliamentary reporter.

"2. That as such it is my duty to call on cabinet ministers from time to time.

"3. That I was aware of the divorce action of McPherson and McPherson, in which the Honorable Wm. Aberhart, Minister of Public Works, was plaintiff, and Cora Lillian McPherson, defendant shortly after I received the Statement of Claim was issued.

4. "That some time after the Decree was granted in the divorce action a Journal reporter, by the name of Aubrey Fullerton, now employed in the office of Mr. McPherson, in our capacity of reporters; Mr. McPherson requested that our papers should publish the fact that he had been successful in obtaining a divorce from his wife, and he requested that this be published, in view of the fact that rumors were circulating to the effect that Mrs. McPherson had obtained the divorce and that he was the guilty party. He stated that, if we were prepared to obtaining the divorce, we would obtain the particulars from Mr. Lymburn, the Attorney-General. Accordingly we went to Mr. Lymburn's office and Mr. Lymburn personally gave us each a copy containing a report in brief of the facts of the divorce.

5. "That this statement given to me by the Honorable Mr. Lymburn on the authorization of the Honorable Mr. McPherson, was published in The Edmonton Bulletin without variation, addition or omission.

6. "That no statement of the divorce was, to my knowledge, published in The Edmonton Bulletin until Mr. McPherson himself had authorized and requested its publication.

"And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of "The Canada Evidence Act."

The declaration of W. A. de Graves, managing editor of The Bulletin, reads as follows:

"1. That I am managing editor of the Edmonton Bulletin.

2. "That I have read over the statutory declaration of John Oliver, and I am able to substantiate it to this extent. That about a week after the decree in the action of McPherson and McPherson had been granted, Mr. Aubrey Fullerton gave me a typewritten sheet containing in brief the facts of the divorce, and stated to me that the information had been given to him on the instructions of the Honourable Mr. McPherson, and that I authorized and requested its publication.

3. "That, to my knowledge, no statement appeared in the Edmonton Bulletin concerning the facts of the divorce action until after the decree and report were received from Mr. McPherson himself.

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of The Canada Evidence Act."

POISON LEAVES KILL 2 BABES

KENTVILLE, N.S., April 16—Two children are dead and a third child Raymond Dominey is in serious condition as the result of eating checker berry leaves while suffering from cholera infantum, it was learned here today.

All were able to run around despite their first illness, and partook freely of the leaves, which have a delicacy last Wednesday. Baby Elizabeth, aged 16 months, died that day. Two days later Gerald, 7, was dead and Vaughan, 5, was gravely ill. Two others, Gerald, 7, and Raymond, 5, suffered the same illness but recovered quickly.

Greenland is regarded as the largest island in the world, although some geographers regard it as an island continent. It has an area of 827,000 square miles. Most of it lies, with an area of 380,000 square miles, in the north, and Borneo, with 290,000 square miles, is third.

Country Roads Again Blocked By Snowstorm

REDWATER, April 16—Roads are again blocked for all traffic with Saturday's storm piling huge drifts higher than the storm of a week ago. Monday's warming spell had considerably melted some of the drifts and gophers and crows had made their appearance.

BASHAW, April 16—After several days of warm spring weather which greatly reduced the 10-foot snowdrifts around Bashaw, one of the worst blizzards in the past 10 years swept the district Saturday morning. Roads were impassable within three hours after the storm broke.

BUT IS ADVICE WANTED?

The Canadian Chambers of Commerce are now urging that an advisory committee be created to tell the Dominion Government how to deal with the unemployment problem.

Provided the committee was not picked in accord with the ideals of the Canadian Chambers of Commerce, headquarters Montreal, the idea is a good one; and was in fact proposed by Right Hon. Mackenzie King three years ago. But if the Government in the meantime has not learned any more about its own limitations than it has learned about the causes and the remedy for unemployment, the proposal is not likely to be adopted, and would make little difference if it were adopted.

A figurehead committee whose reports were only pigeonholed would provide jobs for nobody but themselves. An advisory committee to a Government which will not take advice would result only in the addition of a few thousand dollars per year to the tax-bill.

THE BUYER ALSO HAS RIGHTS

The Mass Buying Commission admits that manufacturers in important branches of the textile industry have benefited materially from "increased tariffs which came into force coincident with the beginning of the depression"; which is a polite way of saying that both the public and the employees of these concerns have been swindled without mercy since the "Canada first" tariff gave them a strangle-hold on both these parties.

As an instance of which the commission is moved to say certain milk wholesaling companies have exploited the situation with "a callous disregard for the decency of their wage scales"; investigation having shown that some of them, while raking in big profits, imposed wage and employment conditions which can be described only as shocking." The unofficial public, it may be remarked, have used a good deal stronger language than that in describing these piratical operations.

Wherefore, recommendations are made for regulations to compel the offenders to pay decent wages and permit fair working conditions. All very well. But what about the other victim, the buyer of the factory goods? Is he to get no regulatory readjustment of prices, through the downward revision of the tariff that has been used to exploit him as well as the factory-worker?

A CHANCE TO TELL THEM

When parliament adjourns this week the members will take home with them a 500-page book which it will be their duty, whether their pleasure or not, to read, mark, and digest during the long adjournment.

They will, of course, do nothing of the kind. Having read the newspapers and the famous "pamphlet" they are already in possession of sufficient information to know that the super-tariff has been made a hedge behind which certain predatory interests in the industrial and commercial fields have been exploiting alike their employees and the public.

The members also know from press summaries that the Mass Buying Commission does not propose the one major remedy for these evils—the removal of the tariff that has made them possible. Instead, the Commission proposes to put business and business men, industry and industrial workers in straight jackets, with a horde of salary-drawing officials to keep them there.

The Senators, not having to face an election, will spend the recess as they please. The Member of the Commons who hopes to get re-elected will spend more time studying the temper of his constituents than the contents of the report. The public should therefore take the opportunity to let their representatives know what they think about "regimentation" as a cure for racketeering under shelter of a Haman's Gallows tariff.

MAKE IT A JOB

Spring is here—as per the calendar—and cleaning-up operations are in order if, as and when weather conditions may permit.

It is time now that the tin cans and other accumulated souvenirs of winter were hoisted out of the back porch or the basement, and a general clearance made in the interests of health and seemliness. For the out-door season is at hand, bringing the usual spring job of raking and burning and pruning, and later on garden-making.

Besides these regularly recurring spring chores, the average householder has to admit that he has not in the depression years quite kept abreast of the repairing, re-painting and improving program that he considers the normal order of things. There are arrears under these headings to be made up, amounting to a great aggregate of work which should be done to maintain property values and appearances.

It will be altogether to the good, from every point of view, if a large amount of this neglected and postponed work can be done this season. There are thousands of men in the city who would welcome a few hours' work at odd jobs, and whose families would benefit from the dollars so earned. Dis-repair, disorder and slovenliness do nothing to preserve the value of a house or the self-respect and happiness of its occupants. Civic pride cannot flourish in a community whose residents do not cultivate and exhibit pride in their homes and home-surroundings.

For these and many other reasons, the more "fixing up" that is done the better. Once the snow goes and the ground dries, there should be busy times for the men folks in the front yard and the back yard—as there will be indoors when friend Wife flies into that frenzy of disruption which she calls house-cleaning.

Forty Years Ago

From the Files of The Edmonton Bulletin

A despatch received at Calcutta from the Malakand pass says the operations of the British troops against Umra Khan of Jandoe, the invader of Chitral, were successful. The enemy numbered 12,000, well posted in the pass, with numerous stone forts. These were stormed by Highland troops and captured.

Woman suffrage in South Australia is an accomplished fact. Queen Victoria has signed the bill and it has become law. This is the greatest single victory the cause has ever won. New South Wales is likely to follow the lead of South Australia.

Umra Khan has sent Lieut. Edwards, whom he held as a hostage, to the British camp at Lede.

The opinion prevails at St. Johns, Newfoundland, that the delegates sent to Ottawa will recommend the colony joining the Dominion.

James Reid, one of the early pioneers, died this week at Fort Saskatchewan.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Halifax.—The Allan line steamer Virginian broke the record from Liverpool to this port, on her first trip, making the voyage in six days and 18 hours.

London.—The whereabouts of the fleets of Rojestvensky and Togo is a standing subject of conjecture. The Russian fleet is supposed to have changed course to the east, with a view to passing around Japan and entering Vladivostok.

Tokio.—The reorganization of the Russian forces in Manchuria is being met by reinforcements which will bring the Japanese armies up to one million men.

A telegram from Regina announces that plans have been approved there for a C.N.R. combined railway and traffic bridge at Fort Saskatchewan.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The bill to loan the Central Canada Railway Company 80 per cent of the money needed to complete the line to Peace River was passed by the legislature. Construction is expected to be completed this season.

London.—Capt. R. C. Buller of the rifle brigade has been appointed to command the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, with the temporary rank of lieutenant colonel.

London.—Thirty-five thousand women have registered for special war service.

Vancouver.—Hindus are blamed for the bombing of a house on Third avenue.

New York.—Edison has devised a special storage battery for submarines.

The Senate of the university will offer to the militia department the personnel and equipment for a base hospital either in England or in France.

Two more offers to supply gas to the city have been received by council; from the Pelican Oil and Gas Co. and the Mount Allison Oil and Gas Co.

TEN YEARS AGO

Edmonton's tax rate has been set at 46 mills.

Paris.—France is in the throes of the worst crisis in the history of the third republic. Politically, economically, financially, the chamber and senate are in conflict.

Sofia.—King Boris of Bulgaria narrowly escaped death at the hands of communists who fired at him while he was driving in the city.

Moultrie, Ga.—Judge Persons ruled that, in certain circumstances, a man has a right to place his wife across his lap and spank her.

Poems That Live

NIGHT

Night is the time for rest;
How sweet, when labors close,
To gather round an aching breast
The curtain of repose.
Stretch the tired limbs, and lay the head
Down on our own delightful bed!

Night is the time for dreams;
The gay romance of life,
When truth that is, and truth that seems,
Blend in fantastic strife;
Ah! visions, less beguiling far
Than waking dreams by daylight are!

Night is the time to pray;
Our Savior oft withdrew
To desert mountains far away;
So will his followers do—
Steal from the throng to haunts untrod,
And hold communion there with God.
—James Montgomery.

The sharp recession in the Index of the Rate of Turnover of Bank Deposits, from 94.6 in January to 81.8 in February, approximately offset the advances noted above. The decline, equivalent to a contraction of about one-seventh, wiped out the major part of the gains scored by this Index since the low point of the depression. Developments, both within and outside the Dominion, presumably discouraged financial activity by disturbing confidence.—The Bank of Nova Scotia.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Piper of East St. Louis. Their young family of six has been added to by the birth of triplet daughters.

Also to Mr. and Mrs. John Ondich on the birth of twin boys.

J. S. Cowper

Also to Mr. (not to Mrs.) Charles Steinman of New York on the birth of a 22-pound son—their ninth.

And we mustn't forget congratulations to Mrs. Frances Lillian Kenny of Toronto. Mrs. Kenny at 31 is the mother of 14 children and is hoping to have twins shortly, thus becoming the most prolific woman in Toronto and qualifying for the $500,000 residue of Bachelor Charlie Millar's estate.

I forgot to mention that Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Piper are living on relief.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ondich are living on relief, too.

So are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steinman.

The Kenny family is on relief also.

It looks as if there is a connection between idling on relief and high fecundity. That is exactly what investigation has proved. The birth rate of the nation's indigents is sixty per cent higher than that of self-supporting parents. The reasons are self-evident.

Pious plutocrats at Ottawa and elsewhere who have the idea that they have done their duty by the masses when they supply them with food, clothing and shelter, and who profit by supplying the workless with food, clothing and shelter, might give consideration to this phenomenon.

In United States, surveys have been conducted by the Universities of Wisconsin and of Pennsylvania, as part of a nation-wide investigation into the fecundity of the workless. The United Press and the Associated Press newspapers have been threatened with boycott for making known the facts, and printing the opinions of social workers that birth-control knowledge should be made available to heads of families on relief. The threatened boycott is headed by Rev. Ignatius Cox, professor of ethics at Fordham University, and by the Catholic Welfare Association. They object to birth control knowledge being given to the poor.

Despite the opposition, no fewer than 172 birth control clinics are now operating in United States—an increase of 16 per cent inside of five months.

The threat of boycott is not only an act of intolerance against those who do not accept the same dogmas as Rev. Ignatius Cox and his coreligionists: the opposition is founded upon a misconception of the Papal Encyclical on the subject. Far from condemning birth control per se, it only condemned the scientific methods and one of the so-called "natural" methods. It gave permission to practice coitus reservatus and the so-called "safe period" method. Unfortunately, expert medical opinion disapproves of both of the permitted methods, holding that coitus reservatus is shattering to the nervous systems of both parties, and that the so-called "safe period" method is the reverse of safe to normally constituted people.

Economics have altered religious dogmas before today. The change from the polygamy of the Old Testament patriarchs to the monogamy of the New Testament followed the change from the pastoral age to the agricultural age. In the pastoral age the more wives and children the saint had, the greater his means of wealth. In the agricultural age when land became owned and limited, the fewer heirs the richer they were. Now that statistics show that the helpless idlers on relief are reproducing themselves sixty per cent more rapidly than the self-sustaining population, Canadians may yet hope to be able to bring Dr. Marie Stopes' books on birth control through the Canadian customs, as easily as they can be purchased in booksellers' stores in Britain.

To those who are not prohibited by dogma from using reason on the problems of life, it must seem contradictory that anyone should be prohibited from exercising birth-control while thousands of men and women are protected by law in their profession of death-control. Birth-control is the natural balance to death-control. Both are interferences with the normal course of Nature. When Koch discovered the germs of tuberculosis and diptheria, when Bruce traced sleeping-sickness to the tsetse fly, and Sir Ronald Ross and the Italian Grassi proved that malaria came through a mosquito, they paved the way to saving the lives of millions of men, women and children that Nature would have carried away prematurely by horrible forms of death.

Every person who is vaccinated in the hope that it will stave off small-pox; every child that is inoculated with anti-toxin in the hope that it will ward off diptheria, suffers an interference with the course of Nature of a much grave character than any practiced in modern birth control. Where the birth-controller merely averts conception, the disciple of preventive medicine sows hordes of foreign germs in the bloodstream of his patient to wage a war of extermination against those that Nature had planted or will implant there. The birth-controller doesn't destroy the germ of life; the vaccinator and inoculator destroys germ life by the billions.

The argument is more than merely philosophical. It has a directly practical application. All that these microbe-hunters have accomplished in freeing the world from small-pox, yellow-fever, diphtheria, black plague, etc., by their war upon the microbes which Nature had implanted here, has resulted in greatly lengthening the span of life, and increasing the number of survivors in the population. His Majesty is heading a campaign to interfere with the processes of Nature by eradicating cancer.

There are 17,000,000 people in United States and 1,054,321 in Canada, for whom the State has no useful need—whom it is feeding, clothing and sheltering in idleness. And they are breeding sixty per cent faster than the self-supporting population.

Death-control makes birth-control necessary.

Either that, or we'll have to plan a new state to fit the facts of life.

Easter Vacation For The Child

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

This week will probably be a week of Easter vacation for most of the school children. I would suggest that mothers take advantage of the holiday season and check over the child's health. This is a splendid time for taking the child to the dentist in order to have the teeth examined and have any small cavities filled before they are large enough to cause toothaches. This dental care will help the child to have a good set of teeth later.

Dr. F. McCoy

It is also a good time to have the eyes examined if there is any question as to whether the child needs glasses. A good optometrist will find out whether or not the eyes need correcting. Many of the eye troubles of childhood can be outgrown or stopped from growing worse if the child's eyes are cared for in time.

Children who have flat feet should be fitted with the correct shoes for helping the arches to grow stronger. The child should also begin to take the special exercises every morning and night which will help the feet to improve.

If the child has ringworm, scabies, fungi, or some infection which he has picked up at school, this is an excellent time for starting treatment to clear it up.

Children who are round shouldered may begin on some easy exercises for correcting the spine before the curvature becomes more pronounced. If you do not know of some good exercises to use send a three cent stamp and a large self-addressed envelope for my article called "How Spinal Weakness Affects Your Health."

This Easter vacation is a chance to let the children get a good dose of sunshine and fresh air. When the weather permits, encourage them to go outdoors. After being cooped up in school they need the building exercise of outside play.

It is a good plan to arrange a little extra sleeping time during this week. Nothing rebuilds the body like sleep. Either let the child sleep as long as he wishes in the morning, or put him to bed a little earlier at night, or allow a short rest time after lunch.

Also be sure that the child has a good toothbrush. Encourage the use of it often and kept clean. When buying the new Easter clothes, include a good new toothbrush.

The diet during this vacation time should be kept plain and wholesome.

If you will follow these simple directions I am sure that the child will return to school stronger and more able to accomplish his work the rest of the school year.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—Mrs. Alma K. inquires: "What is the accepted treatment when the patient has an ankylosis of a joint, due to an increase in fibrous tissue?"

ANSWER—The main part of the treatment of fibrous ankylosis of a joint is to improve the local circulation. This may be accomplished by using a heat treatment, using hot applications, or by the use of the diathermy. I also recommend massage which should be given by stroking and kneading, however, the massage must be omitted if it seems to cause any soreness. The treatment used must be given with the needs of the individual case in mind.

QUESTION—Mrs. Elaine S. asks: "What is meant by scleroderma? Is there any treatment that will give good results?"

ANSWER—The word scleroderma comes from the Greek and means hard skin. In this disease, patches of skin become thickened, hard and rigid because of the fact that the tough connective tissue is increased. The cause is not known. The fibrous tissue ordinarily present undergoes an over-growth, with the result that the fat layers are gradually replaced by fibrous tissue. Usually the area affected is restricted to one part although the entire body may be involved. Most doctors admit that medicinal remedies fail to produce good results and the treatment recommended consists of massage and various forms of hydrotherapy or water treatment.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

On April 17 the handling of anything will require that strict attention is paid to whatever you are doing, if breakage or accidents are to be avoided. Allowing yourself to indulge in absent-mindedness, or attempting to do more than one thing at the same time, is likely to prove expensive. The discussing of irrelative subjects, when on a business call, should be kept clear of.

It will be a mistake to try to combine business with pleasure, on this date.

Married and engaged couples, as well as those love sick, may find frivolous remarks or puns, made during a serious discussion, likely to react unfavorably.

If a woman and April 17 is your birthday, you probably have a great deal of initiativeness, as well as ability to put over whatever you plan. Ambitious, you should be able to reach the goal of your greatest desire. Domestically inclined, house-keeping should present a simple problem, if you systematize your work.

The child born on April 17 is likely, when it passes through fiddlescence, to develop a hobby, which if encouraged, may influence its future career advantageously.

If a man and April 17 is your natal day, you have the ability to influence both men and women. You can develop your personal magnetism to the point it will attract a great deal of affectionate regard from all with whom you are thrown into close association.

Married and engaged couples, as well as those love sick, may find frivolous remarks or puns, made during a serious discussion, likely to react unfavorably.

If a woman and April 17 is your birthday, you probably have a great deal of initiativeness, as well as ability to put over whatever you plan. Ambitious, you should be able to reach the goal of your greatest desire. Domestically inclined, house-keeping should present a simple problem, if you systematize your work.

The child born on April 17 is likely, when it passes through fiddlescence, to develop a hobby, which if encouraged, may influence its future career advantageously.

If a man and April 17 is your natal day, you have the ability to influence both men and women. You can develop your personal magnetism to the point it will attract a great deal of affectionate regard from all with whom you are thrown into close association.

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1892 the Assembly of New Brunswick passed an act abolishing the legislative council which had been in existence from the foundation of the colony in 1784. A year later Prince Edward Island determined to have only one chamber, which left only Nova Scotia and Quebec with two houses.

It was not for lack of public sentiment against the council that Nova Scotia was burdened, for Mr. W. S. Fielding essayed its abolition early in the 90's, without success, the council declining to abolish itself. Finally in 1926, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, then provincial premier but now Minister of Finance of Canada, introduced a bill to abolish the council. It was rejected by the upper house like other bills before, and Mr. Rhodes appealed to the courts, the Privy Council finally deciding that he could appoint enough additional councillors pledged to abolition to carry the execution bill. This was done and the Legislative Council of Nova Scotia was abolished May 31, 1928.

Manitoba started with a legislative council but abolished it in 1876. Ontario started off without a council, as did Alberta and Saskatchewan, while in British Columbia confederation spelled the doom of the council which was converted into an assembly as one of the conditions of union with Canada.

One peculiar consequence has followed the abolition of the New Brunswick council. The records contain the dates of two sets of legislatures, the first from 1867 to 1892 and the latter from 1892, so that there are two first legislatures and so on down to the 7th. It is confusing to those who do not know the reason and one wonders why the legislators at Fredericton do not remove the confusion in some way.

FUR BUYERS PROTEST

Editor Bulletin: I understand an amendment to the Alberta Game Act has been passed by the present council in chamber of this legislature this week where all fur travellers' licenses are to be cancelled in the near future.

As I am one of these hundreds of travellers in Alberta who buys furs by means of a travelling license with the investment of a car to do so, and I understand there are others who have trucks and cars also for the sole purpose of means of transportation in our daily travels to buy fur in outlying districts for the short season that we have. I would like the present government to state under what conditions they see fit to deprive hundreds of travellers in Alberta that depend for their livelihood by the means of buying fur during the season? I was under the impression that a government is elected to better conditions for the masses; now the government by enacting an act of this kind, which will take our livelihood away in these hard times, must be satisfying the few at the expense of the many.

It does not seem reasonable that a fair body of men elected by the people, for the people, to enact an act to deprive hundreds of families in Alberta from their livelihood, as most of these have made a life study of their business, and with their investment of cars and trucks there is no hope for them when this act becomes enforced. Most of them will have to go on relief as soon as their resources are used up; most of them have very little left over after this last season.

I do not want to take up more space than I have to but would like the legislature committee that passed the above act to give a satisfactory reply why hundreds of families should be cut off their livelihood by buying furs in the outlying districts. I would also like to ask the present government what will they do when most of these families have no means of maintaining themselves after this act becomes enforced, will the government give them relief when the time comes?

I myself have travelled as far as seventy-five miles from a railway point with team and dog team to buy from small country points and also from trappers direct, where otherwise they would have no means of selling their fur without a long and tiring coming and going to sell the small amount of fur they gather from time to time. It would be impossible for them if they had to waste time and expense in selling them.

Surely there must be something radically wrong when a body of men elected by the people should have nothing else to do but to enact an act that will deprive hundreds of families from their livelihood and trade.

The fur buyers have been buying fur before this present government took office, and there will be fur buyers buying furs after this government is defeated.

SPRINGS FROM FRUSTRATION

Editor Bulletin: In order to analyse the rising wave of Social Credit hysteria, the psychology of this blind surge for "some kind of a solution" must be understood. A sense of frustration and exasperation, together with a lack of economic knowledge has driven these people towards the pseudo-economic theory of Social Credit. It is an urge for some immediate social betterment, something to ease the present mean lot of the people concerned, regardless, apparently, of the practicality of the proposed methods to bring the new era into effect.

The Social Credit theory with its dangling rewards of dividends and other delightful promises is an alluring prospect. The maze of contradictions involved in the proposition are brushed aside. Something must be done. The old political parties, they claim, have proved their ineptitude. The only new idea with some kind of hope is Social Credit. What it exactly means has never been clarified and doesn't greatly matter, evidently.

The economics of the present situation is defined as a financial conspiracy. Certain mammonites have cornered the cash and in order to let the credit flow, money must be managed. By the mere manipulation of currency and credit with dividends for all and lay presto, the new epoch of plenty is ushered in. The owners and producers whose goods are to be handed over for "social credit"

The baby pulled brother's hair until he yelled from the pain of it. The mother soothed the weeping boy.

"Of course, she doesn't know how badly it hurts." Then she left the room.

She hurried back presently on hearing frantic squalling from baby.

"What in the world is the matter with her?" she questioned anxiously.

"Nothin' 'tall," brother replied contentedly. "Only now she knows."

"How kind of you," said the girl, "to bring me those lovely flowers. They are so beautiful and fresh. I believe there is some dew on them yet."

"Yes," stammered the young man, quite taken aback, "but I am going to pay it off tomorrow."

A little boy who went to school for the first time had returned home and his father inquired how he liked it.

"It's all right but they ask too many questions," said the lad. "First they asked me where you were born and I told them. Then they asked me where mother was born and I told them. And when they asked me where I was born I had to tell a lie."

"Why?" asked his father.

"I didn't want to say I was born in the Women's Hospital and have them think I was a sissy so I told them it was in Maple Leaf Gardens."

INFLATION AHEAD!

What to Do About It

A Vital Daily Series for Business Men and Women. Start it Today.

By W. M. KIPLINGER, Business Writer
—and Frederick Shelton, Economist—

Every man and woman in business, every property owner, will be interested in this series appearing in the Edmonton Bulletin.

"What is inflation? What will it mean to me?" These are questions on everyone's lips.

Crisply written, friendly and intimate in manner, these letters by Mr. Kiplinger, trained Washington observer, chart the course of a nation. And events and trends of United States are echoed in Canada.—EDITOR.

Even naturally, without political aid, inflation follows deflation. It has always been so, and there is no reason to assume that it will not still be so. Normal workings of business recovery after depressions have always produced inflation in some degree. Credit expansion has been the normal manifestation of business upswing. Natural forces tend to counteract deflation and to bring on inflation. Government policies hasten or retard the process but do not prevent it.

But now we have deliberate government intentions to inflate.

The old gold standard was abandoned not as a matter of absolute necessity, but more or less deliberately, as a matter of policy. This indicated a government intention to prepare for inflation.

Devaluation. The gold content of the dollar was cut 41 per cent. An ounce of gold worth $20.67 under the old standard became worth $35. Stocks of gold belonging to government or federal reserve banks revalued at $4,322,000,000 on the old basis were given a value of $7,131,000,000.

"Gold profit" of $2,800,000,000 was created. This can be used to "stabilize,"—either to inflate or to control inflation.

Gold clause decision of Supreme Court is not considered in detail. The assumption is that in effect all monetary and credit policies of the government will not be given any new general direction as a result of the Supreme Court's decision. To explain at this stage all the intricate reasons for this assumption would only confuse.

SILVER REVALUED

Silver was revalued. Largely because of our government's program the price of silver rose from 26c an ounce in the spring of 1933 to a present price of around 54c—more than 100 per cent rise.

One fourth of the monetary reserves must be silver. Congress laid down this policy, and required the government to buy silver until this ratio is reached, or until silver rises to $1.29 an ounce.

Domestic silver producers were paid 64½c an ounce—this by executive order under discretionary legislation.

Thus the government made some more profit out of silver, perhaps over $100,000,000 directly through seigniorage.

Actually there has not been much inflation via silver, and probably there will be little. Silver is one of the minor factors in the whole inflation program.

Commodity prices must be raised: Roosevelt declared this publicly and privately, and the execution of his policies put prices up. Under the Thomas inflation amendment the President was given power to inflate, and everyone knew this. So when he said that prices must go up, and acted accordingly, people assumed that prices would go up, and they did.

RISING PRICES

Emphasis on rising prices has been tempered—temporarily. Administration emphasis just now is on price balance, equilibrium. Nevertheless the general objective is still to get prices higher.

Higher farm prices especially were sought. Those have risen, and are tending to rise further. Crop reduction under the AAA, plus an unprecedented drought in 1934, aided the rise.

Government loans on farms, homes, by many sorts of business and financial institutions—have become mortgagors on homes, and is preparing to loan more.

Farm Credit Administration has loaned over $2,000,000,000.

Reconstruction Finance Corporation has outstanding loans of over $2,000,000,000 to banks, insurance companies, railroads, building and loans, mortgage companies and others.

The inference in these loans, the future meaning of them: They were made on the assumption that prices would rise. If prices were not to rise, many of the loans would go sour and the government would be a heavy loser. Government has power to raise prices through its power to inflate. It is safe to assume that government will do so, in order to protect or salvage its investments.

DEFICIT BUDGET FINANCING

Loans, relief, public works, etc., ran up huge deficits, with more to follow in the next couple of years. Public debt was 16 billions in 1930, is now 29 billions, will be 32 4 billions by end of fiscal year 1936 (June, 1936).

Contingent public debt should be added, more billions for billions, bonds of HOLC and FFMC are fully guaranteed by the government.

Government spending, in effect, as a policy to sustain consumer purchasing power: This has influence beyond mere money supplied. It starts a wave of popular expectations, wave will be hard to stop.

Unbalanced budgets do not necessarily produce inflation, but the quantity of selling government bonds, and the methods of doing this fit into the bank credit expansion program.

How bank credit has been expanded, prepared for inflation:

Bank deposits. Net demand deposits rose from $13,000,000,000 in April, 1933, to $19,000,000,000 now. Another billion means a puffing up the total of bank deposits was by exchange of government bonds for bookkeeping credits in federal government's deposit account in banks. At various times the treasury has had a total cash balance in banks of over $1,500,000,000 — adding this much to total bank deposits. These credits are paid out to meet government expenses, and go back into banks as demand deposits.

BANKS FURNISHED CAPITAL

Bank deposit insurance by FDIC created in 1933, put an underpinning beneath 14,000 banks, insured their deposits against loss. Result less. This helped to increase bank deposits, helped to put banks in position to lend, helped to pave way for credit expansion later.

Banks are being furnished government capital. RFC has already invested more than $1,000,000,000 in preferred stock of banks. This is a further preparatory step toward credit expansion or inflation, putting banks in safer position to expand credit.

Excess reserves of banks reserves beyond amounts required by law, have been built to 2 billions by gold imports, return of currency from circulation, and reflect Treasury policies. In actual lending operations these can be expanded approximately 10 times, to make 20 billions of credit, loans, equivalent of money.

Thus the reservoir of bank credit has been built high and wide.

WHAT HAS BEEN

Consider what has been done to protect government bonds, meaning and how this fits into all the preparations for inflation.

Federal reserve system was "taken over" by the government as one of the first steps. Theoretically, formally, legally, the Federal Reserve banks are independent of the government. They are owned by the 6400 member banks of the system and were originally intended to be purely business financing institutions. Actually they are and always have been the key to interest rate, government financing and the money market. That now is being changed: the practice has already changed.

Appointment of Marriner, Eccles as Reserve Board governor gave control to Roosevelt through Eccles' genius, through Eccles, through Reserve Board, through governors of various banks who agreed to "go along." The arrangement is now in process of being legalized by bank banking legislation.

Actually, practically, the Reserve banks will uphold the government's fiscal program to the end. Here's what the Reserve banks may be expected to do: Stand by to support the government bond market by open market purchases of government bonds, or otherwise. Work toward lower interest rates. Make future refundings of public debt (potentially highly inflationary). Pump deposits into commercial banks through open market operations whenever these deposits are needed.

Thus public debt can be run still higher by the government without precipitating a crisis in government credit.

FURTHER CONTROL

Still further government control of bank credit is planned.

New legislation will legalize the de facto government control of the Reserve system in certain respects.

Reserve banks may be authorized to rediscount long term paper. This would be tremendously significant. It would tend to make a stronger market for capital issues, much needed to finance durable goods industries for capital issues. Banks are now lagging the market, would remove the principal reason for the extreme "liquidity complex" of commercial banks, so they could get cash on their long term loans—from Federal reserve banks. Now Reserve banks may rediscount only notes secured by government securities or short term liquid paper.

Cash payment of the veterans' bonus. This is not a Roosevelt administration policy, but it dovetails with the government's policy of creating mass purchasing power. The bonus payments will stimulate business. True, the bonus payments in 1931 did not make much of an impression on business, because at that time we were in a deflationary trend. Now the trend is up, and are hardly given a second thought. Everything will be smoothed over by bookkeeping magic.

An ordinary knowledge of economics and finance tells us all that is needed to prove the fallacy in the Social Credit theory. The A plus B proposition is a farce. The rest of the rigmarole is even more confusing. In practice, the theory will mean nothing but chaos. It only means crushing taxation or some other form of dictatorship by Aberhart and his hand-picked satellites.

In the final analysis, Social Credit is but a name for an incoherent drive for some immediate social end by people who are badly muddled in their estimate of present conditions. The temper of the movement is very similar to the first manifestations of fascism. Fascist economies arose from frustration and resentment fed by demagogy. Yet, in the end, the good sense of the people of Alberta will assert itself.

WON'T SCARE EASILY

Editor Bulletin: Re T. J. Shepherd's letter in your issue of the 6th inst.

His reference to the "battle" of "Armageddon" is peculiar and needs explanation.

In a few peregrinations through various experiences and writings, one gleans helpful information upon which to pursue a study of the "Order of Things."

Recently I came across an old article of mine on this subject, that was published a decade ago, which in due course I will submit to you and respectfully request publication.

Now, the State of Society today is bewildered beyond measure by doctrines, beliefs and diver's governments—useless and otherwise. Thus the old "scare theology" has no longer any "scare" for people and is simply foolishness to those who have come to a knowledge of the "Passing of things."

Of recent years there have come to the front many societies, who, whatever else they have forgotten their own particular scare, claiming for it, the highest authority. Their bugbear of "Armageddon" scare is a direct example, which I will endeavor to show being totally foreign to the word where in it is suggested to be.

Just then, I would, or anyone think otherwise, the writer stands ready to give a correct parallel definition of the meaning of the direct contextual references thereto and submit same to the highest scholarly authority and educational test.

Awaiting a reply,

F. J. SPEED.

SEEMS REMARKABLE

Editor Bulletin: The ex-premier of Alberta and his adherents have constantly made the statement that the C.C.F. is a "child born of the U.F.A." and that the United Farmers' movement is substantial quantity of bonus cash would give a marked fillip to business.

INFLATION-MINDED CONGRESS

There is no unified majority in Congress for excessive inflation as a matter of public policy. But there are blocs working for inflation—and that of inflationary nature—for cashing the bonus, for still greater spending, for "Armageddon" scare, for greenbacks to relieve special classes of citizens (or voters), for inflationist basing "reform" policies, for silver monetization, for price boosting by law, for other schemes to raise prices.

Add together the force of all these blocs, and you get a Congress which leans in the direction of soft and easy money. Congress can be restrained on many of these issues, but not on all.

In this letter have been outlined the main political forces for inflation. They do not make inflation, but they make for inflation.

CITY CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN ON MAY 7

Householders Requested to Clean Up Their Premises

The city of Edmonton's part in the annual clean-up campaign will be launched May 7 and will continue till May 30, it was announced Monday by City Engineer A. W. Haddow.

The spring clean-up drive will be opened with inspection by the health department of premises, particularly business properties. Two days later city workmen will rake rubbish from the lanes, and two days following this city teams will collect garbage piles.

BURN REFUSE

Householders are requested to clean up their premises before city teams start to clean the lanes. As much garbage as possible should be burned, and permission for this may be secured from the fire department, 'phone 24188.

The city engineer also asks that citizens give as much assistance to rubbish collectors as possible by bundling in bags garbage which can't be burned. This makes it easier for collectors to transport the waste.

WRAPPED IN PAPER

Kitchen waste should be burned where possible. If this is not feasible, it should be wrapped in paper and placed in cans which are equipped with a tight-fitting lid. This will prevent nuisance by flies and will also minimize the unpleasant odor, as well as preventing the spreading of garbage by dogs.

A city bylaw provides that a householder or tradesman must dispose of certain types of rubbish at their own expense. These include manure, trade waste, trees, shrubs and soda. The city will not accept this as clean-up material.

Tightening The Squeeze

—By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

The March, 1935, letter of the Bank of Montreal spells a definite goodby to any real business recovery until there has been a Dominion general election.

The letter first proceeds to explode the Ottawa government's claim to a substantial favorable balance of trade.

The bank says: The "favorable" trade balance (exclusive of gold) works out at $144,712,000 for the twelve months period.

The catch is in the words "exclusive of gold"—because all gold mined in Canada is bought by the government and sent out of the country to balance trade obligations. This gold amounted in value to over one hundred million dollars in the twelve months referred to by the bank; so, instead of having a favorable trade balance, we lost over one hundred million dollars in real gold for the doubtful privilege of reading some account books entries.

The really horrifying statement by the bank reads as follows:

"A downward trend in current loans continued in the January bank statement, the figure reaching the lowest point since February, 1917. On the other hand, domestic deposits showed a gain of $115,600,000 over a year ago, constituting a surplus of $893,000,000 over loans, compared with one of $711,000,000 on the same date of 1934. Security holdings by the banks have now reached $973,000,000, the highest point in the history of Canadian banking. Total quick assets have also attained a new high at $1,236,000,000."

The banks now hold, according to this letter, about one billion dollars in bonds, while loans to business have reached the lowest point since February, 1917. It is plain therefore that the deflation policy of tightening the squeeze is fulfilling its deadly work; and this accounts in direct measure for the fact that some two million people are being actually fed at public expense, and another two million people are in acute financial distress. All that we are paying the banks for all this amounts to about thirty millions dollars per year in net profits. In our wisdom we congratulate ourselves that we are not so foolish as the Hindus who live in the independent states of India and allow the Rajahs to take everything; but when the Hindu has given everything to the Rajah he is through until he gets the next crop, whereas we have public debt interest running against us while we are awake or sleeping, even during the hours of church services.

Suppose you believe that the social credit system is a dream and that everybody would go broke under it, which seems not at all improbable—will it not be merely a question of velocity as compared with our present system? The skids are under us now; and we are only arguing as to the several methods of greasing those same skids.

Non-constructive deflation will break everybody, and is breaking everybody now; any scheme of social credit however useless or destructive would merely be adopting a new version of our present policy of deflating everybody to the breaking point; tightening the squeeze until the tortured nation is likely to fracture its financial bonds in a destructive convulsion.

definitely affiliated with that organization.

The "Western Producer" is the official organ of the C.C.F. in Saskatchewan. At the present time, that paper has consistently upheld the "laissez-faire" policy of the U.F.A.

But in the March 28 issue of the "Producer" there appears a very concrete criticism of the Alberta government.

The ex-premier in an address in the legislature declaring Mr. McGeer's tactics made the statement that, "There should be no hasty action." Time can be gained by working in harmony, etc." To this statement, which sums up the philosophy of the U.F.A., the "Producer" intelligently replies, "That, we say with deference, is hardly founded. There must be action and quick, if not hasty, action. There has been enough talk during the past five years. It is now a matter of put up, or shut up."

The above quotation leaves little doubt as to the "Producers" attitude towards apparent lethargy and inaction in the Alberta legislature.

It seems rather remarkable that the U.F.A. speakers, who are at present vigorously campaigning for the next election, consistently explain their affiliation with the C.C.F., while the newspaper of the organization, in the federal, scathingly criticizes their policy of inaction.

ARMAND LA VERGNE

Editor Bulletin: Armand La Vergne died, March 5, at 85. A very robust man he was, until a few years ago when he met with a stupid accident (as he called it), then he had to use crutches. In the House of Commons, of which he was vice president, he often used a rolling chair. He was first elected in 1904, for a federal riding, at 26. He always represented Montmagny county in the federal or provincial house. He was a lawyer and died poor. He has been Liberal, Nationalist and Conservative.

La Vergne was a pleasant and witty orator and enjoyed replying to hecklers. A journalist of Toronto, in the "Mail and Empire," has judged him thus: "He was a man of no political conviction; nationalism and the French language."

A Montreal daily "La Devoir" has just published La Vergne's testament and here follows the last two lines: "I leave you leaving without holding hatred or spite against anyone, wishing to all, even to them who did not like me—and I am aware of their feelings—all the happiness to be had.

"I beg forgiveness from all those whom I have offended—I tried to make amends. I am only a mere race, let not our English compatriots forget their pact of honor with us. Let us all either be bi-lingual or American."

The testament is dated, January 17, 1934.

Possibly these few notes on La Vergne may be a happy diversion from Social Credit.

BLAMES THE CROWS

Editor Bulletin: I see by your paper there was a meeting at Camrose and the speakers gave the people an idea of how fast the wild birds were disappearing. There should be a stricter season on them.

If they would ask a farmer where the crows were going he would tell them down the crows' necks. The farmer sits on his plow in the spring and sees millions of duck eggs destroyed by the crows and there is nothing done about it. If the government would put a bounty on them, enough to encourage the boys and girls to hunt them, it would not be long until we would see a great many more ducks flying around in the fall.

Get busy folks and see what we do to get the government interested.

Water Wedding At "Y" Is Interesting But Not Very Romantic

Fadists with the yen to be different have sometimes insisted upon being married in the middle of a lake, or the depths of a swimming pool. But could they see the bedraggled effect of finery hailed from the water, after the ceremony it should certainly kill their enthusiasm. At least that is what the guests at the Y.W.C.A. tea party and swimming demonstration fell on Monday afternoon, having witnessed just such a wedding. To the music from Lohengrin, the bridal party paraded around the swimming pool led by the minister all in black and carrying his service book. The soloist in a picture hat, followed, then came the bride in lace, veil and orange blossoms; the train bearer, the bridesmaids, in pastel frocks with armsful of daffodils, the maid of honor, the flower girl, ring bearer, bridegroom and best man. They swam to the deep end to tread water throughout the ceremony . . . a large inflated life saver was the wedding ring, and the ceremony concluded with the singing of "Oh Promise Me" by Mrs. E. Foreman.

The spectators enjoyed the ceremony almost as much as the party, for all are members of the morning swimming club. They spoke their lines with zest and did not seem to mind dragging lace over their gayly colored bathing suits. Mrs. George F. Watcher was the preacher, Mrs. F. Horton, the bride, Mrs. A. J. D. McMann, the bridegroom, Mrs. George A. Macdonald, the maid of honor, Mrs. A. Frieck, flower girl, Mrs. A. E. Wight, Mrs. Bower and Miss Marion Kay, bridesmaids, Mrs. J. J. Blake, the ring bearer, Mrs. G. M. Shaw, best man and Mrs. Foreman, the soloist. Mrs. D. McKinna directed the ceremony.

The whole demonstration, including an exhibition of various strokes in swimming, fancy diving, and figure floating was not only spectacular, for the gayly colored suits of the swimmers in the green-gray water—dappled with sunlight and reflecting the color of blooming flowers high on the window sills—made a lovely picture, but showed thorough training. Miss Wilcock, swimming instructor, was in charge of the demonstration.

DUCK HUNT CLEVER

Another clever feature was the duck hunt, with Miss Roberta O'Hara, wearing a duck's head cap, as the duck, and Miss Tillie Hudson, the hunter. The duck appeared about, happily, until along came the hunter in waders and leather jacket . . . however after firing shots he got his bird, and not having his dog along, jumped in after the duck. Both Miss O'Hara and Miss Hudson are members of the Water Bustle Club.

Races, fancy swimming, tandem swimming, and exhibition swimming added their interest to the program. The diving, with a demonstration of every kind of plunge, was beautifully done, including the diving, the club members lined up on the board, and climbed the two diving towers, going in together at the signal. The finale was a water pyramid, a beautiful exhibition perfectly executed.

Those taking part included, with members of the morning club, the Water Bustles and the afternoon sports hour group: Miss Margaret Martin, Miss Betty Dick, Miss Kathleen Rondeau, Miss Gwen Edwards, Miss Catherine O'Hara and Miss Tillie Hudson, Alice Stewart-Irvine, Dorothy Edwards, Irene Fairley, Maya Mogenson, Marjorie Bryan, Peggy Bryan, Jean Riley, Doris Lancaster, Lenore Moir, Donald Dick.

Tea was served from the tea table decorated with carved ships . . . and refreshments were contained in a great blue painted sailing ship, topped by sails unfurled.

"ASK BARRETT" IS PRESENTED IN SCHOOL HALL

Pleasant laughter and light entertainment are, perhaps, the keynote of every audience as a comedy. If such be true, then the large number of friends gone to the Separate School Hall, Saturday evening found that original comedy highly satisfactory. In the presentation of the play, written by Bernard P. MacDonald, father of MacDonald, the dramatic talent and the initial performance of "The Strolling Players", a new amateur theatrical organization headed by the community playhouse idea. Each member is a part of the organization, sharing equally in responsibility and management. With the entertaining "Ask Barrett" the group, with a number of players already well known in amateur dramatics in the city included, and others making their first public appearance, will commence a series of performances in smaller points near Edmonton. This will perhaps be the beginning of a travelling provincial organization.

Lightly humorous, and based on the many situations that arise when the young kinsman of a prominent old but financially famed family undertakes, incognito, the post of butler in his own former manor house, now occupied by a new and riche family, of the new nobility. The situation is further complicated by the fact that the butler-hero of the story is an actor for the moment "at liberty", in love with the daughter of his master, who has been masquerading under an assumed name in a London play, and is also the father of a clever young actress who comes to visit at the manor and falls in love with one of her own kinsmen.

The network of complicated situations gradually untangles, after much fun on the part of everyone both off and on the stage, and including some of the pet and humorous digs at the attempts to foster art and music, and folklore, on the part of those who know little about them.

Everything ends happily ever after, and throughout many amusing situations are created through the dexterity and vivacity of the "Admirable Crichton" type of servant.

Farnham Howarth, who has appeared to advantage in other amateur productions, handled this role with considerable ease. There was a noticeable lack of "starring" in the play, honors being divided generously among practically all members of the cast. Eileen McPeake, a newcomer, carried convincingly the dignified remnants of the old family, and Richard MacDonald, as her nephew, was his usual unusual self.

Inez MacDonald stole the spotlight during most of her appearances on the stage, as the simple and trusting Lady Cuddlewick, and Gerald Nicholls was excellent as the tactful and string-pulling Elvira, her step-daughter.

Joan Mortimer was all charm and vivacity, as her role required, and Sidney Lancaster was particularly fine as Sir Hector Cuddlewick, the new rich would-be art and music critic. Arthur Combe, Glen Millard, Wm. G. White, Ellen Bryson took smaller roles excellently.

The settings were particularly interesting and make-up, with the master touch of Mr. and Mrs. Richard MacDonald, was above reproach. Mr. T. Satchwell is business manager, and Edna May Howarth was in charge of properties.

Superintendent and Mrs. R. L. Cadiz were "at home" to a number of guests at tea on Sunday, at their house at the Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks.

To Greet The Eastertide

Gray knobby wool with blue fox are the materials that make this distinguished suit. The waist is of gray satin with a cascade circular neckpiece.

NEW YORK.—The suit you wear on Easter Sunday can be varied to look like quite a different outfit when you step out on Easter Monday. As a matter of fact, this is the spring to take one suit as a nucleus and then build an entire wardrobe around it.

Pick a plain black, navy blue or cobblestone gray tailleur that has an extra checked skirt to go with it. Or, if you like, get a black and white checked suit and an extra black skirt. Then assemble your accessories. They, after all, are the items that make one ensemble do the work of six.

Change Color Combination

On days when you want to look neat as a pin and slightly sophisticated, wear your black jacket with its matching skirt, yellow hat, black shoes and bag, yellow taffeta Ascot and chamois gloves. For more formal occasions, switch to a black hat, trimmed with band and bow of white grosgrain or taffeta, white Ascot and gloves, black shoes and bag.

Save the checked skirt for those hours when you feel that spring fever is about to catch up with you. It, worn with plain coat and rather daring accessories, is sure to lift your spirits out of the doldrums.

The fur-trimmed suit in the sketch is fashioned from gray woolen in a knobby weave and includes a handsome blouse of gray satin with a circular piece that falls about the neckline in cascade effect. Worn with blue accessories to match the tone of the blue fox collar, this model is sure to take on fashion parade.

Dieticians Of Alberta Organize

To form a provincial organization about 40 dieticians and Home Economists met Saturday afternoon in the coffee room of the T. Eaton Company's store, Calgary, with representatives present from Edmonton, Lethbridge, Lacombe, Okotoks as well as Calgary.

Miss Mabel Patrick of Edmonton was appointed acting president of the new association, and Miss R. Gillespie of Calgary the acting secretary. These officers to appoint their own executive. They will draft a constitution for the organization, to be presented at a meeting in Edmonton next fall.

The provincial organization will, it is hoped, correspond to the proposed new Canadian Association which it is now planned to found at Ottawa on April 27 at the joint meeting of the Ontario and Quebec dietetic associations. Miss M. McLeay of Calgary and Miss Margaret Malone of Edmonton were asked to represent the Alberta association at the Ottawa meeting. It is understood a representative from the British Columbia association will also attend.

Tea was served at the conclusion of the organization. From out of town were Miss Patrick, Miss Malone, Miss Hedrick, Miss Reid, Miss McCaig, Mrs. H. Hamilton and Miss McIntyre, Edmonton; Miss McKinnon and Miss Henry, Lethbridge; Miss Campbell, Lacombe and Miss Thompson of Okotoks and others.

Purpose of the new organization is to provide a link between all nutritionists, whether engaged in commercial, dietetic, or teaching capacities.

home of the regent, Mrs. M. A. Holloway, recently, prior to Mrs. Hornsby's departure to reside in Vancouver. Lovely spring bloom made the drawing room and the tea room very gay, and Mrs. Percy Cooper assisted during the tea hour. In appreciation of her service in the chapter throughout several years, Mrs. Holloway presented a gift to Mrs. Hornsby from the members, expressing their regret that she must cease association with the chapter. Mrs. Hornsby for years has been devoted to all branches of their interest and especially has her service for the blind been invaluable. . .

EVERY day three small tots trudge off to school together, writes Peggy Bryan, and the thought of their safety is lifted over the ruts in the road, and through the deep drifts of snow in winter-time, but the baby of the family who is lifted over the ruts in the road, and through the deep drifts of snow in winter-time, but the baby who is left behind with the all important lunch pail. The big pail contains lunches for three so it is really quite a trust for a little chap, whose older sisters might be expected to be the guardians. Or perhaps chivalry isn't quite dead! But alas, one morning recently Sonny was in such a hurry that he grabbed the pail and tore out the door to meet his friends waiting to walk to school with him. They trudged along the three miles, as usual, and at noon proudly off the lid of the all important lunch pail with the kind of appetite three children might be expected to have, wheeled with that walk. But alas for Sonny, it was the wrong pail, and measured 10 pounds of lard, full to the top and very white and shiny.

Mrs. R. G. Riddell and Mrs. J. F. Lymburn entertained the wives of the members of the legislative assembly at luncheon at Highcliff on Monday. Covers were laid for about thirty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cameron entertained at the tea hour on Sunday at their Garneau home.

Mrs. Alfred Chard left on Tuesday for Toronto to visit her son Frank Chard who is attending Upper Canada College. In Ottawa she will be the guest of her daughter Mrs. Grindley and Dr. T. W. Grindley.

For the final meeting of the 1934-35 year, the 33 Club held a dinner in the Corona. Those present were Miss Joan Perry, Mrs. Alice Harris, Miss Mary Wilson, Miss Kay Kaufman, Miss Phyllis Gravelle, Miss Eva Portfors, Miss Helen Ramsay, Miss Charlotte Burrows, Miss Dora Micallef, Miss Bert Truscott, Miss Erina Wilson, Miss Joy Tonstad and Miss Winifred Gravelle.

SKY PASTURES
Judy Van Der Veer

The little colt has died today
I saw his frightened eyes grow wide
As if he knew that he must leave
The shelter of his mother's side.

And when his eyes had dulled
at last,
I knew that he had gone so far
That he could chase the running clouds,
And crop the grasses on a star.

The old mare nosed him anxiously,
She nickered shrill, she nickered high,
With flying hoofs and windblown mane
He crossed the pastures of the sky.

When the wind is in the south
And meadow grass is tall and sweet,
I shall think of starry pastures
Trodden by his lonely feet.

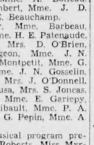
Easter Tea Is Held By St. Joachim's L.A.

The home of Mme. C. E. Barry was the lovely setting for the successful tea given Sunday in aid of St. Joachim's bazaar.

The rooms were gaily decorated with daffodils and the table carried the Easter-tide colors with its centerpiece of mauve tapers, mauve tulips and daffodils.



Assisted by Mme. D. LaBissonniere, president of the Dames de St. Joachim, Mme. Barry was hostess to 200 guests. Mme. P. H. Dewe was in charge of the ten-table arrangements.

Pouring tea were Mrs. J. Des. Mrs. J. Lemaire, Mrs. J. J. Duggan, Mme. P. Jenvrin, Mrs. J. E. Brodeur, Mrs. A. Clermont, Mrs. B. R. Mooney, Mrs. E. Underwood, Mme. L. A. Giroux, Mme. J. L. Cote, Mme. E. Boissonneault, Mme. P. E. Poirier, Mme. A. Boileau, Mme. J. E. Lambert, Mme. J. D. Noel, Mme. J. E. Beauchamp.

Mme. Adelard Barbeau, Mme. Gouin, Mme. H. E. Patenaude, Mrs. Munshaw, Mrs. D. O'Brien, Mme. F. Dame, Mrs. J. O'Donnell, Mrs. K. M. Prauss, Mrs. S. Joncas, Mrs. McGinnis, Mme. E. Gariepy, Mme. G. A. Thibault, Mme. P. A. Miquelon, Mme. G. Pepin, Mme. A. Rocque served.

Members of the Saskatoon Welders Hockey Club and many well known supporters of the winter pastime in Edmonton hockey circles feted the club manager, Ivor Williams with a gay surprise birthday party Saturday evening.

It was a fitting conclusion to the club's successful campaign during the winter months. The club has had many such pleasing social evenings.

The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. R. Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. I. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. G. McLeod, Mrs. F. Johnson, Misses M. Tait, L. Shulz, N. Smith, K. Mooney, C. Coulson, A. Cruse, M. Lattie, V. Lindsay, E. Johnson, M. McCreevey, J. Doherty, M. Barbers, G. McLean; Messrs. T. Brandl, A. Camperon, D. Hesse, H. Horne, D. Hill, R. Mogan, M. Mavesty, C. Williams, R. McPeak, E. Robertson, E. Stapleton, P. Tougas, A. Sutherland, C. Foure, T. Graham and S. Cook.

Concluding a series of delightful bridge games held throughout the season at various homes, bridge club entertained at dinner in the Corona hotel on Monday evening. Spring flowers were arranged on the tables and a charming souvenir was presented to each guest present. Mrs. Arthur McRae is president of the club and other members include Mr. McRae, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bower, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Dalphin, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Creighton, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Deitler.

Members of the Y.W.C.A. board are holding a swimming party in the "Y" pool on Thursday morning.

ACID IS YOUR ENEMY

Get rid of it before IT CAN HARM YOU!

INDIFFERENCE to over-acidity of the stomach can only lead to trouble and suffering. Do not neglect such symptoms as frequent heartburn, acid eructations, gas, "sour" stomach, acid indigestion, etc., for these signify that too much acid is present in the stomach. For immediate relief take Bisurated Magnesia. This preparation, though harmless to either child or adult, neutralizes and absorbs the excess acid.

Perse vering Brushing Burnishes Tala's Hair

TALA BIRELL

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"

That lovely Viennese star, Tala Birell, who speaks German, Polish, French and English with equal ease, has very beautiful hair. Tala is justly proud of her honey-gold tresses, and she never fails to give 'em brushing treatments every day, whether she's on location or not. Tala believes that it is this constant brushing that gives her hair its gleaming, polished appearance.

I, personally, believe, like Tala, that every woman should give her hair a good, brisk brush each day, wave or no wave, for a brush, when properly used, is one of the greatest of hair beautifiers. It removes all dirt, foreign particles, and bits of dried cuticle from the hair and scalp. It stimulates the circulation in the scalp, thus bringing nourishment to the hair follicles. It distributes the natural oil evenly over the head, and helps to keep the oil glands normal in their functioning. It also polishes the hair, making it glossy and lustrous.

When administering brushing treatments, the hair should never be brushed flat over the scalp. This method is incorrect, and does not greatly benefit the hair. To be properly brushed, the hair should first be brushed upward and outward all along the hairline, as it is here that most dust and grime tend to accumulate. Then the hair should be separated into small strands, and each strand brushed individually. After this, the hair over the entire head should be brushed briskly with an upward and outward stroke.

The sort of brush that is used for brushing treatments is really an important factor, for none but the right sort should ever be employed. The bristles should not be too sharp or stiff, for if they are, they may scratch and irritate the scalp. Again, however, the bristles should not be too soft, else they may prove totally ineffective, and fail to benefit the hair and scalp. The best type of hair-brush is the kind with long, flexible, blunt-tipped bristles. Procure such a brush, if you value your locks, use it properly, and give your hair treatments with it each and every day. If you do this, you'll find that in time it will transform your hair into a glossy, lustrous crowning glory.

What's What

Question—Recently a newcomer to the city, I find manners a little different — not always better than old-fashioned country ways. For instance, what do you think of young men that mock older men, who, while "all there," have developed little peculiarities. In the country we wouldn't seem to notice these things. DAN (Age 22).

Answer—Your last statement is a tribute to country manners. It is true that some young men, who would not think of making a jest of the physical suffering of others, have no qualms about deriding mental oddities. Yet, if anything, this sort of mockery is more inhumane than the other. A man with good vision does not laugh at a blind man; instead he gives him every possible help. The same is true regarding deaf mutes, cripples and chronic invalids. It is the right instinct of superior physical strength of any sort to assist weakness. Why then gibe at mere eccentricities, or worse still, laugh at those afflicted with delusions?

A psychiatrist might answer that the intellectual superiority in such cases is doubtful. Certainly good sense and good taste alike should prevent any reasonable being from laughing at the victim of what is euphemistically known as "nervous trouble."

Mrs. Z. Z.—It would be neither good sense nor good taste to embroider your first husband's initial on new linens for your second hope chest. Use the initial of your future husband's surname.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

As Duncy led the small giraffe, wee Dotty said, "'Twould make us laugh, if you would ride upon the beast. Let's see you try it once."

"Oh, no," said Duncy. "It's too small. It really wouldn't work, at all. You're always thinking up, for me, some very crazy stunts.

"However, I will do a trick that you'll agree is pretty slick. I'll let stead." This made the owner smile. Said he, "Oh, you'll be safe and sound.

"My pets, you see, are very tame, and they'll all be real glad you came. The little bear will frolic. You can chase him 'round and 'round."

the small giraffe ride me. At least, that's something new."

Across his shoulders he then spread the animal, and Scouty said, "I didn't think that you could do it. Three loud cheers for you!"

The owner soon cried, "Follow me. There still are lots of things to see. We have a tiny camel and a midget polar bear.

"You'd like to play with them, no doubt. All right, come on! We'll let them out. Now, don't rush up too quickly, or you'll give them both a scare."

"Gee, does the bear bite?" Goldy said. "If so, I'll stay right here, instead."

true. The bear showed them that he could do a lot of crazy tumbling stunts. He made the whole bunch roar.

Then, when he settled down to rest, wee Windy cried, "You do the best tricks I have ever seen. Oh, please perform a little more."

"Aw, let him rest," said Coppy. "I have found a hippo right nearby. Come on, I'll take you to his cage. He's fat as he can be.

"I'll coax the beast till he comes out and then we'll watch him waddle 'bout. The sight will be as funny, lad, as any we will see."

(Coppy entertains the rest in the next story.)

What New York Is Wearing

By Helen Williams

3029

A particularly welcome model at this season of the year, is the attractive cotton print home frock. It may be worn for porch and marketing as well. It's easily slipped into and perfect for the mature figure, because of the slenderizing wrapped closure. The easy to sew raglan sleeves flatter the arms. The pretty collar, cuffs and pocket add neat trimming accent.

Style No. 3029 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with 1¼ yards of 39-inch contrasting.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN cents (15c) in coins, carefully wrapped, or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE, NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our LATEST FASHION BOOK will be sent upon receipt of FIFTEEN cents in coins. Address all mail orders to Pattern Department, Edmonton Bulletin.

Old-Fashioned Girl Will Bow On Style Stage

By RACHEL GAYMAN
Copyright, 1935, by the Havas News Agency

PARIS, April 16 — Old-fashioned materials will be fashionable this year. That is Paris' dictate for spring and summer. After linen was so fashionable last season, the great French weavers call on hemp, that other vegetable textile which was supplanted by artificial cloths.

Of course, to be suitable for the complicated weaves of tomorrow's styles, the hemp plant must be subjected to numerous fine processes. These minute preparations have demanded a great number of specialized workers, many of whom were lost during the war.

The re-education of these specialists has taken several years, but today the result obtained justifies this expensive effort. Hempen cloth, which will make cool dresses for the country and the seaside, is light, silky to the touch and not easily wrinkled.

BUMPY MATERIALS GOOD

Generally hemp is used alone, and in this case it prints nicely; we have noticed especially on an unbleached background, a design of renaissance arabesques in black, navy, dark brown or purplish-red. But the strong taste this year for bumpy materials has provoked experiments for the use of hemp with these fabrics: linen, cotton, silk, rayon and wool. In different sizes of thread they are successfully mixed with it. Often threads of different colors are used to make those chines, boucles and other uneven materials which are so attractive in sport or travel suits.

Rayon still has an unequalled success, which is easily explained by the important improvements made in the threads, of which the most charming are "albane" and "celta". But natural silk is having a merited return to favor. The old-fashioned cloths, which made the fortune of Lyons, are being made according to new formulae.

Why Pity Well-Dressed, Free Business Woman?

DEAR MISS DIX.—I work for a large firm. Most of the men in it are married and they are always pitying me because I am drifting into old maidenhood and telling me that I haven't much time left in which to get a husband. I smile and compare my lot with that of their wives. I live in a pleasant boarding house where I have delicious food that I do not have to prepare myself. A pretty room that I do not have to keep clean. My day's work begins at 9 and ends at 4:30, after which my time is my own. My salary provides me with good clothes, trips, amusements. I have no man to keep placated nor tied to me.

Their wives, as a rule, look 10 years older than I do. Their work is never done. They have to cook and wash and sew and wrestle with children. They have to make every dollar do the work of five. They have to bear with men who drink and flirt and philander and who are grouchy and hard to live with, and to save my life I can't see where their lot is better than mine. Do you?

A FREE SOUL.

Dorothy Dix

Answer:

I certainly do not, unless they have such an overwhelming passion for their husbands that it takes the sting out of every sacrifice and makes them feel that every hardship is worth while if only they can be with their adored Toms, Dicks and Harrys.

Of course, there is that sort of ideal marriage, the predestined mating of two kindred souls, but few of us have ever seen it in real life and still fewer have ever experienced it. Yet this miracle is what every woman who marries expects to happen to her, and it is why she is never warned by the wrecks of marriages she sees all around her.

Every girl thinks that she is going to get a Prince Charming for a husband, who will remain a perpetual lover and spend the balance of his life telling her how beautiful and wonderful she is. She thinks that just as a matter of course he is going to be a go-getter, and be able to give her a fine house and a car and pretty clothes and all the luxuries she craves. She thinks that her children are going to be blue-eyed, golden-haired cherubs with naturally curly hair who will always be sweet and smiling and clean and kissable.

Apparently it never enters her head that she could by any possibility marry a man who drank too much, or one who was brutal, or one who was grumpty and cross and hard to get along with. Apparently she never considers the possibility of marrying a man who does not know how to get along and who drags her down into poverty.

Apparently she never realizes that her children might be brats, and that assuredly they will be sick and dirty and bad and troublesome, and that they may not even grow up to be anything but a sorrow to her.

Now, I'm not saying that a girl shouldn't marry until she can take out a foolproof insurance on matrimonial bliss. If she did, she would never marry. Marriage is bound to be a dangerous venture and the old proverb "nothing venture, nothing have" is as good in it as it is elsewhere in life.

But I do say that the girl with a good job who marries thinking that she is going to better her wordly position generally finds out that she guessed wrong. As a wife she has to work longer hours than she did in any office, and she works for her board and clothes with no pay envelope, and she finds her husband lots harder to get along with and more critical than her boss was.

And the only thing that makes marriage worth while is just being so much in love with her husband that nothing else matters.

But when a man whose wife is wrestling with pots and pans and babies and wearing hand-me-down pities the competent business girl because she isn't married, it certainly is a joke.

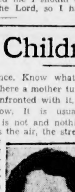
Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Social influence. Know what it means? Everywhere a mother turns today she is confronted with it, so she should know. It is usually everything she is not and nothing that she is. It is the air, the street, the people, the play and the places of every-day life. And it is about ninety per cent of a young person's existence.



O. R. Barton

If a mother could give this monster a dose of morphia she very likely would. It is her natural enemy because it is her rival.

If mothers had their way, there would be no motor cars not driven by parents. There would be no books outside of Shakespeare (expurgated), the Bible and Pollyanna. Or something like Black Beauty for the boys. Movies would show the Elsie Books or Tom Brown at Rugby.

Parties would consist of riddles and tiddledewinks. Home lessons would be the best indoor sport. Embroidering violets on sachets would be real culture and chopping a noble pile of stove wood the height of genuine manliness.

EXAGGERATING THE CASE

I hope I have made you mad, dear ladies. It is all I have been working for. Because I no more believe that than I believe I am a silly fool. The above paragraph just illustrates a point.

Almost every mother in the world knows life would be simpler and easier if there were fewer things for the young to do, fewer places to go, less people to know, less to read, to see, to hear, to experience. In her heart she knows she could do her job better if she did not have a thousand battles on her hands. Not only that but she realizes most or much of outside influence puts the notion in her adolescent's mind that she knows nothing.

True, it is a mistake to state generalities as all the truth. A great deal of outside influence is her ally. If Scout Work and Dramatic Clubs were all of it, there would be cause for unconfined joy. And the many good movies today and the wilderness of good books intended for youthful eyes.

PARENTS ARE PART OF IT

She has, this mother, almost as many champions in her cause as enemies, if it were not for the other things. Children are as worldly wise today as their parents; they brag they are more so. And although it is foolish to try to keep them babes in arms, and futile, it strikes me that this slick racketeer, social influence, is getting away with too much. I, for one, am entirely in sympathy with the mother who worries.

But there is a little matter that most people don't think of about the parent's place in all this. It is that parents themselves are part and parcel of the very things they fear. By giving consent to the wrong things, by showing a certain indifference to the way children amuse themselves and so on, they are in collusion with the very forces they decry.

CHECK ON YOUTH NEEDED

"Be friends with your children and let them see you are as up-to-date as they are" is one thing. To put one's foot down at the right time and in the right way is another. If the parent is to lose out by either method, he or she may as well get something out of it and put forth his authority. Naturally happy relationships in families are the best influence prescribed for youthful welfare. But too great laxity, or too much weakness never yet made for very strong family ties.

I don't think it necessary for youth to run wild. I would not give a kid a motor car and a gas account to do with as he pleases. I would inquire into promiscuous dancing. I would set a time for bed. And not perhaps—unless I knew all the answers and a darn good reason why it should be otherwise.

Maple Sugar Offers Some Sweet Recipes

By MARY E. DAGUE

There's no more delicious leaf in my album of blissful times than the one that shows me a wide-eyed little girl eating maple sugar right from the kettle that had been cooled in snow until it hardened. To this very minute, I'll take my maple sugar straight in preference to any other way, but I've just had such a wonderful lot of maple syrup recipes all the way from Quebec, where maple sugar abounds, that I think I must pass them on. First, there is Grandperes, a delightful doughnutish concoction that men adore.

Sister Mary

Three-fourths cup flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup milk, 1 egg, 1 pint maple syrup.

Beat egg until light with milk. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and stir into liquid. Put maple syrup into a large kettle and bring to the boiling point. Drop dough from tip to spoon into boiling syrup, cover and cook fifteen minutes. Serve warm with the thickened syrup. This recipe will serve four. If wanted for eight, double all the ingredients, including syrup. You may need to add more syrup, because it actually does "boil down" during the cooking and may not make enough sauce.

There's really no way of imitating the pure maple flavor, and cakes and cookies made with maple syrup or maple sugar have a taste all their own.

MAPLE SUGAR MACAROONS

Maple sugar macaroons are grand for the afternoon tea tray.

Whites 2 eggs, ¾ cup maple sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup shredded cocoanut, few grains salt.

Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Fold in sugar, flour and cocoanut a few tablespoonfuls at a time. Drop from tip of spoon onto a buttered pan and bake in a slow oven (275 degrees F.) until dry on the surface, about thirty minutes. Remove from the pan with a spatula while still warm. This recipe will make about two dozen small macaroons.

MAPLE ICE CREAM

Two cups cream, 1 cup milk, ¾ cup maple sugar, ½ cup hazel nuts.

Add sugar to cream and milk. Turn into freezer and turn crank until mixture is mushy. Add nuts which have been finely chopped and finish freezing, using six parts ice to one part ice cream salt and let stand for an hour before serving. This recipe is not for a mechanical refrigerator nor a crankless freezer. The mixture must be turned while freezing in order to make it smooth.

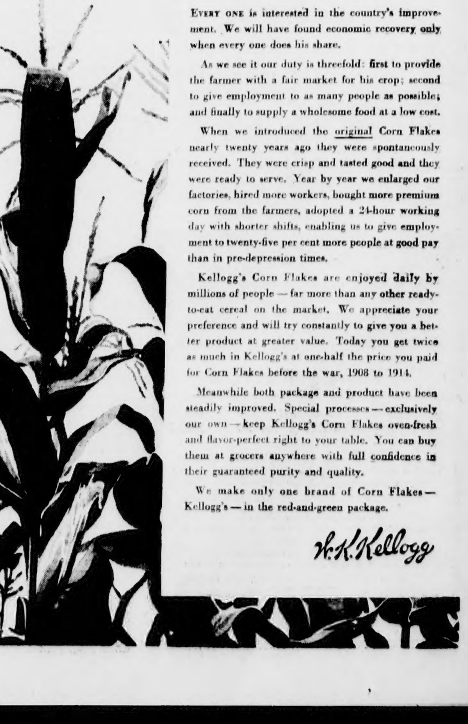
Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Stewed dried apricots, cereal, cream, shirred eggs, pop-overs, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Dandelion greens baked with bacon, pineapple and cheese salad, grandperes, milk, tea.

DINNER: Broiled lamb chops, steamed rice, kale with lemon dressing, banana and peanut salad, hot water sponge cake, maple ice cream, milk, coffee.

A MESSAGE FROM W. K. KELLOGG



EVERY ONE is interested in the country's improvement. We will have found economic recovery only when every one does his share.

As we see it our duty is threefold: first to provide the farmer with a fair market for his crop; second to give employment to as many people as possible; and finally to supply a wholesome food at a low cost.

When we introduced the original Corn Flakes nearly twenty years ago they were spontaneously received. They were crisp and tasted good and they were ready to serve. Year by year we enlarged our factories, hired more workers, bought more premium corn from the farmers, adopted a 24-hour working day with shorter shifts, enabling us to give employment to twenty-five per cent more people at good pay than in pre-depression times.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are enjoyed daily by millions of people — far more than any other ready-to-eat cereal on the market. We appreciate your preference and will try constantly to give you a better product at greater value. Today you get twice as much in Kellogg's at one-half the price you paid for Corn Flakes before the war, 1908 to 1914.

Meanwhile both package and product have been steadily improved. Special processes — exclusively our own — keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes oven-fresh and flavor-perfect right to your table. You can buy them at grocers anywhere with full confidence in their guaranteed purity and quality.

We make only one brand of Corn Flakes — Kellogg's — in the red-and-green package.

AMENDMENT RAISES BIG INCOME TAX

$2,000 is One P.C. Basis, Then Jumps of Two P.C. Are Ordered

Increased taxation on larger incomes is provided in an amending bill to the Income Tax act, second reading of which was moved in the legislature on Monday by Hon. J. Russell Love, provincial treasurer.

Instead of increasing the rate schedule by one per cent. on each additional $1,000, there is provision for a jump of two per cent. at intervals so that when a yearly salary of $15,000 has been reached there is an increase of three per cent.

The amended schedule provides that the rate of tax applicable to persons other than corporations and joint stock companies on the excess of income over the amount exempt from taxation up to $2,000 is one per cent.

On the excess of income over the amount exempt over $2,000 and up to $3,000 the tax will be three per cent; on the excess of income over the amount exempt, over $4,000 and up to $5,000 the rate is four per cent.

On the excess of income over the amount exempt, over $5,000 and up to $6,000, rate is six per cent.

The next two per cent jump takes place from the excess of income over the amount exempt, over $9,000 and up to $10,000, which is 10 per cent to the excess over $10,000 and up to $11,000, which is 12 per cent.

Another jump takes place at the $20,000 mark.

Several other amendments are included, all of which are designed to clarify the act.

CAMROSE MAN GUEST SPEAKER KIWANIS CLUB

Great development is taking place today in the Chinese language—a language that is both more significant and flexible than European languages, stated C. V. Ronning, M.L.A., for Camrose, guest speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club held in the Macdonald hotel, Monday noon. Giving some personal experiences of his life in the far east as a teacher, Mr. Ronning stated that as soon as the economic problems and productive powers of this country were established every effort should be made to provide children with teachers who were outstanding men, such as those in the Chinese schools and who would break down the prejudices surrounding western civilization.

Chinese religions, stated Mr. Ronning are of a very high order, even those that have been introduced into China, while the Chinese as a race are very tolerant where religion is concerned and show no resentment toward people of other faiths.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Waller Morrish. J. V. Cook was chairman during the meeting.

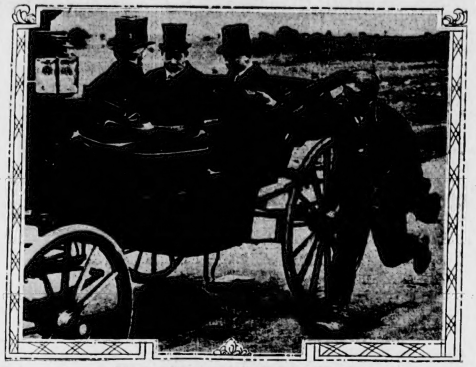
Our King and Queen

—On their Silver Jubilee—



King George is most accessible Monarch in history.

THE task that faced King George after his accession to the throne in 1910, was to break down a certain feeling of resentment against royalty that had developed throughout Great Britain.

Queen Victoria, a great Queen, had nevertheless not been very popular. King Edward, while he achieved greater popularity with his people, was faced with a movement, supported by Joe Chamberlain, to establish a republic. King Edward, a master in foreign courts, was confused by issues at home, and it is recorded that he several times complained abdication.

Thus when King George, a new person to the British people, ascended the throne, he did so at a difficult time. It is said that the Empire knew him better than the people of the British Isles, for during his term as Prince of Wales he had travelled extensively.

But King George not only overcame these obstacles, but he gradually pushed them into discard as he made his personality felt.

As a Prince he was wont to mingle in close association with the people. He is known as the most accessible King in British history. Not a child in Britain but knew him at sight. Children were a weakness with the King and he never failed at the slightest excuse to encourage them.

A historic photo of the King is presented today. It shows His Majesty with Prince Henry (Duke of Gloucester) on their way to Epsom in 1922. Running alongside is a gypsy beggar. It serves to illustrate how easily approachable is the Empire's monarch.

A few years ago, this picture was erroneously used in connection with a story of the King to portray resentment on the part of his people to Britain's royal family. It caused a considerable stir at the time, but its true meaning carries with it a feeling diametrically opposite to resentment.

BURGLAR FOUND REFORMATION IN BEAUTY'S AID

WATERTOWN, Mass., April 16—It was beauty and the burglar Monday, and Beauty not only charmed but converted her burglar before sending him on his way.

Mrs. Herman D. Joseph, of Cleveland, Ohio, who only a few years ago was better known as Miss Bunny Wendell, dancing star of the Ziegfeld Follies, was here to visit her mother, Mrs. Ann Costello. She stepped into her bedroom to discover a burglar of about 18 rummaging through her wardrobe.

"What are you doing here?" she demanded.

"I'm burglarizing," answered the youth as he snatched off a tattered baseball cap in deference to so much pulchritude.

Ten minutes later Mrs. Joseph had smuggled a profusely apologetic and she hoped, completely reformed boy, out of the back door.

SPRING CALLS FOR CARE IN DAILY MENUS

Are you digging your grave with a knife and fork? Does your daily menu mean dyspepsia—or that spring fever feeling?

This may strike you as being a bit funny, but a Bulletin reporter, feeling a little logy, interviewed Dr. R. B. Jenkins, medical health officer, today. And here are a few pointers he gave about keeping fit this spring.

Dr. Jenkins does not altogether believe in outlining a rigid menu for any man. He believes in eating sensibly. A sage once said "What is one man's meat is another's poison." Translated rather freely, this means that a definite diet will not suit every person. Frown on an unbalanced menu. Eat meat in moderation (and this does not mean three times a day); consume a certain amount of green stuff—lettuce, cabbage, fruit, etc., all of which are made more edible if served in salad form.

Don't eat too much sweet stuff. This is one rule which may be applied to practically everybody. Anything sweet is energy-producing, or heat-producing, and is not as necessary in the spring as it is during the winter months. Sweet food in excess gives you a feeling of lethargy—spring fever.

Spring tonics? The simplest remedies are the best. Asked about the old reliable remedy, sulphur and molasses, Dr. Jenkins admitted that it had its points as a spring physic. "Of course, some claim that it makes grandmother feel better when grandson takes it," he laughed.

A biblical quotation enjoins us to "be temperate in all things," and this includes eating.

SUGGESTIONS FOR GREATER SAFETY IN CAR DRIVING

Every responsible group that can aid traffic safety in the cities, towns and highways of the province receives the co-operation of Alberta Motor Association officials, who are conducting an intensive safety campaign in an effort to lessen the loss of life and accidents due to careless automobile driving.

The traffic problem is the motorists' problem and is also the problem of every good citizen, they state. Therefore they submit a few suggestions in the hope that they will be given heed to by those driving cars on the streets and highways.

1. Don't drive with poor brakes; 2. have your cars tested today; 3. don't depend on your mechanical equipment entirely, give your brain a chance to help; 4, in stopping your car slow down first, don't put all the responsibility on the brakes; 5, drive with two headlights, one cuts down on your light, makes it hard for the other driver, violates the law and causes trouble; 6, have your car under control all the time.

In connection with the campaign, the Association is having a film, "Once Upon a Time," shown at all the leading theatres in the city. This film, which is in the form of an animated cartoon, was produced by the Metropolitan Life Assurance and is both amusing and instructive and shows the need for caution while driving by means of a lively fairy tale.

Week End Rates For Holiday Trips

Social Creditors Name Delegates Wednesday Eve

Edmonton delegates to the Northern Alberta Social Credit convention will be selected at a meeting to be held in the Macdonald hotel on Wednesday evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

Three delegates will be named from each group in the city for the central convention which will be held here on April 24 and 25. The venue of the convention has not been decided.

William Aberhart, leader of social credit, will arrive in Edmonton on Monday, April 21, and will address mass meeting at Stony Plain the following day. He will also speak over the radio while in Edmonton.

Ask Refund On Farm Truck Fuel

That the government give consideration to a policy of refunding the fuel oil tax in respect of all fuel oil used in the operation of Class D trucks to the same extent as is now made in the case of fuel oil used in the operation of farm tractors, is the subject of a resolution placed on the legislative Order Paper by M. J. Conner, U.F.A. Warner.

In support of his motion, Mr. Conner submits that the farm truck has become a necessity on many farms for the marketing of farm products and that it is paying the regular automobile license and gas tax.

Mr. Conner contends that "no reduction was made in such licenses in the re-adjustment of licenses and that they are paying the additional one cent gas tax."

SOCIAL CREDIT MEETING

DUFFIELD, Alta, April 16.—R. E. Ansley, Social Credit League organizer, addressed a meeting attended by some 150 people on the subject of "Social Credit for Alberta." P. Faulks, secretary of the Duffield group, presided.

RURAL SCHOOL NEEDS GIVEN LEGISLATURE

Special Committee Probing Conditions Files Recommendations

Larger units of administration should be studied by the provincial government education department in an effort to evolve a plan that would bring rural schools to a higher degree of efficiency, according to a recommendation of the special committee named by the legislature at the 1934 session to probe and report on rural educational problems in Alberta.

The committee, set up by a resolution moved by the late C. Lionel Gibbs, Labor Edmonton, was under the chairmanship of Hon. Perren Baker, minister of education and included representatives of all parties in the legislature. Those on the committee were Hector Lang, Liberal, Medicine Hat; W. E. Payne, K.C., Conservative, Red Deer; Isadore Goresky, U.F.A., Whitford; R. M. McCool, U.F.A., Coronane; J. Mackintosh, Independent, Bow Valley; Gordon Walker, U.F.A., Nanton-Claresholm; A. G. Andrews, U.F.A., Sedgewick; Chester A. Ronning, U.F.A., Camrose.

RESIDENTIAL SCHOOLS

Mr. Gibbs was a member of the committee until his death last September and was succeeded by Andrew Smeaton, Labor, Lethbridge.

The committee further recommends that there should be opened a series of residential schools on the fringes of settlement. It is pointed out that these could be provided by the province directly or through amendments to the School Act, to permit formation of administrative units of larger size and greater resources. Pending such action, efforts should be directed toward enrolment of children in remote areas in the departmental correspondence courses.

Recommendation is also made that there should be secondary education provided in rural areas either by the province directly or through the combination of districts into units "of sufficient size and strength to enable them to meet a common problem."

It is also recommended that "suitable provision should be made to meet the need of greater school library facilities."

Further recommendation is made that the education department "explore the possibilities of securing scholarships to meet the needs of deserving students in Alberta."

URGE RADIO USE

It is also recommended that "the department should investigate the feasibility of using radio to enrich and supplement the teaching in rural schools."

Early consideration should be given to the advisability of requiring either Grade XII for normal entrance or a two-year training course for all prospective teachers.

Another recommendation is that all teachers who have been taught for a five-year period be required to take a refresher course before being allowed to teach in schools established in Alberta at the earliest opportunity.

It is also urged that the Dominion government should establish a Canadian library commission and to foster adult education in Alberta by means of grants for libraries in rural communities.

More supervision for rural schools also should be provided, states the report.

ATTENDANCE FIGURES

The committee, in gathering statistics states that there were 18,338 students in rural graded schools in 1934 and that there were 2,861 rural one-room schools in operation with 202 schools having more than one room. The aggregate number of rural rooms in operation was 3,434.

There were 65,928 students attending one-room rural schools in Alberta last year and all village and town schools were in rural territory and serve these needs. In all 82,266 students attended their education in rural schools. In the ungraded schools, students attended on an average of 149.20 days and in graded schools an average of 167.38 days.

Cheap Rail Rates

MONTREAL, April 16—One-cent-a-mile excursion facilities will be offered between May 15-28 inclusive from points in Eastern Canada to the Pacific Coast by Canadian railways, it was announced here last night.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE BULLETIN

By E. V. SHEPARD

FAMOUS BRIDGE TEACHER

TWO FREAK HANDS URGE CAUTION

Mr. Frank A. Tole, Berkeley, Calif., sent in the deal shown below. It well illustrates the fact that freak holdings held by both partners often mean at least one freak hand held by opponents. It was the case here. Such freaks must be played with caution, as Mr. Tole shows in his handling of the South holdings.

South made the correct opening bid of 2 diamonds, even if many players will consider that call too optimistic. West showed his spades twice, and North did the same with his very long heart suit. South once hid no trumps, to show spades stopons and something in clubs. Finally the contract soared to 3 Diamonds. Had west shown his second six-card suit probably his partner would have supported spades. It would have paid well to bid a grand slam in spades.

The opening lead was the K of spades. South's ace won the trick. Dummy ruffed a return lead of spades, and the ace was used, as every trump held by both declarer and dummy was higher than all three missing diamonds.

West's original holding of spades and the large number of clubs missing showed plainly that West must hold a hand composed almost wholly of black cards. He might or might not be void of one of the red suits. In any event South played his hand with the latter possibility in mind, and kept away from hearts, as that suit seemed to be the single danger spot in South's hand.

Dummy's lone club was led. The ace won the trick. Dummy ruffed a return lead of that suit. Another fifth trick did South dare lead trumps. He had to rid hand of each of his losers before touching trumps.

Having set the hand, each of every side card except one heart and one club, the declarer led dummy's last trump. He overtook the trump in his own hand and took two rounds of diamonds, discarding one club opposite trumps. The K of hearts was then led. It was to that heart that South's entrance in the suit. Dummy's ace overtook the K. Upon dummy's good Q of hearts South discarded his last club, making the balance of the hand a spread, as nothing was held except trumps in the declaring hand. South played the hand with unusual care and deserved what he made.

Normal defense would have defeated a spade grand slam three tricks, which would have been a great loss for South and South.

Beautiful Blue Heron Believed To Have Been Victim Saturday's Gale

Found Sunday With Neck Broken Near Riverside Park by Young Brothers Hugh, Pat and Terry O'Brien

It'll be one stately blue heron brother, Terry, 6, brought the remains over to the Bulletin office in a box that had once contained flowers, albeit quite appropriate as a casket.

Don't spread his broad wings The managing editor seized a over the lakes and marshes of north- ruler from the copy desk and went Alberta this coming summer to work getting the statistics. From Don. Believed to have been the wing tip to wing tip, the overall victim of Saturday's blizzard, the measurement was six feet and some beautiful bird, shown in the above inches. photograph, was found in the bush near Riverside Park Sunday morning by Hugh, Pat and Terry O'Brien, 10033 91 avenue. The long, swan-like neck, measuring three feet in length, was fractured about three inches back from the head, and it is thought the bird collided with a tree or wire as it flew, blinded by the snowstorm.

NOTICED TRACKS

Pat O'Brien, 16, and his brother Hugh, 13, were out for a romp early Sunday, when they perceived the tracks of the bird on a narrow path leading into the South Side park.

They followed the markings a short distance to where the big bird lay dead in the snow.

Hugh, accompanied by his little

The blue heron is native to the south, but spring there are a few nesting at the bird sanctuary at Miquick Lake and in the vicinity of Brooks.

MAY BE MOUNTED

After having the corpse photographed South little Terry on the left and Hugh on the right, each holding a wing, the boys took it to George Sparco, secretary of the Northern Alberta Fish and Game Protective Association and it is likely that the specimen will have the bird stuffed and mounted.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

With signs of spring slowly appearing and Edmonton residents becoming attacked with that curious malady "spring fever" The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter set out to find a few simple rules for health. Asked the question "What is your prescription for vim, vigor and vitality?" the following answers were obtained:

SCOTT SHADE, salesman: "Lots of fresh air. People, nowadays, don't get nearly enough fresh air. Also plenty of exercise, another thing of which people do not get enough. You cannot keep in shape unless you have plenty of both."

AMBROSE ALLARD, tailor: "A life of complete moderation—that is—a little of everything and not too much of anything. Ideal natural existance is the only means of retaining an equilibrium."

* * *

EILEEN DIXON, beauty parlor operator: "Plenty of sleep, simple food and lots of exercise, which are rules that very few people follow. From time immemorial people have done the very things that are bad for them and it is very unlikely in this day and age that they will change."

Police Court

Details so salacious that even the "United Farmer" might hesitate to bring them to light in its elevating advertising columns, were related Tuesday morning when Albert Frick, ex-informer for the Vancouver city police department stood preliminary hearing on charges of intimidation of witnesses and living off the avails of prostitution over a two-year period.

He was committed to the Supreme Court for trial on both counts and three young women who testified against him were bound over on $300 bonds to appear when the accused comes before the higher tribunal.

Star witness in the case against the ex-vice squad stool pigeon was Mary Aitkinson, 23, who last week swallowed poison when Frick threatened to walk out on her at the end of a four-year common law relationship.

When you were living together, did Frick work? she was asked.

"No, I did, on the streets and gave him all my money."

"Did you object to the life?" asked the prosecutor.

"Yes, but each time he beat me up."

Mary's two sisters gave evidence in corroboration, telling of threats made against them by Frick, if they dared testify against him.

The girls failed to appear in court at 10 a.m. and detectives found them sleeping in Frick's home. Both youngsters said that the accused's threats did not scare them and they only failed to show up at court because they slept in.

"I didn't know what I was doing I was so hungry," said Joe Sen, Chinaman, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of vending narcotics in a grocteria. He is the first Chinaman to appear for theft for more than a year. Sen is to Calgary to face such a charge having committed suicide by hanging himself in the cells.

William Foster, farm hand, was remanded to the Supreme Court for trial on a charge of having defrauded Peter Mazowich, his ex-employer. Evidence that was Foster had written letters to Mazowich offering to tell authorities that the farmer had committed arson.

Mazowich's farm home burned down last July under what the Crown said were "suspicious circumstances" and Foster lost his clothing. Mazowich refused to make good the loss and through Ignorance Foster is alleged to have attempted the extortion by libel.

Arraigned on a charge of committing an illegal operation, Miss Maud Winn made no plea and the case was adjourned one week. The same charge against the girl involved was also set over.

SPECIAL BODY ASKS HIRING MERIT BASIS

Commissioners Instructed Settle Bower-Petrovich Dispute

Finding that J. D. Bower and J. Petrovich, former relief department investigators, had been fired illegally, a special committee sitting at city hall Monday night instructed commissioners to negotiate a settlement. The committee also recommended that the two men appointed to fill positions left vacant by the dismissal of Bower and Petrovich be given notice of dismissal with right to make application for reinstatement.

Appointment to the civic service should be made on the basis of ability and efficiency, and should not be effected by political influence, the committee decided.

TWO RELEASED

Bower and Petrovich were released from the relief department last December on the instigation of Mayor Clarke.

Ald. R. V. Bellamy could not understand why the two new inspectors had been appointed following the dismissals, particularly in view of the fact that Relief Manager H. F. McKee had indicated he preferred the employment of social service workers in his branch of the service.

It was then moved by Ald. Bellamy that the new inspectors be given notice of dismissal and that Mr. McKee be allowed to use his own judgment in the selection of the most efficient staff possible.

Coming to the support of the mayor, Commissioner David Mitchell told the committee he had never questioned the judgment of Mayor Clarke in matters under review.

Objecting strenuously to present regulations governing the hiring and firing of employes, Mayor Clarke said: "It is a monstrous proposition that superintendents should not be able to dismiss members of their staffs for inefficiency."

OUTSIDE PRESSURE

Ald. Bellamy said he was aware of the outside pressure being brought to bear on the mayor. He (Ald. Bellamy) had had sufficient political experience to know this. The aldermen believed superintendents should report proposed dismissals to commissioners and leave the latter to take action.

Since one of the inspectors released from the service had in the interim engaged in a dispute with both the mayor and the relief inspector it would be impossible to consider re-engaging him, averred Ald. H. J. Macdonald.

Admitting a technical error in ordering the dismissals, Mayor Clarke declared: "It was just technical. Before they were dismissed they were notified that they were working simply on a day-to-day basis. They must have known they were not satisfied with their work."

The committee decided it was not empowered to deal with the case of H. R. Mountifield, former temporary employee in the relief department, who was dismissed by Ex-Mayor J. M. Douglas in 1931. Mountifield has submitted a bill for $3,086, claiming he was wrongfully dismissed.

MAYOR NOT TO SEEK SEAT IN ALTA. HOUSE

Refuses to Accept Nomination of Independent Labor Party

Mayor Joseph A. Clarke will not contest the forthcoming provincial elections as a candidate of the Independent Labor Party for the Edmonton seat, he announced Tuesday. Explaining his refusal to accept the labor nomination, the mayor said he had not wish to take action which "will result in further dividing the opposition to the present provincial government."

The mayor's statement in this connection follows:

"Independent Labour Party,
1937 Jasper Ave.,
Edmonton.

"Gentlemen:

"I wish to thank the members of our Party for the confidence and courtesy shown to me and Walter Cleverly in giving me the nomination for the Provincial House. I wish, however, to say that during the present campaign I consider it most important that no further steps be taken by anyone that will result in further dividing the opponents of the present Provincial Government or its predecessor, so far as the City campaign is concerned. In spite of the fact that I cannot see any way clear to be a candidate in the City, I would still be ready to support any nominee of the Independent Labour Party who may feel free to accept the nomination.

"This letter, of course, is not private and may be given such publicity as the executive may see fit."

NO DELIVERY OF MAIL ON GOOD FRIDAY

Good Friday, April 19, being a statutory holiday there will be no delivery by mail by letter carriers, it was announced Tuesday morning by A. R. McKenzie, postmaster.

On Easter Monday, April 22, mail will be delivered during the forenoon only. All wickets at the post office will be open from 9 o'clock to 12 noon. The lobby will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning to 8 o'clock at night.

It was stated by the Postmaster that no mail would be handed out at the post office to patrons or messengers of patrons who usually receive their mail through letter carrier.

Insurance Firm May Appeal To Privy Council

Judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada handed down Monday dismissing the appeal of Century Indemnity Company to have a judgment of Mr. Justice Ewing for $17,749, in favor of Northwestern Utilities Ltd. set aside, may be taken to the privy council.

S. C. S. Kerr, counsel for the indemnity firm in the action arising out of a fire that destroyed the Empire Macaroni and Tile company premises, informed The Bulletin on Tuesday that his company has the right to take an appeal to London. He is now awaiting instructions from the head offices of the firm in Boston.

WESTERNERS COURAGEOUS IN HARDSHIP

L. G. Calder, of Bird-Archer Co., Praises Spirit Of West

"If the east had shown the fortitude that the west has exhibited during the past five years in meeting difficulties and hardships it would have been far better for Canada as a whole," declared Leonard G. Calder, president, director and general manager of the Bird-Archer Company Limited, and vice-president of the Commercial Life, who arrived in Edmonton on Tuesday morning on a trip throughout the province, and namely, Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge.

Mr. Calder, who is a member of the Montreal Board of Trade and the Montreal Club of the city, is a former resident of Saskatoon, having acted in the capacity of sheriff there from 1903 to 1911, well known throughout the west.

ADVANCED LONG WAY

The west has advanced a long way towards recovery, declared Mr. Calder, who said that he was delighted to find such a wonderful spirit of optimism prevailing in three prairie provinces. Real prosperity has not returned, he said, but improvement in almost all lines, he said.

"The industrial world of Canada has learned a great lesson," said Mr. Calder. "It has learned that its future depends largely on the success of Canada as a whole, depended on the development of manufacturing and industries, was entirely wrong and they now realize very fully that the industrial world cannot be very far solvent the success of agriculture.

A tangible improvement in industry in the east has also been noted, said Mr. Calder. Auto sales have been doubled this year over the sales of the corresponding period of last year, while stocks and bonds have been very active.

SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE

Recently returned from a business trip to New York and Philadelphia, Mr. Calder stated that he had received reports of a substantial increase in all lines.

Effective reciprocity of trade between Canada and United States made by the respective Chambers of Commerce was being given, with pleasure in the eastern states, said Mr. Calder.

Mr. Calder, who is a guest at the Macdonald hotel during his visit in Edmonton, will leave for Calgary at the termination of his day here.

ARGUMENT AT DEBT HEARING

The hearing of an application of a Leduc district farmer to have $12,400 of debts scaled down by the Board of Review appointed under the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act, developed into a brief period in district court chambers into an argument between the applicant and a creditor on their merits as beer drinkers.

The creditor had stated that the debtor had been out of work for some time in beer parlors and made the assertion he was a manufacturer of illicit spirits.

The latter statement brought immediate denial and a demand to produce evidence from the applicant, who also asserted that his beer drinking capacity was zero compared to that of his accuser.

After a short period of wrangling, Mr. Justice A. P. McAvity, K.C., stated that the board was not concerned with the personal habits of those appearing before such bodies were of a character to adversely affect the creditors. This opened the field for the creditor to make the statement "that the debtor had cashed grain tickets and had squandered $10 in grain deals on beer" while he refused to pay even a dollar on his debt when requested.

Secured debts amounted to $5,800, while those unsecured totalled $7,600 approximately. The debtor's farmer is asking for an extension for payment to April 1, 1936, reduction of interest rates on secured and future interest to six per cent. He proposes to liquidate his debts by paying half crop proceeds after April, 1936. The proposal was not acceptable to the creditors, and the case is still proceeding.

TO REGULATE WAGES, HOURS IN INDUSTRY

Hoadley Introduces Act Respecting Industrial Standards

who will enter the provincial political field in Edmonton as nominee of the Dominion Social Credit party in the forthcoming Alberta election.

Hours of labor, minimum wages and other matters affecting industrial conditions in the province will be regulated by the provisions of the Industrial Standards Act, which was passed in the house Monday afternoon by a vote of 31 to 10.

The measure, which is the result of much study by a committee of the legislature and many conferences with representatives of labor and industry, will be put into effect by proclamation of the lieutenant-governor-in-council.

AUTHORITY GIVEN

Every officer appointed shall have authority to enter, inspect and investigate premises and matters connected within the subject Act.

Provision is made for defining and redefining zones in the various industries. Boards of Trade shall have authority to enforce provisions of the Act.

The Board may impute into any partnership or association and if the members are in being used for the purpose of defeating provisions of the Act or the regulations, he may in writing declare any of the parties any employer for the purposes of the Act and regulations.

No employer shall pay or cause to be paid to any employee wages or remuneration of a less than the prescribed by any schedule, nor shall he require or permit an employee to work a greater number of hours in each day or in each week than is prescribed by any schedule. Number of days in each week than is prescribed by any schedule. Violation of this provision will carry a penalty.

The wage rates for women and girls prescribed by any schedule shall not be for lesser amounts set

TAX MONEY MAY BE COLLECTED BY GARNISHEE

The city is investigating the possibility of garnisheeing wages of persons in arrears with their taxes and wage to meet such arrears, Mayor J. A. Clarke declared Tuesday.

We are at present attempting to determine whether the city has the authority to garnishee wages for payment of back taxes. There would be some doubt as to this matter, as far as I know," the mayor said.

He stated further that he was communicating with officials of the various civic organizations with a view to launching the proposed legislation at the next session of the legislature.

Assessments are being made for a number of years and it is proposed to start collecting them support for the debate.

Harlem Negro Acquittal Creates Crowd Delirium

NEW YORK, April 16.—Several thousand negroes and white persons staged a demonstration Monday when Father Divine, the negro who is literally God to many of his race in Harlem, was acquitted in the court of social sessions of a charge of operating an unlicensed boarding house for children.

"Peace! Peace! It's wonderful! Peace, Father, He is God!" shouted hundreds of his followers in a delirium of fervor in the grim halls of the criminal courts building.

Outside in bustling Lafayette street other thousands took up the rhythmic chant of "Peace! Peace!" as they crowded around the smiling, bald-pated "Deity" and his satellite, faithful Mary.

Negroes and white persons kissed and embraced each other in the streets; traffic slowed to a standstill as devotees of the magnetic savior of New York's black belt eagerly sought to touch his garments, crowded around his expensive robin's egg blue automobile.

The demonstration turned into an impromptu parade.

New American Relief Army Of Workers Forms

NEW YORK, April 16.—Organization of an army of 3,500,000 to be employed on the United States government's $4,800,000,000 work relief program—with the American Federation of Labor and Unemployment Groups Co-operating—was announced Monday by David Lasser, an unemployment leader.

The objectives of the co-operating groups would be the union scale for all skilled workers, a minimum of $30 a week for unskilled and collective bargaining on all work relief projects.

SILKEN SPINDLES

—By Laura Lou Brookman—

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She delays giving her answer.

Gale goes skating, breaks through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian has come home after two years in Paris, ready to take his place in the mill.

VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to capitalize Brian. She sees him with Gale and is furious. Contriving to meet Gale, she tells her that she loves him and Brian are engaged to be married. Gale, realizing Brian has been accepting himself at her expense, is deeply hurt. She refuses to see him again.

Brian, trying to forget Gale, turns to Vicky.

Phil loses his job. Coming home after a search for work, he encounters Ed VOGEL with his friends STROUDE, and "LEFTY." There is a street fight in which others join. Then a gun is fired.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLII

THERE was an instant of paralysis, and then frenzy. A hubbub of voices. Men with startled eyes and stunned faces. A moment ago, greedy, electric, contagious, in the air. Someone shouted, "He's killed him!" and, as through at a signal, the spell was broken.

Joe Gillespie shoved a barricading shoulder aside and pushed his way forward. "Phil!" he cried. "Phil—!"

But the sprawling figure on the sidewalk was not Phil Henderson. A man on his knees, bending over the limp body, said, "Someone call a doctor. Tell him to hurry!"

Men were trooping out of the pool hall now and lights flashed in nearby buildings. The crowd in the street swelled, as though by magic. Women's voices joined with men's.

"What's happened?" "Did somebody fire a gun?" "Who was it?" The questions rose, shrill, excited.

"It's Ed Vogel!"

"WHAT?"

"Someone shot Ed Vogel!"

"Vogel — they say somebody's killed him."

"Did you find out what happened?"

"It's Vogel! SOMEBODY KILLED ED VOGEL!"

Phil Henderson stared stupidly at the man on the sidewalk. "But—what was it?" he asked. "I mean, how—?"

The sentence was never finished. Phil turned as someone gripped his arm. It was Stroude, his sly face distorted and menacing.

"Here he is!" Stroude shouted. "Don't let him get away!"

"But, Stroude—!"

"Grab him!" The other man's voice rose higher. "He shot Ed Vogel. He's the one who did it!"

The look of amazement on Phil's face turned to panic. "But Stroude, I didn't! You know I didn't shoot him. Why, we were just fighting—"

"Listen, you can't get away with that. I saw you! Everybody here saw you. You killed Ed Vogel and you'll hang for it!"

A policeman shouldered his way into the crowd. "What's the trouble?" he demanded, and then seeing the figure on the sidewalk, added a sharp exclamation.

"It's Ed Vogel," Stroude told him. "And this is the fellow who shot him."

"I didn't!"

Phil's protest was lost. The doctor was pushing through the crowd, issuing orders for the onlookers to stand back. The doctor knelt on the sidewalk, slipped an arm under the crumpled body.

His verdict came crisply a moment later. "He's alive," he announced. "Can't tell how badly he's hurt. We'll have to get him to the hospital as soon as possible. Somebody give me a hand—"

Volunteers stepped forward. The doctor took charge efficiently. Quietly. In 10 minutes an ambulance had arrived and Vogel was lifted inside. His eyes remained closed. There was a dark stain on the front of his coat. A woman's voice rose, wailing hysterically, as the ambulance set off down the street.

At a distance Stroude's companion, "Lefty," was saying to the policeman, "Sure, I saw him! This guy and Vogel had a argument. The fellow got ugly and Vogel let him have it. He was gettin' the best of it when this guy pulled the gun—"

"But I didn't!" Phil protested. "I haven't got a gun. I tell you!"

"Haven't, eh?"

The policeman's hands, slapping Phil's coat pockets, encountered something bulky. He reached inside, threw out a .38 revolver. It had a dull black handle. Anyone who had glimpsed the weapon in Stroude's pocket two hours earlier would have said it was the same.

"So you haven't got a revolver!" Phil stared at the gun. "No," he said, "I don't know where that came from. I've never seen it before. I swear to God—"

"That's enough!" the policeman cut in gruffly. "Come along. Both these fellows say they saw you shoot him. I found the gun on you. If Vogel dies it'll be murder, you'll be charged with. Get that? Murder!"

"But I tell you I didn't—!"

"Get going!" The policeman's club emphasized the order.

Dull light sifted through the single barred window of the jail cell. Gale Henderson sat on the narrow cot, her arms around her brother. "Oh, Phil!" she said, her voice choking.

"I was framed, Gale. I didn't do it!"

"I know," Gale held a handkerchief, already limp, to her eyes. "Of course I know you didn't, Phil. Anybody should know that. But, oh—it's so dreadful. What are we going to do, Phil? What are we going to do?"

"They say if Vogel dies—"

Gale's shoulders moved convulsively. Her hand, on her brother's arm, tightened. "He's got to get well!" she cried. "I won't think of anything else—I won't believe it. He's—oh, he's got to get well!"

Phil patted her arm. "Don't. Sis," he said. "Don't take it that way."

"But I can't help it. The idea of you here—in a place like this—"

"Never mind that," Phil said gruffly. "I'll get out of it some way. I don't want you worrying, feeling so bad. I—I'm not worth it. All I do is trouble for you—borrowing your money and not paying it back, losing my job, getting arrested. It was bad enough before, but now this!"

"Don't!" Gale said. "That's not true, Phil."

"Oh, it's true all right. I'm just no good."

"Phil, please! Don't talk like that."

He went on, as though he had not heard her. "The worst is having Dad know—"

"He'll understand, Phil. He'll know it wasn't your fault." She was patting his hand soothingly, as though it were a child. "Dad will know you couldn't have done such a thing." Suddenly, the chasm of misunderstanding that had grown between them seemed to have vanished. Phil was no longer a stranger. He was the little brother whose tears she had dried when he hurt himself, whose cut fingers she had bandaged, the little brother with whom she had played games and jumped skipping ropes and hunted wild strawberries and trudged to school. Yes, he was the same brother, grown taller and older now and in some wholly insane manner held in jail, accused of shooting a man who might die.

Gale said, "Everything's going to be all right. We'll find a way—"

"You haven't heard anything more about Vogel?"

"They said he was just the same."

Phil's jaw set in a hard line. "If I only knew about that gun!" he said. "Someone must have put it in my pocket when the crowd was milling around. If only—"

"You didn't notice anything?"

"No! I didn't know anything about it until the policeman pulled it out. I never saw that gun before in my life. How could Lefty and Stroude have seen me shoot Vogel when I didn't have a gun?"

"They didn't see you. Of course, they didn't. But they're friends of Vogel's and they've been spreading the story that you and Vogel had had trouble before. Oh, Phil, there must be others who saw what happened, who know you didn't do it!"

"There's Joe—I don't know about the others. It all happened in such a hurry. I can't remember exactly. I was waiting for Joe, and then Vogel came along and said some things that made me sore. We started fighting and some of the others got into it. Vogel landed a couple of hard ones and I swung back on him—and all of a sudden I heard the gun. Vogel looked sort of funny and just slumped down to the sidewalk. Then, the next thing I knew, Stroude had grabbed me and he was yelling to everybody that I'd done it, that I'd shot Vogel. I kept trying to tell them I hadn't but nobody would listen. I tried to tell the cop—"

A voice from the door interrupted. "You'll have to go now, Miss Henderson. Time's up."

"All right."

Gale got to her feet. Once more her arms went around her brother, pressing him close. "Everything's going to be alright," she assured him. "Everything's going to be all right!"

She went out into the corridor and opened a door. Steve was waiting for her. Gale took one look at him and hurried forward. She said, "Oh, Steve, what's happened. Is it Vogel—?"

Michigan To Bar Students Refusing To Defend Country

LANSING, Mich., April 16.—The state of Michigan threatened Monday to close the doors of its public educational institutions to students who refuse to bear arms for their country in case of war. Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald said he favors the barring of student agitators from the campuses of the University of Michigan, Michigan State College and other state schools.

YOU'LL RUSH HEAD FIRST for the NEW SPRING HATS at the LOCAL STORES

MRS. McDONALD SHOWS SWISS STRAW MODELS

From many lands come the beautiful materials out of which fashion weaves her fabric of many colors. Looking in at Mrs. H. C. McDonald's Millinery Shop, which you are sure to do in the search for spring headgear, you will find say touches from home and abroad. But from lovely, cosmopolitan, decorative Switzerland, comes the new Swiss straw. It is shiny and loosely woven to make a glamorous hat for spring and summery days, woven in mat fashion into the new larger models that are so good this season. You will find it in Gainsborough models in black brown and blue.

MODERN COIFFURE HIGHER, NEARER TO FOREHEAD

It seems that the popular hairdress is going up and up—not only up, but forward too.

So this Spring if you want people to "Oh!" and "Ah!" about the devastating beauty and chic of your tresses, you will see to it that you make your appointment with Muckleston's Beauty experts—They have made special efforts in the detail of creating the exact copy of coiffures that are the rage in Paris and New York.

The front and forward movement that is so conspicuous in the smart Hairdress of this season is an innovation that parallels the trend of new hats. With 1935 bonnets popping upward and forward it is only natural that Muckleston's would specialize in coiffures to enhance the new styles.

NEW YORK LADY WEAR

The importance of brimmed silhouettes, the liking for stitched taffeta and the continued favor for felts are all indicated at the millinery display at the New York Ladywear.

Forward and off-face brims, pill-box toques and berets are "what they are wearing" in New York, evidently, and seem just as likely to be the vogue in Edmonton. Bretons come again as easily the most popular sailor and there is a very forward brim in the Schiaparelli manner.

DARLING HATS

The interior of the new Darling Hat Shoppe looks like the very brightest of spring days—all shades in baku, alligator skin, cellophane, toyo, Neora, Sisols, pedaline and milan straws are waiting to be picked up for milady's latest whimsy.

Breton sailors are especially good this year—and brims are "quite the thing." Stitched taffeta, with navy blue leading, is very prominent for wear with the new spring tailleur.

Brown is having a wide range in the newest models, and for later spring or early summer wear natural coarse weave straws are coming in extremely wide brims. The Darling shop features a new price range unique in Edmonton.

EASTER AT THE ARMY AND NAVY

Bedecked with tiny flowers, banded or bowed with shiny ribbon, effectively with amusing fins and quills—the important collection of Easter models at the Army and Navy millinery department have drawn their inspiration from the latest Paris designers.

Here the thrifty fashion seeker will find unusual charm in a wide tempting selection of fine straws, felts and silk fabrics. Off the face styles are prominent —dramatic brim treatments in straws for afternoon and evening wear — tucked and crushed crowns too, are among the fine selection.

WOODWARD'S SHOW LATEST SPRING MODELS

The new Neora straw—which, incidentally looks something like a finely pressed milanese, the cellophane straw, the ballibuntle, and any variety of other rough straws make up the new lines of Breton sailors, "cattle" and elongated brims seen in the Molyneux and Agnes models at Woodward's.

Contrasts in the navy models is formed by delicate pink, gray or beige linings. Bright turquoise appears both with black and brown. Flowers are used extensively in trimming, and are especially alluring as they cluster under the brims of the new "pokes."

Soft, tweeded fabrics there are —and others of straw interwoven with angora wool in any shade, to go with tweed or other sports clothes.

The smart Joan felts, in which Woodward's specialize, are on swagger lines with tucked crowns—and the very newest felt note is "The Continental," with its sweeping wide brim.

Probe Rules No 'Leak' On Hydro Measure

BOND SELLING RUSH DUE TO SMART BROKER

Commissioner Investigates But Finds No Evidence Of Advance "Leak"

TORONTO, April 16.—Investigating charges in connection with the Ontario government's intention to terminate Quebec power contracts, J. M. Godfrey, Ontario securities commissioner, found no "leak" had taken place, according to his report tabled in the legislature last night by Attorney General A. W. Roebuck.

Col. W. H. Price (Cons., Toronto-Parkdale) had charged a "leak" during his address in the power bill debate and demanded an investigation.

"RATHER PECULIAR"

"It did look rather peculiar," Col. Price commented last night referring to sales of the bonds made before the government's intention to terminate the contracts. Col. Price had nothing further to say in the matter.

"As a general result of the investigation the commission finds there was no information given out by the government or anybody connected with the government," Mr. Godfrey reported "that it is the opinion in financial circles that there was no leak and that the policy of the government was an extremely well kept secret."

BONDS SOLD SHORT

Col. Price, after he made his first charge in the matter, stated Gatineau bonds were sold "short" on the New York curb before Mr. Roebuck started his hydro speech in the legislature.

Early in the investigation, record of these sales were found in three brokerage offices, the commissioner said. The seller was summoned before the commission and under oath stated that he was the seller not only of the $20,000 bonds mentioned but of a further amount of $10,000. He stated he had received no information from any member of the government or from any other person, but that he had made these short sales on his own judgment as the result of speeches made by the members of the present government at the time of the Ontario election.

ANTICIPATED ACTION

He believed there would be some action taken by the present government in connection with these bonds and as a result sold them short.

"There was, however, very substantial selling of these bonds as the result of the speeches made in the legislature and the attorney-generals series of broadcasts," the commissioner reported. "It was discovered one of the banks had, on the 29th and 30th of March and 1st of April, sold $350,000 of these power bonds."

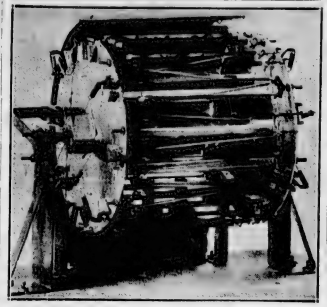
Police Fusion In Emergencies Bill Given "Hoist"

TORONTO, April 16.—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn said last night Attorney General A. W. Roebuck's bill to centralize Ontario police in the time of emergency would be held over until the fall session of the legislature.

Reason for shelving the measure, Mr. Hepburn said, was to it could be given further consideration.

The bill was designed to put all police in the province under one authority during a special emergency, such as a kidnapping or robbery.

Vegreville Man Invents Thermo - Motor Machine



A machine—the thermo-motor—invented by Z. Goshko, 33-year-old Vegreville Ukrain an, may revolutionize the whole field of power and combustion engine activities if the principles involved in the invention can be applied commercially.

Mr. Goshko demonstrated his machine at The Bulletin yesterday. The principle underlying the invention is the utilization of heat energy to create motive power by means of gravity and the forces generated through the expansion and contraction of metals. All that was necessary to create motion on the machine presented by Mr. Goshko was the application of heat from three small gasoline burners. Instant motion was secured when heat was applied. Instant stoppage of motion when heat turned off.

CONTRACTING BANDS

The machine is a spool-like structure of discs mounted on bearing stands by a rotatable shaft. From the edge of the discs are stretched expanding and contracting bands of metal. One end of the band is connected to the disc by a screw, the other by a motion producing lever.

When heat is applied to one side of the mechanism the metal bands on that side expand and free the weights on the levers to move outward through the agency of coil springs. This throws the weight off centre and rotation is produced. When the expanders pass out of the heat area they cool and contract with the result that the weights pull inwardly continuing the power motive.

APPLY FOR PATENT

Application was made to the patents office, Ottawa, and leave to apply for patent was granted by that office.

Mr. Goshko spent two years experimenting with different metals before hitting off the perfect combination for his model. He is continuing his research work, and hopes to be able to place the machine on the market as an economical power producer.

CORBIN COAL STRIKE BROKEN

CORBIN, B.C., April 16.—Mining is scheduled to get underway today at the Corbin collieries after preliminary work in the way of loading got started Monday in the face of a demonstration of 200 men, women and children.

No move was made by the marchers to interfere with the men at work, and there was no violence.

Inspector John Macdonald, of the British Columbia provincial police force has about 60 police with him to see that peace is maintained.

A strike has been going on at the mine for some time following refusal of the management to reinstate members of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada, an organization which the management has refused to recognize.

Boat Capsizes; Drowns Fifteen

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 16.—Fifteen persons drowned Monday when a river boat carrying more than 80 persons capsized in the Rio Magdalena near Barranquilla.

Real Santa Claus Is Seriously Ill At Santa Claus

SANTA CLAUS, Ind., April 16—The man who has proved to thousands of expectant kiddies throughout the world that there really is a Santa Claus was given a 50-50 chance to live here today.

For years James F. Martin, genial 60-year-old postmaster of this diminutive settlement, has relayed Christmas gifts and requests to Canada, Palestine, Egypt, the Philippines, England and to the most of the United States.

Saturday, while at work in the common-place shop which has enlivened Yule festivities every year, Martin was stricken with a paralytic stroke.

WELDER KILLED IN TANK BLAST

YORKTON, Sask., April 16.—Injured when a 10,000-gallon gasoline storage tank he was welding exploded, Charles Buckland died in hospital here. The eight-foot lid of the tank was hurled hundreds of feet into the air by the explosion.

OHIO CONVICT WALKOUT IS NEW STRIKE

Passive Revolt Calls For More Liberal Parole System

COLUMBUS, O., April 16.—A fourth of Ohio penitentiary's 4,200 convicts walked away from their machines in four prison workshops Monday in "passive" revolt against policies of the state parole board. There was no violence.

Warden James C. Woodard, three months in office, tapped the institution's "grapevine" communication system last night in a search for ringleaders of a "strike" for more parole.

A thousand working inmates laid down their tools and refused to work in the paint shop, cotton mills, woollen mill, and automobile license plate shops. Unsuccessful efforts to induce the convicts to return to their tasks, Woodard ordered them marched to their cells.

"They went quietly and peacefully with no disturbance of any kind," he said.

"The prisoners felt the parole board should take a more liberal attitude toward paroles," he explained.

BLACKMAILERS PICKED UPON WRONG WIFE

Innocent, She Confides in Husband Who Traps Criminals

NEW YORK, April 16.—Detectives Monday arrested two alleged blackmailers as they strode away from the home of George U. Harris, stock broker, with a book supposedly containing $5,000, the price demanded of Mrs. Harris for withholding a faked photograph from her husband.

Police said a similar letter had been sent to Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell, the former Doris Duke, tobacco heiress, last fall. The demand in her case was $23,000 but was not paid, police said.

Mrs. Harris, daughter of Leroy Baldwin, president of the Empire Trust Company, received a letter April 8 containing a faked photograph showing her in a compromising position and demanding $5,000 if she desired it withheld from her husband. She at once showed the letter to her husband and police were notified. Today a police trap followed. The prisoners identified themselves as Arthur Ulisse, 24, a laborer, and Dominick Pilotti, 25, also a laborer.

SLOT MACHINES BANNED JULY 1

Slot machines will be prohibited in this province as from July 1 next, according to a decision of the legislature sitting in committee of the whole assembly on Monday.

Strong representations were made by various members to have the date set at either July 31 or Aug. 1.

In opposition to these dates were members who contended that if this were done there would be an influx into this province of slot machines from Saskatchewan, as the prohibition date becomes effective there as from July 1. In the end the government decided to have the ban come into effect in this province on July 1.

The enabling bill was thus reported.

$14,090 SUIT IS DISMISSED

Finding there had been misrepresentation by both parties to the action Mr. Justice Ives Monday dismissed without costs to the plaintiff the $14,090 suit of Annie Buchan against James L. Fulton.

The woman claimed that Fulton had traded her a farm in the Athabaska district, on which foreclosure proceedings had been taken for property in Calgary and Drumheller.

Fulton on the other hand contended for approximately the same amount alleging there were debts against the Calgary and Drumheller properties that Mrs. Buchan failed to disclose at the time the deal was made.

Arthur McLennan acted for the plaintiff and F. Armour Ford was counsel for Fulton.

C.N. Asks To Abandon Lines In North Alberta

OTTAWA, April 16.—The Board of Railway Commissioners has before it 24 applications from the Canadian National railways and four from the Canadian Pacific railway for abandonment of branch lines in five provinces: New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia.

The Canadian National asked leave to abandon almost 160 miles of branches in Quebec.

In Alberta the Canadian National asked leave to abandon 37.2 miles of track on branches running between Peace River Junction (Mile 110) and Dawson Junction (Mile 0146) a distance of 32.6 miles; Foothills (Mile 5053) and Lovett (Mile 5053) a distance of 4.6 miles.

Lone Dawson Medico Is Fighting Bad Epidemic

DAWSON, Y.T., April 16—Dawson last night counted one death from pneumonia as the city's lone physician, Dr. Herbert Nunn, fought to avert a spread of the disease in the wake of an epidemic of measles and influenza which developed last week.

Schools, churches and theatres are closed and one-half of the population has to carry on public services while the other half is quarantined.

With no new cases of measles reported over the week-end, that epidemic was believed to have reached its peak but several cases of pneumonia have developed among influenza patients. With the one exception, however, they have not proved to be serious.

Meanwhile Dr. Nunn is being assisted by volunteer nurses who have taken the places of the regular hospital staff, most of whom are down with measles or flu. In addition to the epidemics the doctor has had a number of major accident and maternity cases to handle.

Sentenced For Life

BUDAPEST, April 16.—Mrs. Stephan Bognar was condemned Monday to life imprisonment at hard labor for having murdered her husband, whose body she cut into bits in an attempt to hide the crime.

Arbor Day May 13

Announcement was made on Tuesday by Premier R. G. Reid that Arbor Day had been fixed as Monday, May 13. This will be the first Monday following the Kings Silver Jubilee celebrations of May 6.

LOVE-CRAZED STUDENT KILLS BOTH PARENTS

Poured Gasoline Over Bodies, Then Set Fire To Home

WOODWARD, Okla., April 16.—Russell Holey, 13-year old farm student, was charged Monday with shooting his parents to death and firing their home southeast of here after pouring gasoline over the bodies. He entered a formal plea of not guilty and his preliminary hearing was set for April 19.

F. G. Davis, state crime bureau operative, said "a love affair" which the parents' objections to had apparently resulted in the death.

EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A Fascinating Pastime With ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Sc.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Not all moral questions can be answered with absolute scientific accuracy, but no decision as to what is morally right is possible without science. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

1.—Dr. George J. Dudycha, psychologist of Ripon College, tested a large group of college freshmen, men and women, as to their belief or disbelief in 25 popular notions, such as various types of fortune telling—palm reading, astrology etc., also character reading at night, birth marks, tapping on wood and the like. He found more women than men swallowed these popular fallacies—all long since exploded by science. This accords with the fact that more women than men belong to cults of all kinds which have been discredited by science.

2.—Yes, in many instances. This is one of the largest problems facing the New Deal. Miss Anna Pollitzer, of the National Women's Party, recently pointed out that: "Unequal pay for men and women for the same work harms both men and women workers. Where women work for less than men the employers prefer having them, thus throwing men out of work, and where States set up minimum wage laws for women and children we find men under-bidding the women for jobs." It thus works apparently in a vicious circle. It is a hard problem but demands solution.

3.—In a fine little book, "An Essay on Conversation" designed to help the long-tired, Henry W. Taft, wise New York school man, shows the art of conversation can be immensely improved by any one. He shows what makes good and interesting conversation, suggests numerous interesting phases of life to talk about but above all stresses that neither the wall-flower nor the arguer, contractor, chronic story teller, or egotist, are ever good talkers. The chief way to improve is to listen eagerly with genuine interest to the other fellow and think about his interests—him at the heart of the art.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

—By William Ferguson

BY measuring the polarization of moonlight, scientists found that the moon's surface could be made of only certain types of material, of which pumice was one. Pumice then was tried in various tests, and met all successfully . . . and it is a logical conclusion, since pumice is of volcanic origin, and the moon is pock-marked with volcanic craters.

Ancient Polish-German Enmity Is Flaring Anew

SILESIA IS HOTBED OF BITTER HATE

Demonstrations Flare With Violence in "Corridor" Territory

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, April 16—Violent demonstrations against Nazi Germany flared over the week-end in the Polish corridor, leaving one Nazi dead and many others wounded.

Unsullied was felt, although officials said last night passions which flared into violence had cooled.

Anti-German feeling broke out in the Baltic and Pomorze Silesian coalfields, while several demonstrations were reported in upper Silesia where Poles allegedly urged by officials are up in arms against German minority schools.

CITIZENS EMBOLDENED

The favorable Polish showing in the Danzig elections last Sunday apparently emboldened residents of the Free City to manhandle Germans for "attempting to Germanize us."

Fritz Broen, Nazi who was wounded in week-end fighting at Katz, Pomorise, died Monday. Many others were seriously hurt as disorders broke out in half-a-dozen towns in the neighborhood of Danzig over Sunday.

CHILDREN INFLAMED

A dispatch from Krolewske, upper Silesia, said children were urged to rebel against their parents, and German mothers were called "sows and dogs" in anti-German hate demonstrations throughout the region.

Reports in Warsaw said strong Polish antagonism over Nazi attempts to award German military crosses to former German army men living in Poland also brought about the disturbances.

2,000 YEARS OF HATE

Behind it, it was pointed out, lies 1,000 years of enmity between the Poles and Germans along the Baltic coast where Poland now holds the provinces of Pomorze and Poznan, given to her by the Versailles treaty to afford access to the sea. The territory cuts off East Prussia from the rest of Germany, and has been a sore spot in continental relations ever since the war.

Programs For Jobless Youth Under Survey

WASHINGTON, April 16 — A nation-wide survey was launched Monday by the federal office of education to determine the extent of community programs for the benefit of young people between 16 and 24 who are not going to school.

Commissioner John W. Studebaker said 12,000,000 children had reached the employable age since the depression began, and that many were out of work.

GET MARQUIS SEED

ERSKINE, April 15.—A car of pure Marquis wheat was unloaded at the station Saturday through the Peol elevator. Only 20 bushels were allowed each farmer, but it was thought that would be sufficient to supply seed for next year, providing there was a yield. This could be procured through the municipality and many farmers took advantage of that means of procuring some good clean seed. Oats also are being distributed through the Peol elevators and may be procured in the same way. The Marquis seed was 90 cents per bushel and the seed oats 47 cents.

Contest For Kiddies

The Edmonton Bulletin in co-operation with the Capitol Theatre is offering this great opportunity to Edmonton kiddies to win real cash prizes.

Cut out and color the picture and send it, along with your name and address, to the Shirley Temple Contest Editor, c-o The Edmonton Bulletin, on or before April 18.

The contest is open to all school children up to and including grade 10. Get busy kiddies, here's a real chance to win one of the following cash prizes; First $3; second $2; third $1 and fourth and fifth 50 cents each.

Gotham Nudists Present

Modest Orchestra Appears Tight-Clad

Show, Party, at $2.20 Per

NEW YORK, April 16.—The traditional costuming of the theatre was thrown to the winds last night, quite literally, when the nudist theatre guild offered its initial performance before a New York audience with "The Girl From Childs."

The effect, to say the least, was highly novel. The nudist theme is attended not alone on the stage but by the serving of "nudist champagne cocktails" between acts, a "nudist" orchestra, and an after-the-show midnight bathing party at an hotel pool—all for the price of a $2.20 admission.

The first two acts of the play are laid in the library of the Stuyvesant Wood home in Washington, and the actors go through their roles with a minimum of clothing—but still clothing. The last act switches to a nudist camp, and under the diffusing glow of blue lights, the cast goes in true nudist colony fashion.

The nudist orchestra, however, made some concession to custom by modestly donning tights.

FRANCO-ITALIAN AIR AGREEMENT

PARIS, April 16—France and Italy will begin negotiations on the proposed four-power or five-power air pact early next month when General Victor Denain, air minister, will go to Rome to discuss the terms of the pact with Premier Benito Mussolini, it was announced last night.

The French cabinet meets today to hear Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin's account of the conferences at Stresa with the premiers of Great Britain and Italy.

HENRY HAS FAST TRIP IN CULVERT

TROCHU, April 15.—Falling into the swollen creek above the Red Hills in the Trochu valley, Friday afternoon, Henry Beierle was washed through the 150-foot culvert but escaped with a chilly drenching.

Beierle was watching the flooded creek pour into the culvert, which is five feet in diameter, when he slipped and fell into the swift current. He traversed the length of the culvert in record time, but was able to pull himself up the bank at the other side of the hill.

HOUDE SAYS FARMER VOTE HOLDS VICTORY

MONTREAL, April 16—Because the Dominion parliament and the legislatures of the nine provinces are "under the thumb" of the farmer vote and because the balance of Canada's population weighs in favor of urban centres, all electoral maps will have to be redrawn, Major Camillien Houde stated in an address here Monday. A louder voice would have to be given cities and towns where there is the "least social stability," he declared.

Smuggling Trial Nearing End

MONTREAL, April 16—Address by counsel for the Crown in the preliminary hearing of eight men on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Dominion government of $5,000,000 through the smuggling of liquor alcohol to rural Ireland today when Phillippe Brais, K.C., counsel for E. S. Blair concluded his argument.

J. J. Penverne, K.C., crown prosecutor, will reply in rebuttal today and will be followed by James Cranksha, K.C., acting with Mr. Penverne for the crown.

Scouts Invited To Polish Fete

OTTAWA, April 16.—An invitation to Canadian Boy Scouts to attend a two weeks jamboree by Polish Scouts this summer on the 25th anniversary of scouting in that country has been received by the governor general, as chief scout for Canada.

E. L. Lamont Says Drift and Debt Is Ruining Province

FAIRVIEW, April 18.—The present policy of drift and going further into debt is driving the province from bad to worse, E. L. Lamont, Liberal candidate for Peace River provincial constituency told a largely attended meeting of the Fairview Liberal association Friday night. He gave an address on the needs of the Peace country and stated he would do his best to further necessary reforms if elected.

Page Rideout, who will seek the federal Liberal nomination, spoke of the potentialities of the Peace country, given a coast outlet. The necessary 500 miles of railway through the Rockies could be built at an expenditure of $18,000,000, he said.

Onion Strikers Line Highways In Strong Picket

LAREDO, Texas, April 16—Five Texas rangers joined local officers last night in preserving peace and keeping highways open, as onion field workers' strike threatened to ruin a large spring crop.

Nearly 2,000 union workers, demanding higher wages and better working conditions, have been lining the highways near here in picketing operations.

Railway Board Will Administer Crossing Funds

OTTAWA, April 16—The grade-crossing elimination fund, to which the government will contribute $1,000,000 under the public works bill, tabled Monday in the house of commons, is administered under authority of the board of railway commissioners and the distribution is subject to the board's decisions.

Ordinarily when application is made to allocate a portion of the fund to certain work, the board determines the proportion which the fund will contribute. This varies according to circumstances. As a rule, the board pays 50 per cent of the whole, dividing the other 50 per cent between the railway affected and the municipality in which the crossing is situated.

Urges More Complete Study Of Policies

LONDON, April 16.—C. T. Te Water, High Commissioner for South Africa, said last night he believed the foreign policies of the nations of the British commonwealth had not been studied sufficiently by Britain or by the countries of the Empire as a group.

Addressing delegates to the Imperial Press Conference, he said: "We have not studied the problem of our relations with the outside world sufficiently closely. The world should be inoculated with the germ of peace rather than overcome as at present with the tragedy of war."

City's Marine Namesake Ready For Lake Service

This city's marine namesake, the express package freighter, S.S. Edmonton, of Canada Steamship Lines is being fitted out for Great Lakes service at the start of the new season of navigation Capt. Roy Anderson will be on the bridge, according to C. S. L. fleet appointments announced this week and J. R. Naudie is chief engineer. The appointments were made public by George S. Crossley, local representative.

Operating the largest inland water fleet in the world, Canada Steamship Lines has given distinctively Canadian names to nearly all its freight and passenger vessels from the giant Lemoyne, world record grain carrier to the Rapids' Prince on the St. Lawrence. The S.S. Edmonton and her sister ships operate from the head of the Great Lakes to the sea, including the famed Saguenay route which Jacques Cartier sailed exactly 400 years ago this summer.

The C. S. L. package freight fleet including the Edmonton, connects with ocean traffic at the port of Montreal as well as linking the St. Lawrence river and lower lake ports with the head of the lakes, creating the lake-to-coast route to western Canada.

Creeks, Sloughs Filled Promise Good Crop Year

TROCHU, April 16.—Creeks are higher this spring than for many years and many of the old sloughs, which have been dry for many seasons, are partly filled up. Rapid melting of last Thursday and Friday, with the ground frozen, caused the water to run away instead of soaking in, much more than have been almost dry flooded over their banks. Farmers would rather see the water soak into the land than fill in the pot-holes but it is recalled that the best crop years have always seen the sloughs filled.

Bridge In Cabaret

LONDON, April 16.—Problem for bridge playing with dinner as the latest attraction of a West End cabaret.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

A DOZEN pairs of boots, all owned by Cecil B. De Mille, are saving Hollywood's reputation.

Farm Loan Act Is Stationary

OTTAWA, April 16—Amendments made by the senate to the Farm Loan act came before the house of commons last night and made no progress as opposition members protested against hasty acceptance.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, reminded the house if the bill did not become law before adjournment on Wednesday farmers would be unable to obtain loans for six weeks or two months.

Bessboroughs Leave Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, April 16—The Viscount Bessborough and Lady Bessborough bade farewell to the west last night.

Early Monday Lord Bessborough confessed with local bodies on the public welfare field, and later addressed a joint luncheon of the Canadian club of Winnipeg and the Winnipeg Canadian club. The viscount train left for the east at six

E. W. BEATTY UNDER ATTACK IN COMMONS

Ontario Liberal Flays C.P. R. Chief for Discrediting C.N.R. System

OTTAWA, April 16—E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was described in the House of Commons today as Canada's public enemy number one for his attacks on the Canadian National system. F. G. Sanderson (Lib., South Perth) supplied the expression, calling on the government to stop the propaganda or combat it.

The western Ontario Liberal claimed Mr. Beatty was attempting to poison the minds of the people against their own railway and to depreciate it in the dramatic event it really could gobble it up and operate the two systems in Canada.

"SPEAKING VENDETTA"

Minister of Railways, R. J. Manion said he could not instruct Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the C.N.R. Board of Trustees, to make speeches but he himself had made three speeches recently against Mr. Beatty's statements. If misstatements about the C.N.R. were made someone should correct them but it was distasteful to engage in Public Action and Mr. Beatty should cover the country in a speaking vendetta.

NO LINE OF POLICY

"My own opinion," Dr. Manion said "was the sooner the immigration question is settled the better. Beatty's arguments these days on great body of public opinion for or in the country."

Mr. Beatty was conducting a systematic campaign, Mr. Sanderson claimed, to attack the credit of the C.N.R. He believed the government should stop him because, as the head of the C.N.R.'s chief competitor, should be the last one to attack it.

Military Cost $40,629,068 In The Last Five Years

OTTAWA, April 16—In the four years from April 1, 1930 to April 1, 1934 inclusive the government spent $40,629,068 on military purposes, says a return tabled Monday in the house of commons. In the same period $21,345,000 was spent on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Notice to Creditors and Claimants

IN THE ESTATE OF ANNIE HUTTON KEMP, late of Mirror Landing, in the Province of Alberta, Widow, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons having claims upon the estate of the above named ANNIE HUTTON KEMP, who died on the 10th day of October, 1934, are required to file with THE WESTERN TRUST COMPANY, Tegler Building, Edmonton, by the 20th day of May, 1935, a full statement, duly verified, of their claims and of any securities held by them and that after that date the Administrator will distribute the assets of the Deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which notice has been so filed or which have been brought to its knowledge.

DATED at Edmonton, Alberta, this 6th day of April, A.D., 1935.

GIROUX & FRASER, Solicitors for THE WESTERN TRUST COMPANY, Administrator of the Estate of Annie Hutton Kemp, Deceased.

Livestock

By Dominion Livestock Branch

EDMONTON STOCKYARDS, April 16—Receipts today were 45 cattle, 10 calves, 21 hogs and 5 sheep.

There were insufficient arrivals of fresh cattle to make or establish a market. The bulk of trading was a clean-up affair. Salesmen quoted steady prices.

Following are current quotations:—

BUTCHER CATTLE—
Good-choice fed calves	$5.50 to $6.50
Fair to medium	4.50 to 5.50
Good to choice steers	5.50 to 6.50
Fair to medium	4.50 to 5.50
Common to fair	2.50 to 4.50
Good to choice heifers	4.00 to 5.00
Common to medium	2.00 to 4.00
Good to choice cows	2.75 to 3.50
Common to medium	1.50 to 2.50
Canners and cutters	.75 to 1.25
Bulls	1.50 to 2.00
STOCKERS AND FEEDERS—
Good steers and heifers	$3.50 to $4.50
Plain kinds	2.00 to 3.00
VEAL CALVES—
Good to choice calves	$4.00 to $5.00
Common kinds	2.50 to 3.50

Hogs were firmer with bidding up to noon being $7.25 on trucked-in bacons.

With no sheep to make a market, prices were quoted steady.

AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, April 16.—Cattle 360; choice steers 7.00. Calves 75; choice vealers 6.00. Hogs 150; bacons 7.60; sows 6.50. Sheep 70; no early sales.

NARROW PRICE SWINGS MINE MART TUESDAY

TORONTO, April 16—Narrow price swings marked the performance of the Toronto mining share market today. The drop in the price of bar silver unsettled the market for the white metal shares and the base metals reacted sympathetically.

Base Metals Corporation weakened about 7 points, while Pend Oreille had the support of a rumor that the plant would be re-opened immediately and the price climbed 12 to 13 cents. Noranda held around $38.25, off about half a dollar.

Among the silver leaders Eldorado reduced an early loss of 15 cents and recessions were also halved for Bear Exploration, Nipissing and the penny issues.

STOCK MARKET PUSHES HIGHER

NEW YORK, April 16.—Stock market specialties, with scattered chemicals, oils and industrials, pushed up in today's session after early profit-taking had been absorbed. Selectivity ruled throughout the rather quiet proceedings. The close was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 720,000 shares.

Whitney Letter

NEW YORK, April 16.—An active rising week-end market has afforded ample opportunity to advantageously complete the liquidation of commitments in one's long account that were being held on a trading basis.

Yesterday's session on the surface was decidedly favorable and make no mistake about it. The ability of the market to maintain the recently established high level of prices, despite the disappointing news that the railroad pension decision of the supreme court would not be handed down for at least two weeks, was grounds for encouragement for further extensive advance.

The grounds for encouragement that the market supplied by its action yesterday was that any forthcoming reaction would not be extensive. In other words, the market had contributed considerable in the way of evidence that the next major move is up.

I do not think it advisable to purchase stocks here and now, and I think it well to anticipate a reaction. The "late movers" that have reason to move up did practically nothing but churn or back down moderately.

The market has now advanced to a point where sizable offerings of stock overhead should restrict and I believe will restrict any broad advancing movement.

Dominion Tar And Chemical Co., Ltd.

Statements having been circulated in western Canada to the effect that I had induced many shareholders of Alberta Wood Preserving Company Limited to exchange their shares in that company for shares of Dominion Tar and Chemical Company Limited, and had since sold out my own holdings in the latter company, I take this means of advising all interested persons that as of April 5th, 1935, my holdings of shares in Dominion Tar and Chemical Company Limited are as follows: Preference shares one thousand and seventy compared to eight hundred and twenty held by all members of the board of directors; common shares, eleven thousand, five hundred and sixty, compared to fifteen thousand, nine hundred and eighteen held by all members of the board of directors. My holdings are the same today. (Signed)

WHEAT GAINS FRACTIONALLY ON 'PEG MART

WINNIPEG, April 16—Wheat prices advanced fractionally on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today as speculators rather casually re-entered the market. Values closed ½-⅝ cent higher, May at 89¾ and July 90½-⅝ cents.

Values generally were firm at fractionally higher levels from the opening.

Winter wheat prospects in the United States continuing unfavorable, Chicago scored gains of almost 1½ cents at one time. Liverpool, recovering from earlier setbacks, closed comparatively firm, only ¼-½d lower. Buenos Aires was up 1¼ cents at noon.

Bossing Baseball Clubs Starting New Pennant Races Today

PATS and PANS by —BILL LEWIS—

Down East in the big towns of the continent, major league baseball teams break away from the barrier today in a pair of races that will end way next fall when September melts into October. . . . In eight different cities, there will be as many opening-day ceremonies and—the owners hope—record opening-day crowds. . . . Few professional sports carry with them more pageantry than big-time baseball and the clubs will get away on the new season with all the usual frills and trappings provided the weatherman doesn't interfere.

Right now, and, as a matter of fact, for some time past the "experts" have been trying to guess just which teams will be meeting in the world series next October. . . . Most of them seem to figure it's a toss-up among Cleveland, New York and Detroit in the American League, with New York and St. Louis the most-favored choices in the National. . . . Personally, this recorder likes Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals in their respective circuits.

Commercial Grads wasted no time in polishing off Vancouver Province in their series for the Western Canada ladies' basketball title. . . . Last night they marked up their second straight triumph over the hoopsters from the Pacific shores and now it's a case of "on to Windsor and the Canadian championship." They looked plenty strong in the two games with the Coast aggregation and Windsor will have to be a super-team if they hope to take the title Grads have won so often.

Incidentally, many fans now are calling Noel MacDonald the best player ever to wear a Grad uniform. . . . That's a broad sort of statement for many brilliant performers have carried the Black and Gold colors of the champions. . . . However, she's a wonderful player and you'd have a hard time naming many—or any—who were better. . . . It's something that's impossible to decide, so there's not much use trying to figure it out. . . . Every person has their own ideas on things like that.

You'll notice elsewhere in these columns that Eddie Wenatob chalked up another win in the Old Country last night. He finished a 2nd1 named George Brennan in four rounds of fight that was scheduled to go 15. . . . This Brennan couldn't have been any pushover as he formerly held the amateur light-heavyweight championship of England. . . . Eddie will probably be due for another headline bout in London soon.

Halifax Wolverines successfully turned aside the first bid of Port Arthur Bearcats last night as the Allan Cup finals started in the city by the Atlantic. . . . Wolverines won the opener only by a 5-2 margin, though, so the West's hopes are not altogether dimmed. . . . They go into action again Wednesday and Westerners will be pulling for the Bearcats to get up on even terms.

On January 1, 1933, there were 5,337 waterpower plants in the U. S.; their combined output of electrical power was approximately 15,817,900 horsepower.

GOLF FACTS

NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Percentages are as important in golf as in anything else when it comes to winning. In spite of this I've never seen them mentioned in articles on the game.

The man who knows percentages, particularly about his own game, always has a good chance of beating his opponent. The best example of this is Hal Sims, the bridge expert. He wins as often at golf as he does at bridge. He knows exactly what his average performance is with every club in the bag. The result is he never puts any pressure on himself by overrating his game.

Sims doesn't have to play his best to win, because his opponent invariably overrates himself. It doesn't matter if you shoot in the 90's, 80's or 70's, you should know your true average. Then you'll know your chances of making any shot.

EDDIE SHORE NAMED BEST HOCKEY STAR

Captures Hart Trophy, and Frank Boucher Wins Byng Trophy

MONTREAL, April 16.—Eddie Shore, main dynamo in the Boston Bruins powerhouse, last night was announced as winner of the Dr. David A. Hart trophy as the most useful player to his team in the National Hockey League season which has just closed.

For the seventh time in his career and for the third time in a row, Frank Boucher, star centre player has been awarded the Lady Byng trophy, given the player who best embodies the highest type of sportsmanship combined with superior playing ability.

Both awards were made by vote of sports writers in each city of the National Hockey League circuit.

HAD HARD FIGHT

Shore was voted the Hart trophy for the second time in his career. He had previously won it in 1932-33. This season he was given considerable opposition in the voting by Charlie Conacher, Toronto's big right winger, the league's leading scorer, who was a close second, and Art Coulter, Chicago defenceman.

Choice of Shore as winner of the trophy presented by the late Dr. David A. Hart of Montreal climaxes the big defenceman's return to forceful and brilliant hockey this season after a poor year in 1933-34 when the Ace Bailey incident threatened for a time to end his usefulness.

SCORING DEFENCEMAN

Besides being a major part of Boston's strong defence, Shore ended the season as the league's leading scorer among defencemen. He netted seven goals and provided team mates with 26 assists for a total of 33 points to finish 17th in the United States section.

Boucher, one of cleverest players hockey has ever known, went through the season with but two minutes beside the penalty timekeeper. His effectiveness is shown through his 13 goals, 32 assists for 45 points, third in the United States section.

Perry Denies Seeking Movie Career in U. S.

HOLLYWOOD, April 16.—Fred Perry, world tennis champion, has not turned professional "despite many rumors to the contrary," an acquaintance said here last night shortly after the net star left for New York enroute to his native England, where he will compete in tennis tournaments.

He departed after being informed his British actress-fiancee, Mary Lawson, said in London today she had broken their engagement because he intended to follow a movie career and live in Hollywood.

Before leaving, Perry talked with Perry T. Jones, secretary of the California Tennis Association, and told him he had no thought of jeopardizing his standing as an amateur player. Jones said Perry told him he had turned down proposals made by film companies.

MINOR BASEBALL TO OPEN TODAY

CHICAGO, April 16.—The same old American Association with a few changes here and there, joins baseball's opening parade today for the 34th time.

The same eight clubs that shoved off in 1902 will open their parks for what the club owners are certain will be a big success from every angle. If the weather behaves, a total attendance of around 40,000 is expected.

Columbus, 1934 champions, are all set for a crowd of 15,000 as they meet Indianapolis.

Minneapolis meets St. Paul and Kansas City opposes Milwaukee. Toledo's athletes stack up against Louisville.

John Mize Back With Cardinals

CINCINNATI, April 16.—Leaders of Cincinnati Reds ended days of uncertainty and conflicting reports about Johnny Mize with an official announcement that the $55,000 rookie will be turned back to St. Louis Cardinals, owing to a serious leg injury.

Page Quintet Wins Second Successive Game From Vancouver Province, 64-42

Champions in Form to Eliminate Coast Team and Earn Berth in Canadian Finals Against Windsor in East

By BILL LEWIS

Sweeping into the lead near the end of the opening quarter, Percy Page's Commercial Grade continued to apply the pressure as play progressed and finished with a 64-42 triumph over Vancouver Province at the Arena last night. It was their second straight victory in the best-of-three series and, as a result, the locals captured the Western Canada ladies' basketball championship. Grads had won Saturday in the opener by 63-24.

The perennial titleholders now advance into the Canadian finals against Windsor-Walkerville Alumnae and will leave this east this week to play the series in Windsor.

ONLY SMALL HOUSE SEES PERFORMANCE

Only a small turn-out of fans watched the champions turn in their second straight triumph. It was a discouraging crowd for the girls to play before but they did not let this fact lower their spirits or the calibre of their play and they really meant business every minute they were on the floor.

The Page machine showed every bit as much scoring punch as they did in the opener but they were faced with an improved Province team over the showing of Saturday night. The visitors were much stronger defensively than they had shown in the previous encounter, as is testified by the score sheet, which shows them scoring 18 more points than they did Saturday. They lacked the ability to hold the Grad power-house in check, though, and after the first quarter it was just a matter of seeing what the final score would be.

AGAIN TOP SCORER

As was the case when the teams first met, Noel MacDonald was again the individual scoring star of the struggle. The tall, slim young centre ace netted no less than 19 points, made up of nine field goals and one free throw. In addition to leading the scorers, she played a fine all-round game throughout.

Doris Neale, turning in one of her best recent performances at guard, also fared well on the attack with a total of 13 points.

Captain Margaret MacBurney and Babe Belanger formed a strong front-line due, the former getting 12 points and Babe 11.

Mary Code was the outstanding player for the visitors and scored 13 of her team's points. Betty Fasserini was the next most effective of the Province quintet with nine points to her credit.

The coast team suffered the most heavily from penalties, with two of them—Kay Annan and Edith Downie—being banished in the last quarter with four personals each.

In two of the four periods, the locals were closely pressed by the visitors from across the Rockies, these being the first and last sessions.

Vancouver led for most of the opening frame but Grads finally pulled up from behind to gain a 10-8 edge at the breather. During the second stanza, the Grads secured their greatest margin of the contest, outscoring Province by 18-9 to be leading 28-18 at the half-way mark.

With Doris Neale leading the way with eight points, Grads counted 17 against 11 for Vancouver in the third, but were pressed hard in the final session to only outscore their rivals 19-16.

At the ball between the third and fourth quarters, Mr. Holden, of the University hospital, presented Captain Margaret MacBurney with a hand-made banner for the Grads to carry with them on their coming trip east. He received a big hand from the crowd after the presentation.

Levinsky Victor Over Hans Birkie

DENVER, April 16.—King Levinsky of Chicago scored a technical knockout over Hans Birkie of Germany Monday night in the fourth round of their 10-round bout here. Levinsky weighed 197½, Birkie 197.

TORONTO, April 16. — Little Beaver, a wrestler who works the eastern Canadian and United States circuit, makes only one stipulation when he contracts for a bout. He demands police protection.

Gillman Named New President Softball Body

CALGARY, April 16.—J. W. Gillman, prominent Calgary sportsman, was elected president of the Alberta softball association at its first annual meeting here Saturday. Walter Hunter, Edmonton, was named first vice-president. Gillman succeeds Cecil V. Cope, who moved to Montreal after two years in the presidential chair.

Action of the amateur athletic union of Calgary in placing softball in the "pastime" class along with cricket, and soccer football, has led to an almost complete break between the A.A.U. of C. and the Softball Association, the meeting was told. While amateur cards will not be required for this year's play, simon-pure standards will be adhered to.

Playoff arrangements will be looked after by the same organizers as last year.

RED DEER PLANS BOXING TOURNEY

RED DEER, April 16.—Entries will close on Friday, April 19, instead of Monday, April 15, for the provincial interscholastic boxing championships to be held at Red Deer on April 22 and 23. This announcement was made over the week-end by the Red Deer Amateur Athletic Association in order to accommodate entries from some schools in the province where elimination contests have not been finished yet. Arrangements are shaping up well for the boxing show with about a hundred entries in already and more to come. The Rainbow Rinks will be used in the Red Deer Armoury instead of in the Crescent theatre as originally announced. Entries should be sent to D. J. W. Oke, Red Deer, at once.

Titular Badminton Tourney Planned

TORONTO, April 16.—Jack Purcell of Toronto, world's professional badminton champion and former Canadian amateur title-holder, announced last night that arrangements had been completed for a title match next month in Los Angeles against George F. (Jess) Willard. The date was set as May 9.

Purcell won the pro title two years ago by defeating J. F. Devlin, former all-England singles champion, now of Winnipeg. He has successfully defended it several times, twice defeating Willard, generally recognized as the best professional in the United States.

Sturdy College Quintet Defeats Montreal By 46-38 Score

WINDSOR, Ont., April 16.—Assumption College Purples broke away on the right foot in their challenge for the eastern Canada senior basketball title when they outscored the strong Notre Dame de Grace quintet of Montreal 46-38 in the first of a two-out-of-three-games series here last night. The second game is scheduled for tonight, and a third, if necessary, on Wednesday.

Notre Dame, weakened by the absence of their star forward, Len Hutton, battled the Purples right from the opening whistle and were always within hailing distance of their formidable rivals. The score at half time was 22-15 for Assumption.

Big guns in the Ontario champions' victory were "Moose" Rogin, rugged centre, and Captain "Scrubby" Aitchison, whose deadly shooting of field goals earned him the plaudits of the 2,000 or more present.

Standing out for the Montrealers and sparkling, despite the defeat, were Buster "Red" Allen and Lou Newton, of football fame, regular forwards of the visitors.

GLASGOW, April 16.—First division Scottish football games played Monday resulted as follows:

Hearts 2; Clyde 0.
Queen's Park 3; Hibernians 1.

Canadian Olympic Team Seeks Grant

OTTAWA, April 16—Executive officers of the Canadian Olympic committee waited Monday on Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes to ask for a Dominion grant toward expenses of the 1936 games in Germany where Canada and 55 other nations will be represented.

For the last games the federal treasury donated $10,000 towards the expenses of the Canadian team, Mr. Rhodes promised to take the request under consideration.

BARNEY ROSS WILL RESIGN AS CHAMPION

By EDWARD J. NEIL

NEW YORK, April 16.—Barney Ross, the little fellow who has ruled the lightweight for the past two years, decided he was too big for them, and so he turned in his resignation as champion of the 135-pounders to the New York state commission here.

This sudden move, first of its kind in light-weight title history, brought several swift developments. First, it relieved the dapper little Chicago walloper of the necessity of fighting Lou Ambers, a tough, rubber ball sort of warrior who has been pestering him for a chance at the lightweight crown for months, and who is designed as number one title challenger here.

MAY MEET CELLI

It paved the way for another really "big money" battle between Ross and Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight king from Vancouver, whom Barney outpointed last may to become a double champion, and then bowed to him in a return engagement in September. Mike Jacobs, promoter of the newly formed 20th century sporting club, says he has their rubber duel all arranged and will ask the boxing commission today for permission to stage it May 28 in the Polo grounds.

This brought forth a thundering herd of aspiring lightweights. Pending serious consideration of the situation at tomorrow's meeting of the commission, General John J. Phelan, chairman of the commission, said a match between Ambers and Tony Canzoneri, former titleholder, probably would get title recognition here.

In addition, such lightweights as Davey Day, Chicago, stablemate of Ross; the Italian veteran, Cleto Locatelli; Frankie Klick of San Francisco and Leonard Del Genio, belting New York youngster, all prepared to move in on the commission with their claims.

Detroit Defeats Vancouver by 4-3 To Take Series

VANCOUVER, April 16.—Wally Kilrea's sliding shot from the corner slapped into goalie Johnny Clark's stick and was deflected into the net to give Detroit Olympics a 4-3 overtime victory over Vancouver Lions in the fifth and deciding game of their "Little World Series."

Kilrea's deciding counter came after just under six minutes of the extra session had been played. In a fast and furious game Doc Patrick pulled off his goalie and sent six forwards on the ice in an effort to knot the count again, but for the two minutes before the final bell Normie Smith in the Olympics goal was unbeatable.

RUSH STARTS TO ATHABASCA MINERAL AREA

Prospectors and Miners Crowding Into Field Before Break-up

FORT CHIPEWYAN, Alta., April 16—The newly installed radio station at Beaverlodge was working only a few days when the operator was taken out with what appeared to be acute appendicitis, "Wop May" flew him to hospital Sunday. A new operator will be in before breakup.

An eleventh hour rush to Beaverlodge gold field is on in earnest by plane, dog team and on foot. Prospectors and miners are crowding in before the spring breakup.

Lake Athabasca Gold Syndicate crew went down in the Pilot Rubachuck of V. A. Transport.

NINE MORE CLAIMS

The Athabasca Beaverlodge Gold Mines, Ltd., have staked nine more claims east of original Yah group with a large body of porphyry showing free gold. This company is making extensive preparations for development work and are very optimistic about the whole field. It is estimated over a thousand men will be actively engaged in development work as soon as navigation permits transportation of heavy machinery.

The Saskatchewan government has reserved certain watersheds for hydro electric power adjacent to mining area. Piles of sawed lumber are waiting transportation across the lake. Quite a hard rock miners are calling the field the second Rand.

RAT CATCH GOOD

Considering the severity of weather the catch of rats has been very good exceeding that of last year.

The Big Eldorado plane from Cambridge Bay dropped down for gas at noon Monday piloted by Stan McMillan and Henry Hayter carrying a load of radium ore and Sergeant Major Earnshaw of R.C.S. as a passenger. Sergt. Major says the kick from an army mule is no more severe than that of a Delco backfire. He has a fractured lower jaw.

Silesia Governor Blamed For Riots

BERLIN, April 16.—Astonishment was expressed in semi-official sources last night that the Warsaw government did not move to halt Polish bitterness against Germans in the Polish corridor, since the countries have "a treaty of friendship."

Blame for the anti-German demonstrations was placed here on Michael Graczinski, governor of Upper Silesia, who was accused of backing a movement against German schools.

HI-School Lights ON SPORT

By CHARLES TODD

Those who took in the Grad-Province cage contest Saturday night were further pleased with an exhibition of folk dancing by the pupils of Miss Hegler of Victoria.

Another thing that pleased the high school sport ages was the performance of Noel MacDonald, the top scorer, and the debut of Helen Norburg and Etta Dann in their first big game at the Arena.

Helen and Etta have not been putting on the shiny show that many expected they would. Just wait until they get a bit more time under fire and they'll stand up with the best of them. Noel was the same way two years ago, now look at her!

With school ready to close down for the Easter holidays on Thursday, all of the institutes are itching back and taking it easy. There is not really enough time left to start spring training.

A few of the softball hopefuls were practising a bit of pitching and catching during those two balmy days last week but Saturday's blizzard put an end to that.

With the remarkable growth in the popularity of softball during the last few seasons, Major Kennedy may lend a helping hand to the followers by organizing an interschool league early in May.

If interschool softball is added to the spring program that will boost the total of sports to three, softball, baseball and soccer. Of these three baseball is the fan favorite.

No matter how hard you try boxing cannot be kept out of campus conversation. Just one week ago no one gave the mitt men a thought, now all of the institutes are all aghast and agog over the big tourney to come off in Red Deer.

The south side schools were rather backward in grabbing up the chance to train men but will probably work them hard this week to make up for it.

Although hockey faded into oblivion a month ago, basketball lingered for awhile, but it is now on it's way out. Most of the schools kept their teams at practice in case of a challenge but none ever came.

Strange as it may seem when basketball gets going everywhere else, it stops in the high schools. Spring is usual cage time for school teams, including the Grads, but in the schools it is the red light at the corner and one that stays red for many months.

Wolverine Sextet Takes Game Lead By Score of 3-2

Veteran Stars Take Early Lead to Hold Off Youthful Western Team; Play Again Wednesday

By GEORGE C. MURRAY

HALIFAX, April 16.—Swift and sure on the attack, Halifax Wolverines defeated Port Arthur Bearcats Monday night 3-2 in the opening encounter of the Canadian senior amateur finals.

The menacing westerners will be back looking for blood Wednesday. They need to win then or the Allan cup will remain in the east for the third consecutive year.

The old wolves, facing aggressive cub calts, struck early in the fray, piling up three goals in the first period and matching experience with speed to hold the advantage.

VETERAN WARRIOR LED WOLF ATTACK

Lanky Ed Ferguson, veteran warrior who has been with the Halifax pack since it was organized in 1928, drew first blood for the Wolverines and Art Jackie Nash again to regain the lead after Bill Thompson had tied the count. Just before the opening session ended, Ron Hudson boosted the lead with a hard drive from inside the blue line.

The brilliant Thompson, who caught Bubar unawares with a long drive in the third period, gave Bearcats their other marker early on the second on a clever pass from Alex Sinclair.

Averaging only 23 years of age, the Thomas Power western champions had 5,000 fans cheering for them as they battled old bands collected from all over the country. The first string snipers—Friday, Sinclair and Thompson—made the blood Halifax cheer took off color on repeated attacks but they failed to worry the veteran "Dad-dy" Bubar even when the Wolverines were short-handed.

THEY HAD SPEED

Their shots were wild, and the second line of Jimmy Hagarty, Arnold Deacon and Gus Sanberg experienced the same trouble. What they lacked in big confidence was speed. Time and again they went through the Halifax defence without being checked, only to miss the net or be stopped by Bubar.

Jackie Nash, 19-year-old goalie, just from the junior ranks, was a hero after Hudson's drive got by. He settled down and stayed the westerners from a rout. Once in the third period when Bearcats were weakened by a penalty, the slim netminder handled three scorchers in a matter of seconds, catching one as he lay on his back between the posts.

FIRST PERIOD

The Bearcats opened the attack by flring two shots at Bubar from the blue line. Humeniuk, Haggarty and Deacon hardly got going before Halifax defence changed. Vince Ferguson, the old war horse of the Halifax squad, banged in the first goal after a face-off near the Port Arthur net. Grabbing the rebound, he stickhandled through the nervous cats and beat Nash easily.

Thompson tied the count half a minute later when he chased a long wing shot and caught Bubar napping. Lawlor was chased for dumping Sinclair a few minutes later but two beautiful rushes by Owen Lennon helped to stave off the Bearcats while Halifax was short-handed.

Ferguson put Wolverines one up at the 15-minute mark on a tricky shot from the corner. The disc hit Nash's skate and rolled into the net. On the Wolverines' rush Robillard tripped Ferguson and went to the penalty box. That was the signal for a savage Halifax attack and after peppering Nash from both wings for a minute Ron Hudson sent a scorcher past the Port's netminder.

The 3-1 score hardly indicated the period's play. Bearcats sped into Halifax territory time and again, both forward lines having found the key to the cocky Wolverine defence early in the fray.

SECOND PERIOD

Half-hearted attacks and wild shooting opened the second period, but the Bearcats gradually got down to their mark. Bill Thompson rocketed in the second Port Arthur counter on a neat pass from Sinclair, 130-pound hero of the western championship series.

Sinclair took a severe bump a minute later from Lavigne, who drew a penalty for roughchecking. Coach Potts shoved four forwards into the battle but the smart Halifax raiders controlled the play and worried Nash while Bubar was idle.

On even terms again, the Wolves began an organized attack only to meet a well-built defence guarding the citadel. For the remainder of the session the play flashed back and forth, with frequent centre clashes between two lines matching each other for speed and passing.

THIRD PERIOD

The third period had been under way little more than a minute when Lennon was waved for tripping Deacon. Five Bearcat forwards slid in on Bubar but the Wolves held them off. As Lennon returned he grabbed the rubber and flashed from end to end. The former New Glasgow and Truro star had Nash helpless but was tripped by Sinclair before he could get his shot away. Sinclair went off.

As the Wolves dashed in on the weakened Bearcats, young Nash showed the form that had earned him the right to guard the net. Thrice in less than a minute he saved, and in one tight spot he caught the rubber while lying on his back.

When Lavigne was chased for tripping Deacon, five Bearcats hovered around the Wolverine net. They were chased away by lanky Vince Ferguson and shooting the rubber up the ice saved Halifax until the defenceman's return.

Everett Porteous, replacing the injured Wolverine captain as pivot for the second string, got through the Bearcats twice but was checked by Milton.

Bearcats' chances of tieing the score were shaken at the 15-minute mark when Robillard went off for tripping McGlashen. They had one more chance when Lennon was chased with only a minute to go. Robillard was back and the Wolves were cornered when the bell rang.

Lived To 103 In Spite Of Daily Beer

BELLEVILLE, Ill., April 16.—Mrs. Bridget Lee McLaughlin, 103, who attributed her longevity in part to the beer she drank, died here Sunday night.

A native of Ireland, Mrs. McLaughlin came to the United States in 1878. She is survived by an elder sister, Mrs. Katherine Kerwick Carlinville, who will be 103 years old in June.

Mrs. McLaughlin for many years drank a glass of beer each day, but recently drank little.

VICTORIA FIVE TAKES OPENER CAGE PLAYOFF

VICTORIA, April 16—Victoria Blue Ribbons flashed brilliant form here last night to defeat Winnipeg Toilers 33-23 in the first game of the western Canada basketball final and the right to enter the Dominion final playoffs. The second of the series will be played here Wednesday night, and a third, if necessary, Thursday night.

Running through the much lighter and smaller Winnipegers the Ribbons took over command of play from the opening whistle to run up a 12-4 lead at the end of the first quarter and were never threatened.

ATTACK WINS

Ribbons used an aerial attack throughout the game, an attack which the shorter Toilers were almost powerless to check. By halftime the 1933 champions had run their lead to 26-7.

Forced to cage most of their shots from long range in the opening minutes, Toilers began to find their shooting eyes after the breather to cut down the deficit but Lindsay Peden, younger brother of "Pinchy" of six-day bike fame, cut short prairie hopes with a scoring bid in the final quarter.

Pairing with Art Chapman, Doug. raced through the Toilet defence to get shots from all angles.

PEDEN LEADS

Peden accounted for 20 points while Art Chapman was credited with 13.

I. Woolley was high man for the Toilers with seven points, followed by L. Phillips and V. Driver, each with six.

Mayor David Leeming welcomed the Winnipeg team on behalf of the city, then tossed the first ball. Prior to this a short scene was observed in memory of Joe Dodds and Mike Sheu, who lost their lives in an airplane crash two years ago on the eve of Toilers' trip west to defend their Canadian championship.

THISTLES STRONG

Belgium Aims Completion Of Air Aid Pact

BRUSSELS, April 16.—Belgium's first interest now is to conclude the proposed air assistance treaty to strengthen the Locarno pact, Paul Hymans, former foreign minister and now minister without portfolio, told the Chamber of Deputies yesterday.

Fortification of the eastern border also must be carried to conclusion, he said, because "Belgium cannot allow a country to disregard the consequences of a unilateral act." He was referring to the Reich's decision on March 16 of compulsory military service in violation of the Versailles treaty.

Italy Expects "Fuehrer" At Danube Meet

ROME, April 16.—A government spokesman said last night "optimism is felt" that Adolf Hitler would hardly refuse an invitation to the Danubian conference here in May "under the circumstances."

The attitude of the German government toward the conference is not known by Italy, he added.

Countries to be invited to the Danubian conference are Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland and Hungary, it was announced last night.

Jam Marketing Plan Launched

TORONTO, April 16.—A three-point program for the marketing of jams under the Dominion Marketing Act was launched here Monday at a meeting of the jam marketing board.

The new marketing arrangement will go into effect today. Its object is to bring better prices to fruit growers, better wages to factory help and to improve the quality of all jams, jellies and preserved fruits marketed.

The scheme comes under the Dominion Marketing Act passed at the present session of the Dominion parliament.

Manitoba Also Has Camp Strikes

BISSETT, Man., April 16.—Relief commission officers sought last night to settle strikes of relief workers in two camps near here, where the men are asking for 35 cents an hour. On strike since Friday, the men are being fed only twice daily until the strike is settled.

Plan Group Local Football Leagues

May Form Four or Six Team Soccer League Here This Year

Plans to group all senior soccer teams into one league were decided upon last night at a meeting of the Edmonton and District Football Association held in the Memorial Hall. The league, it was stated, would probably consist of from four to six teams.

Entries for the 1935 season were received from Radials, Callies, Hearts and Norwood Royals. Entries from Bennett and Beverly are expected and with these two teams added to the list a good six-team league will function for Edmonton fans.

Radials, Callies and Hearts were first division teams last year while Norwood Royals, juniors last season, have been promoted to the higher ranks.

It was also decided to leave the entry dates open until Saturday, April 20, in an endeavor to get in entries from Bennett and Beverly.

A special meeting will be held on Tuesday next week to draw up the schedules, while the draw for the hockey league series was postponed until this evening.

The council went into the matter of bringing the touring Scottish eleven here and every effort will be made in having the tourists stop over in the city.

The matter was left to President Tom Green to get all particulars and lay definite plans for bringing the team to Edmonton.

The meeting was adjourned after other minor business had been dealt with.
